MUSSOLINI GETS MESSAGE SIGNED BY ROOSEVELT

Welles' Visit to Duce Called Cordial.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Feb. 26.—On the 10th day of his command mission from President Roosevelt to seek a basis for a sound and lasting peace in Europe's leading capitals, Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles today donned his striped trousers, frock coat, and top hat and went to work.

William Phillips.

He spent an hour and a half in conference with Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano of Italy in Palazzo Chigi in the forenoon, and an hour in the afternoon with Premier Mussolini in the Palazzo Venezia. There was no official indication of the nature of either conference from the Italian or American conferees.

Contents of Note a Secret.

At the outset of the afternoon conference Welles handed Il Duce a personal message signed by Mr. Roosevelt, an Italian communique disclosed, but its contents were kept a secret. It was reported the note contained no concrete peace plan, but expressed a wish that the mutual and intense American and Italian peace hopes will be fulfilled.

A semiofficial Italian statement issued later warned that until Welles completes his observations it would be "useless to formulate deductions or to put out hypotheses."

[Dispatches from Washington, D. C., last night said neither Secretary of State Cordell Hull nor the White House would discuss the message delivered by Welles. Interest in Washington centered more on the question of whether a similar message would be delivered in Berlin to Adolf Hitler than on the probable contents of the one to Mussolini. It is customary for an official of an important mission such as that of Welles to deliver a message of greeting from his chief of state when being received by the head of a state.]

Talk Called "Most Cordial."

The Italian communique, after announcing the presentation of Mr. Roosevelt's note, said the conversation between Mussolini and Welles "was most cordial."

Lean, engaging William Phillips, American ambassador to Rome, sat in on the Ciano conference, having brought Welles to the Italian foreign office to present him to Il Duce's son-in-law. He also sat in on the conference with Mussolini along with Ciano, who speaks fluent English and who acted as interpreter. Il Duce was not in uniform, but Ciano was in a smart military turnout.

Ambassador Makes Statement.

In a press conference after the meeting with Ciano, Ambassador Phillips reported that he was happy to have his colleague with him in Rome and said that the mission was bearing the fruit of friendship.

Welles expects no such warm sentiments from Ambassadors Joseph P. Kennedy when he reaches London or William C. Bullitt on his arrival in Paris. Both diplomats are reported to be unsympathetic to the mission because they regard the quest futile and because they regret its intrusion on the conduct of their posts.

In Berlin Welles expects no lack of collaboration from any colleague because the United States has had no ambassador at that post since Hugh R. Wilson was recalled in 1938 by the President in protest against Jewish persecutions in Germany. It is considered possible that the one visible fruit of the mission may be the restoration of full diplomatic relations with Germany and the exchange of German and American ambassadors.

Leaves for Berlin Today.

Between the two conferences today Welles made it known that he will proceed at midnight tomorrow for Berlin where he will arrive on Friday after traveling thru Switzerland. In the German capital he will meet Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and possibly Hitler.

There was considerable speculation as to the subjects raised by Mus-

FINN TELLS HOW REDS BLASTED FORTS 2 MONTHS

Koivisto Abandoned with Light Losses.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Feb. 26.—A story of the hardships endured by the defenders of the Koivisto coastal defense batteries under two months of terrific aerial and sea bombardment by the Russians was told to THE TRIBUNE tonight by a Finnish antiaircraft artillery sergeant.

"We didn't lose many men. Shell shock was the chief cause of our casualties," the sergeant said.

Day after day fleets of soviet planes dropped bombs ranging in weight from 100 pounds to one ton without silencing the Finnish guns on Koivisto Island, 20 miles south of Viipuri. The Finns today for the first time admitted the abandonment of Koivisto and two neighboring islands.

The men lived in dugouts four floors deep, but even in these the shock of the exploding bombs could be felt, the sergeant said.

Sitting in Granite Niches.

"Even tho we knew we were sitting in safety in the third level, one floor beneath our munition stores and in galleries excavated in solid granite, the sound of the bombardment brought us nearer to hell than we ever want to be again."

"Thru narrow slits in the 12 feet of concrete, we could watch the bombs falling in the forests and on the exposed rocks. Some explosions would strip trees of their branches. Others would change the contour of the exposed granite ridges.

"But it was the noise that hurt us most. Even tho our ears were plugged with waxed cotton pellets, we suffered physical pain. The islands have been blasted into different shapes. Their forests are gone and the farms have disappeared," the sergeant said.

Fought Off Navy Attacks.

"The soviet victory is an empty one," the sergeant asserted. "Our guns successfully fought off the attacks of the Red navy and bombarded soviet positions on the Karelian isthmus until the Finns began their retreat from front line positions of the western Mannerheim zone last week."

The Red penetration of the Summa sector and the drive along the coast to within seven miles of Viipuri cut off Koivisto and its two neighboring fortified islands from communications with their own forces on land and made it necessary to abandon the forts, Finns said.

"The evacuation was carried out at night without being subjected to attacks and without losses," the sergeant said.

Great Artillery Attacks.

The sergeant did not divulge when or how the withdrawal was made, but it is known that supplies had been carried to Koivisto and casualties removed by trucks moving across the ice of the Gulf of Finland.

[Details of new fighting in the arctic Petsamo region and further details of operations in the Kowisto area will be found on page 4.]

Finns said their retreat on the isthmus, which stranded the Koivisto batteries, was made necessary by the Russians' terrific artillery attacks on the Summa sector to the east.

Pillboxes in the Summa sector, constructed of reinforced concrete 12 feet thick, withstood the direct hits of 6 inch shells, but finally were undermined and toppled forward into shell craters, making their guns useless.

Man Power Conserved.

The Finnish losses of men at Summa grew each day of the battle and, following the precept to cause the maximum losses with the minimum expenditure of men, the general staff ordered a retreat which was so successfully effected that the Russians in the Summa sector lost contact with the defenders for three days.

The Russians also lost heavily in the occupation of evacuated territory and have not yet established complete control. The Reds encountered ambuscades and traps which cost them many men.

There was intense patrol activity from the Finnish side, the Finns attacking Red army columns and encampments with light machine guns and hand grenades. This hindered the Russians' movement of artillery into positions nearer Viipuri. Counting the heaviest losses in the western sector of the Mannerheim line, the Russians are estimated to have suffered 400,000 casualties in three months of war.

THE LITTLE MAN WHO WASN'T THERE

Mrs. B. Hears About Annie— So Does Court

A woman named Annie—except when some witness forgot and called her Agnes—was the subject of some heated conversation yesterday in Judge John C. Lewe's courtroom as the battling Bransfields returned to the wars.

James Bransfield.

In yesterday's hearing of Clara Bransfield's petition for a divorce there was almost no mention of their usual bickering point—the cinder company started by Mrs. Bransfield in competition with that operated by her husband, James.

The current battle, of which yesterday's hearing was round 49, started out as a separate maintenance action in 1935, but in 1938 Mrs. Bransfield amended it—after she heard about Annie, she says—to one for divorce. Before the 1935 action, reconciliations had ended Mrs. Bransfield's pleas for [a] separate maintenance and [b] divorce.

Mechanic Testifies.

Among the several witnesses for Mrs. Bransfield who were called yesterday to tell about Annie was Russell Wenzel, a mechanic, who formerly worked near the restaurant Annie owns on Archer avenue near 37th street. Wenzel, questioned by Attorney Robert E. Cantwell Jr., said he had often seen Bransfield and Annie together in 1938 and 1939.

"After they had known each other about six months," Wenzel said, "he was 'Pa' and she was 'Ma.' I've often seen him huggin' and kissin' her in the kitchen."

Wenzel then told of an occasion when he and his girl, a waitress in the restaurant, now his wife, stayed in Bransfield's former home at 3588 Archer avenue.

"Jim and Agnes—pardon me, Annie—went into the front bedroom," he said. "I slept in a rear bedroom and my wife slept in a Morris chair. In the morning I saw Annie and Jim in bed together."

Wife Is First Witness.

Mrs. Bransfield herself was the first witness.

"Did you locate a party by the name of Annie?" Cantwell asked.

"I did," she said grimly. "She claims to be 27, but she looks 40. Mr. Bransfield said she was lovely."

Mrs. Bransfield, deceptively demure in black, described how she and her sister trailed Bransfield and Annie on Oct. 17, 1938, to Annie's former home on Kostner avenue. [Annie now lives near Bransfield's home at 4201 Western boulevard, Mrs. Bransfield said.]

"I knocked at the door," she said, "and heard a woman's voice. I asked if Mr. Bransfield was there. Annie—I knew her voice—said: 'No one by that name is here. Jim Bransfield is not here.' So I broke a front window. Then I saw a door open and Mr. Bransfield came out of the room tucking his shirt in. Annie came out, too. She had on either pajamas or a nightgown under a bathrobe."

On a previous occasion, Mrs. Bransfield said, she and her sister trailed Bransfield and Annie from Kostner avenue to Woodlawn avenue, about seven miles.

"He drove with one hand and hugged and kissed her all the way," she said.

Attorney Becker, on cross-examination, shifted to the old reconciliation routine.

"Didn't you neck with your husband a week ago after court?"

"I'm not in the habit of necking with any one," said Mrs. B., "much less my husband."

WONG'S TOOTHACHE GIVES HEADACHE TO LAUNDRY CUSTOMERS

Plagued with the ache of a thousand demons in his teeth, Harry Wong, Chinese laundry owner, went next door for help from his friend, John Pesek, a cobbler, at 6143 West 26th street, Cicero. Pesek prescribed neuralgia tablets. Wong took them and the pain disappeared.

That was last Tuesday. On Friday Pesek saw a laundry machinery supply truck moving out all of Wong's equipment from the laundry at No. 6145. The truck driver said Wong had sold out, that he didn't know where Wong had gone, but that Wong had left the key to his store for Pesek.

Yesterday Pesek discovered a use for the key. Wong's customers, hungry for fresh linen, besieged the laundry. Pesek opened the door. All the shirts were there, most of them unwashed, but the only identifying marks were Wong's cryptic Chinese characters on the collars. Wong had never given any "tickee."

When the last shirts had been claimed, there were still a score of customers clamoring for more. But all Pesek could say, as he told the police, was that Wong and his pain had disappeared.

Family on Relief Buys Itself a Summer Home

New Rochelle, N. Y., Feb. 26 [Special].—Officials investigating high relief costs here learned today that one family on relief for the last four years bought a Long Island summer home in 1937 and interrupted annual vacations there long enough to return to this city once a week and collect checks for food, clothing, and shelter,

RFC Will Move Burocrats Into Congress Hotel

Plans for converting one-third of the rooms of the Congress hotel into a haven for part of the federal government's offices in Chicago were submitted yesterday to the city hall building department. The hotel has been under government operation since September, when the Reconstruction Finance corporation purchased it in a bankruptcy auction.

The government's venture into the hotel business apparently has been unsuccessful. Business in the Congress has been slack for several months, and it was reported the staff of every department in the hotel has been reduced, in some cases as much as 50 per cent. It also was reported that approximately 300 of the hotel's 950 rooms have been closed.

Section to Be Remodeled.

The plans submitted yesterday provide for remodeling the 371 rooms in the oldest section of the hotel—the 10 story unit at the southwest corner of Michigan avenue and Congress street—at a cost of $250,000. The rooms would be turned into offices for the Chicago regional branches of the RFC, the Home Owners' Loan corporation, and the Federal Housing administration.

Tentative plans are for the HOLC to occupy part of the second floor, the mezzanine floor, and three other stories in the remodeled section. The RFC probably would use three floors and the FHA two others.

According to present plans the main lobby of the hotel, the Glass Hat cocktail lounge, and the second floor hotel offices—all in the old section—would be unchanged. The section was constructed in 1893. Two other sections adjoining on the south, which were constructed in 1902 and 1906, also would remain unchanged. The plans were designed by Holabird & Root, architects.

Business Average, Says RFC Aid.

Frank M. Murchison, regional director of the RFC, said the Congress was doing as well as most of Chicago's loop hotels. "We hope to boost revenues with whatever can be done," he said.

Murchison and Frank R. Florentine, manager of the hotel denied that the hotel's staff has been reduced. Florentine said what staff changes had been made were only seasonal.

Florentine said the hotel was "just doing some cleaning" in the rooms which have been closed.

The RFC paid $1,335,000 for the hotel, on which it had held a $900,000 mortgage.

Store Bandit Escapes After Street Battle

Policeman Martin Dugan, 33 years old, was shot twice and wounded seriously yesterday in a gun battle with a robber at Sacramento boulevard and Van Buren street. Dugan said he believed he had wounded the robber, who escaped.

The policeman was taken to County hospital. One bullet shattered his jaw and lodged in his back, fracturing his left shoulder blade. The second bullet fractured his left hip.

Dugan was on traffic duty at Harrison street and Western avenue when a robbery occurred in an Atlantic and Pacific Tea company grocery at 2350 Harrison street, near the corner. Henry Mishlove, 22, of 3513 Medill avenue, a grocery clerk, was robbed of $13. Mishlove rushed to the policeman.

Clerks Points Out Gunman.

"There goes the thief," the clerk shouted, pointing to a man who was fleeing north in Western avenue. "Jump into my automobile and we'll follow him."

The robber, with a half block head start, leaped aboard a westbound street car at Van Buren street, two blocks north, as the policeman and the clerk started in pursuit.

At Sacramento boulevard, six blocks west, the bandit jumped off the street car and Dugan started after him on foot. Dugan later said he thought he would be able to capture and subdue the thief without killing him.

Strikes Bandit with Gun.

For this reason the policeman struck the robber on the head with his gun. Altho stunned, the thief backed away, drew his own gun, and fired twice.

Dugan staggered and fell on one knee. From this position, according to witnesses, he fired two shots. One of the bullets is believed to have wounded the bandit, who ran half a block north and fled thru an alley.

Harold L. Harmeson, who was captain of the 1925 Purdue university football team, saw the shooting from his automobile. Harmeson jumped out and chased the gunman into the alley, but the thief eluded him. Harmeson, a manufacturer of insulating material, lives at 2624 North Spaulding avenue.

Clerk Describes Robber.

Mishlove described the gunman as a heavy set man, about 35, dark of complexion. He was wearing dark blue trousers, a brown overcoat, and a grey checked cap.

Dugan's wife, Saxone, reached the hospital soon after the policeman had been taken there. She had been in their home at 6537 Justine street with their daughter, Martha, waiting for Dugan to come home.

Yesterday was Martha's third birthday. There was a big cake with icing and three candles and, as a present from her parents, a little black and white fox terrier puppy.

JUNE 1 PENALTY DATE FOR COUNTY TAXES FORECAST

The first penalty date for Cook county taxpayers this year will be postponed until June 1, county officials predicted yesterday. This would be a delay of three months beyond the legal penalty date of March 1, and would be a month later than officials expected a few weeks ago.

County tax officials said the postponement will be necessary because of the unusually long time required to make the county's property assessments. These must be completed before the clerk's office can compute the tax rates for the various townships. The assessment period was longer than usual this year because of the quadrennial real estate reassessment.

The quadrennial realty valuations were completed Feb. 1 by the assessor, but the state tax commission will not complete its assessment of capital stock in the county until the latter part of this week.

GERMANY TO CUT BEER OUTPUT TO BOOST 1% BREW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—Beer production in Germany will be reduced March 1, it was reported today. The Pilsener output is expected to be restricted 50 per cent and other varieties 25 per cent. However, the move is not likely to result in a serious shortage since production in recent years was very large.

Fuehrer Adolf Hitler is said to hope the public will drink more of his special 1 per cent brew after restrictions are imposed on the other varieties.

COURTS DEFIED BY GOVERNOR IN POLITICAL FEUD

Martial Law Used in Georgia Row.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 26.—Georgia now presents the spectacle of martial law invoked by the governor to settle a political feud and used to override the courts and the bill of rights in the state's constitution.

The situation has arisen from the efforts of Gov. E. D. Rivers to keep W. L. Miller, a former political pal, out of office as state highway chairman. Rivers ousted Miller last Dec. 7.

In the three months of controversy, now nearing a climax, Gov. Rivers, who rode the Roosevelt coattails into office in 1936, projecting for Georgia a "little New Deal," has refused to obey the orders of a lower state court and in recent days has defied the federal court at Macon.

Courts Rule Against Rivers.

Both the Superior court of the state and Judge Bascomb S. Deaver of the federal District court at Macon held that the governor had no power to remove the chairman of the highway board of Georgia during his term of office.

The Supreme court of Georgia has been reviewing the case and its finding is expected in a week or two. Gov. Rivers has said he intends to comply with its decision.

As to contempt action against the governor for ignoring the federal court—that question seems slumbering for the moment.

Only One Building Affected.

When two National Guard officers were sentenced to two days in jail for contempt of the state courts, the governor pardoned them before they could be served with writs by the sheriff.

Gov. Rivers has set up martial law, but has applied his order to one building only. The one building in the state's 159 counties to which martial law applies is the state highway structure across from the capitol here in Atlanta. It was from this structure that Chairman Miller twice was forcibly ejected, and it was at this structure that he was denied access to his old offices on three occasions, altho the courts had ruled that he had a perfect right to enter the office.

Two Guards Bar Miller.

Two unarmed guardsmen at the highway building prevent Miller from filling the job and occupying the offices to which the courts have held he is entitled. This situation, with its one small island of martial law, is almost like one which might develop from political embroilments in Latin America.

Miller recently said the governor, in his martial law edicts, has replaced the courts and the laws with "dictatorship not equaled by Hitler himself."

Along historic Peach Tree street, all this has created interest second perhaps only to the premier of the movie, "Gone with the Wind," some weeks ago.

Appointed Three Years Ago.

Miller's appointment as chairman of the state highway board was made by the governor and confirmed by the senate for the term beginning March 3, 1337, and ending Feb. 1, 1943. His salary was $5,400 a year. Miller and Rivers were old political chums and fellow townsmen from Lakeland, Ga.

After the 1936 coattails campaign Rivers presented his friend, Miller, with a bayoneted rifle Rivers had used in the campaign as a protest against former Gov. Eugene Talmadge's use of state troops against state officeholders. In 1933 Talmadge threw out the highway department and used state troops to enforce his orders.

Rivers Criticizes Miller.

Everything seemed harmonious until that bleak Saturday—last Dec. 2—when Gov. Rivers issued the order removing Miller as chairman and appointing L. L. Patten to the office. One report was that there had been controversy over contracts.

The governor criticized Miller and charged publicly he was using his office as highway chairman to build up a fund to be used by Miller to run a campaign for governor in 1940. Rivers also said Miller had a job with the federal government which disqualified him to hold state office. Miller declared later it was only a place on an advisory committee for a New Deal agency and paid no salary.

Gov. Rivers, who went into office on what even his critics said was a remarkable program for education, welfare, and health, was anxious to divert for schools about $2,000,000 of highway funds [$14,733,992 this year]. Only 50 of Georgia's 159 counties had rural schools operating more than three months a year when Rivers took office.

Miller Spurns Ouster.

Regardless of what caused the row—whether contracts, a federal appointment, or funds for schools—there was a rift in the lute and the bayonetted rifle was covered with rust.

Chairman Miller spurned the ouster order. He refused to leave his office, placed a cot there, and proceeded to go to sleep. Exasperated, the governor called in the capitol guards and instructed them to dismiss the chairman. Miller previously had telephoned highway and city police, told them something might happen, and asked them to protect him while he slumbered.

Nevertheless, it is related in one of the court petitions, the capitol guards, along with Martin S. Griffin, aid to the governor, and Clay Camp, and W. C. Grimes dismissed Chairman Miller by ejecting him from his office.

Launches Court Batle.

On Dec. 4, two days after Miller's ouster, he launched a court battle which still continues. He filed a petition with Judge W. R. Smith of the Superior court in Lanier county, where both he and the governor live, naming Patten, his scheduled successor; Griffin, Camp, and Grimes. The petition said Miller had been dragged from his office, and that after his forcible dismissal the locks had been changed on the doors and there was a conspiracy to prevent him from carrying on as highway chairman.

The petition asked that those named be restrained from molesting Miller as highway chairman or interfering with him. A restraining order was granted by Judge Smith.

Once More Ejected.

Armed with this order Miller returned to his office, but again was ejected, being, as a legal brief says: "Thrown on the floor and dragged from the office."

So it all started, and from such a beginning has developed the situation which today finds a quarter acre of the state of Georgia under martial law and the twice ejected state highway chairman still barred from the state highway building.

HUSBAND SLAYER TO PLEAD GUILTY IN POISON DEATH

Elizabethtown, Ill., Feb. 26 [Special].—Mrs. Vivian Gladys Jones, who poisoned her husband, Noah, in nearby Rosiclare last Monday night, announced today she would plead guilty of murder and ask the court for mercy.

Circuit Judge Roy E. Pearce of Carmi will empanel a special Hardin county grand jury tomorrow to investigate the killing of Jones. The jury will hear Mrs. Jones' confession and the finding of a coroner's jury and is expected to return a murder indictment before the end of the day.

Mrs. Jones' story is counted upon to make the state's case against Vernon Snow, a Rosiclare carpenter 33 years old, who also is in the Hardin county jail on a charge of murder. State's Attorney Clarence Soward described Snow as Mrs. Jones' paramour for the last year. She is 36 years old and had been employed by Snow as his housekeeper.

According to Mrs. Jones' story, she planned the poison slaying of her husband to get his $2,000 life insurance with which to buy an automobile trailer so she and Snow could leave Rosiclare for a tour of the country.

COURT LEARNS THE REALITY IN HIS BAD DREAM

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 26 (AP).—Elvis V. Todd, who is suing J. H. Kerr for $2,000 because Kerr's pet raccoon bit him, testified today as follows:

"I was sleeping on the davenport and was awakened by an animal biting my big toe. I thought I was dreaming. I kicked at it with my other foot and I felt fur! Then we wrestled. I finally got a leg scissors around him and we rolled off the davenport. But the thing kept trying to get another hold. It bit me on the leg.

"Finally my wife rushed in. When she turned on the light I could see the beast and got hold of it. I slammed the raccoon against the wall, but he came at me again."

Todd says that for months after the attack, which occurred in September, 1938, his dreams were haunted by ferocious wild animals.

Stench Bomb Tossed Into Price Cutting Barber Shop

Maxwell street police last night were investigating a hoodlum attack on John Prokop's barber shop at 1321 West 18th street where a stench bomb was tossed thru the window. Prokop said he had been cutting hair at half the price fixed in union shops and had been warned to stop his price cutting.

Weeps for Children

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Mrs. Floy Faulk sobbing after her two children had been slain by their father, who then wounded himself.

Akron, O., Feb. 26 (AP).—Angered by his divorced wife's refusal to take him back, Russell Faulk, 33 years old, today shot and killed his two young children, Deputy Police Inspector Gilbert Mosely said, shot his former wife's escort, and critically wounded himself.

Dead were Warren Faulk, 7, and his sister, Mary Jane, 2½. Faulk was unconscious with a bullet wound in the head, and Mrs. Faulk's companion, Frank Bender, 39, was reported in serious condition with a wound in the chest. Mosely said the shooting occurred at the home of Faulk's former wife, Mrs. Floy Faulk, 26, and followed an argument last night at a dance hall.

REST LIQUOR FIX CASE AGAINST 2 EX-PROSECUTORS

The government rested its case yesterday after presenting evidence for three weeks in the trial of Daniel D. Glasser and Norton I. Kretske, former assistant United States attorneys, who are on trial with three co-defendants on charges of conspiracy to fix bootlegging cases for money.

Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone denied a motion for a directed verdict of not guilty and directed that the first defense witnesses take the stand today.

On trial with Glasser and Kretske are Alfred Roth, an attorney; Anthony Horton, colored, a professional bondsman, and Louis Kaplan, an alcohol peddler.

In winding up its case the government called Thomas Bailey, a special investigator for the alcohol tax unit, to tell of alleged dilatory tactics by Glasser in handling a conspiracy case against the four Hodorowicz brothers. Bailey told of arresting Tony Hodorowicz at a still at 69th street and Stony Island avenue in the spring of 1938. He said he told Glasser he had evidence Tony and his brothers, Pete, Frank, and Mike, to several stills and a dozen other defendants. Glasser, he said, kept postponing action and the case never has been put before a grand jury. Three brothers were convicted later in another case in which Tony Hodorowicz was not named.

ELECTION BOARD EXPECTS TO SAVE ON PRINTING BILL

Mabel G. Reinecke, member of the board of election commissioners, said yesterday that a price agreement which will save the board approximately $42,500 this year in the printing of poll lists, has been reached with printers who print the lists. Last year the board paid $50 for each thousand names printed and this year it will pay $45 a thousand for the list to be published preceding the coming primary election and $40 per thousand for the list preceding the November election.

Miss Reinecke said the low price was reached because the printers are to hold the type from one list to another and make corrections only instead of completely resetting the list as in the past.

Thomas Canty, president of Chicago Typographical union, local No. 16, said last night that the board is paying a high enough price to have the list completely reset and that it should be done. He said he will investigate today the report that some printers in the city plan to use type they have held from the last registration list.

ROARING RIVER'S MYSTERY MAID BURNS TO DEATH

Cassville, Mo., Feb. 26 (AP).—The "Mystery Maid of Roaring River" burned to death today. Searchers found the body of the 88 year old woman, Miss Jeanne Wallace, in the burned ruins of the cabin where she had lived alone for 50 years.

Thruout the Ozark hill country many believed she was gifted with a "second sight." But Miss Wallace once told an interviewer: "You know I am not a fortune teller. My principal business is mending broken hearts. Always I point them to prayer as a cure for trouble."

Miss Wallace, once a trained nurse in New York, came here for her health.

DISMISS BOWEN JURORS AFTER 96 HOUR DEBATE

Unable to Reach Verdict; Speed New Trial.

The jury deliberating the case of A. L. Bowen, state welfare director accused of negligence in the typhoid epidemic at the Manteno State hospital last summer, was discharged at 3:42 p. m. yesterday in the Kankakee county Circuit court in Kankakee. Plans for a new trial were set in motion immediately.

Judge Bartley.

The eight housewives and four men had deliberated 96 hours, a record for the county and perhaps for the state. They stood 9 to 3 for conviction on the 95th ballot. They announced then that they were unable to reach a verdict.

Men Appear Weary.

Asked whether additional time would help them to arrive at an agreement, Clair Mann of Bourbonnais, the foreman, said: "I don't think so." The women, who appeared fresh and clear eyed, and the men, tired and with growths of stubble on their faces, nodded at Mann's words.

Judge James V. Bartley of Joliet, who presided at the trial, was not present. Circuit Clerk Albert Tetrault read the judge's instructions which ordered the jurors dismissed at 3:42 o'clock in the event of continued disagreement.

Husbands, wives, and children were awaiting the jurors in the courtroom. Some of the jurors revealed they stood 10 to 2 for conviction at one time yesterday. Last Friday they stood 7 to 5 for conviction.

Comments of Jurors.

Comments of some of the jurors, who refused to permit use of their names, were:

JUROR A [woman]—I'd be willing to do it again, even if we had to deliberate another 96 hours. It was the first time any of us women had served on a jury.

JUROR B [woman]—We really tried conscientiously. But it was discouraging. Almost from the first it was apparent we'd never agree.

JUROR C [woman]—I thought we were going to end it today, when there were 10 ballots for conviction. But then on the next vote it was 9 to 3 again.

JUROR D [man]—O, don't ask me how we voted! I promised not to tell. But we took a ballot about every hour, sometimes oftener.

JUROR E [woman]—We really got well acquainted. We women have formed a birthday club and are going to have reunions. We exchanged recipes, too.

Eager for Newspaper.

Mrs. Dorothy Winkel of Herscher, a member of the jury, said she missed her 4 year old daughter most of all. The jurors read newspapers eagerly after their enforced abstinence.

Bowen, who is 70 years old and overseer of 26 state institutions, made only this brief statement in Springfield: "I have nothing to say."

The charge against him—gross omission of duty—is a misdemeanor carrying a penalty of a maximum fine of $10,000, removal from office, or both.

State's Attorney Samuel H. Shapiro of Kankakee county said he would confer with defense counsel in the next day or two and agree on a date for beginning the second trial. New venires of jurors are to report Monday and on March 11, and one of these days may be selected for the start of the trial. Judge Bartley, reached in Joliet, where he was conducting a naturalization hearing, said he would set the trial for the date agreed upon.

Cost Placed at $3,000.

County officials estimated the trial cost the taxpayers slightly more than $3,000. The county board recently transferred $8,000 from other funds to the Circuit court fund to defray the expense of the Bowen trial and of the trials later of two Manteno hospital officials indicted with him. They are Dr. Ralph T. Hinton, former managing director of Manteno hospital, and Mrs. Lillian Williams, hospital dietitian.

The state charged that polluted waters caused the Manteno epidemic, which took the lives of 60 persons and caused the illness of 453 others.

Prosecutor Shapiro and his assistant, Victor Lauridsen, contended Bowen knew of the pollution but ignored it. The defense blamed the epidemic on a human carrier. The trial began Feb. 13 and the case went to the jury at 3:42 p. m. Thursday.

GIRL, 10, STARTS AFTER BANDITS WITH BIG KNIFE

Two masked bandits slugged Mrs. Sadie Weisbach, 35 years old, and terrorized her two small children, Evelyn Jo, 10, and Gilbert, 4, last night in their apartment at 6234 North Bell avenue. Evelyn Jo emerged as a heroine of the holdup.

Evelyn Jo and Gilbert Weisbach.

The robbers forced their way into the apartment when Mrs. Weisbach, wife of Abraham Weisbach, a distillery representative, opened the door. They demanded her two diamond rings and slugged her when she said they were in a bank vault.

Then the gunmen started to ransack the apartment. Evelyn Jo armed herself with a butcher knife to attack the bandits, but changed her mind. She dropped the knife and tried to push the robbers away. One of them slapped her on the face. The bandits left without any loot.

SEIZED IN PENNY THEFT.

Thomas Bolger, 27 years old, was arrested by Austin police yesterday after he had been accused of stealing a penny from a newsstand at Lockwood avenue and Washington boulevard.

APPEAL DENIED, MANTON WILL GO TO PRISON SOON

Supreme Court Refuses to Hear Plea.

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—Martin T. Manton, who a year ago occupied the highest and most venerated judicial post in the nation short of the Supreme court itself, probably will enter prison within a week to serve a two year term for selling his integrity for cash.

Martin T. Manton.

The former senior judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here was convicted last June 3—specifically of conspiracy to obstruct justice before his own bench—and today in Washington the Supreme court sealed his extraordinary fall, refusing a review of his case.

Manton was sentenced last June to serve two years in prison and pay a $10,000 fine—the maximum sentence under the charge—but has been free in $10,000 bail pending final appeal. He might file a petition for a rehearing by the Supreme court within 25 days but the action would not require the New York court to grant him a further stay from prison.

Fall Without a Parallel.

It was a fall without a parallel in the last three centuries of the history of British or American jurisprudence, no English speaking judge of such rank having been similarly stigmatized since Francis Bacon, lord chancellor of England, was deprived of office more than 300 years ago.

[Bacon in 1621 was convicted of bribery, fined 40,000 pounds sterling, and ordered locked up in the tower of London. King James I. remitted the fine and later turned him loose.]

In the trial the government offered evidence that Manton's decisions had been influenced by direct and indirect bribes running into thousands upon thousands of dollars.

A spare, austere man approaching 60, the veteran judge fought the case hard all the way. Once convicted, he stood, faintly grimacing, before Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut to argue his own case in vainly appealing for a reversal

Manton Pleads His Own Case.

"A judge," he said in a harsh and only faintly disturbed voice, "has been struck down by what is tantamount to a death sentence. . . . It matters little what becomes of my poor body during the years I have left in life, but it matters what is done here in the name of the law, and how disgrace is visited upon a loyal judiciary in the name of justice."

While federal authorities here remained officially silent at the prosecution's last victory, it was pointed out privately that this was the procedure that now will be followed:

Within 24 hours the Supreme court will notify the Circuit court that a hearing of the case was refused. The Circuit court within another day will transmit the fact to the District court. There, the rules give a defendant at least two days' notice, and usually a few additional days are allowed him to wind up his affairs. An order to surrender will follow.

Convicted with Manton.

Convicted with Manton were George M. Spector, an insurance broker, who was sentenced to a year and a day and fined $5,000; John L. Lotsch, a minor Brooklyn politician and banker, one year and $1,000 fine; Forrest W. Davis, an accountant, suspended sentence; William J. Fallon, 9 months and $5,000 fine. Spector's appeal also was rejected by the Supreme court.

But the scandal did not stop with them. On Nov. 14 Louis S. Levy, prominent corporation lawyer in New York, as a result of the Manton exposé was disbarred and declared by Federal Judge John C. Knox to have been venal and corrupt in mind, heart and action.

United States Attorney John T. Cahill, who had prosecuted the judge, brought the disbarment proceedings as well, accusing Levy and a former associate, Paul M. Hahn, of having concealed a $250,000 loan made largely for Manton's benefit. Hahn was exonerated.

Manton himself had a career of rarely-equaled brilliance. He was only 36 when—in 1916—President Wilson appointed him to the bench.

SUSPECT IN DAICHES SLAYING WINS STAY IN EXTRADITION FIGHT

Jack London, 43 years old, who was indicted but never tried for the murder of Eli Daiches, advertising executive in 1934, resorted to habeas corpus proceedings yesterday in his fight to escape extradition to Milwaukee on charges of burglary and assault. His lawyer, George Bieber, filed the petition for the writ before Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court after Judge Joseph Drucker in Felony court had ruled that London must go back to Milwaukee on a fugitive warrant.

Jack London.

Policeman John Hasse of Milwaukee identified a photograph of London as that of one of the participants in the attempted burglary of a restaurant last Oct. 19. John Whitner, one of the burglars, was shot and killed and another was captured. London said he was in Cincinnati for the world series on the day of the burglary and that gamblers who employ him as a guard in their establishment would support his alibi. Judge Prystalski set the hearing on the case for March 13 and fixed London's bond at $5,000.

3 Rope Wielding Bandits Admit 7 Store Holdups

Three young bandits who had a habit of leaving their victims bound with rope confessed yesterday to Town Hall police that they had robbed seven grocery, drug, and liquor stores since Christmas. Those held are George Brader, 18 years old, of 3749 North Wilton avenue; Charles Poehlman, 20, of 3740 North Wilton avenue, and Leonard Sipari, 21, of 3627 Sheffield avenue.

FOUND DEAD IN HOME.

Andrew Zynda, 76 years old, was found dead yesterday in his home at 2043 North Wood street.

Inquest in Union Slaying Expected to Close Today

A coroner's inquest into the slaying of Paul Peters, union printing pressman, is expected to be closed today in the county morgue. Capt. Herbert Burns of the Jefferson Park police said the murderers still are unknown, altho the police have hopes of solving the crime. Peters was slain by shotgun assassins on Oct. 31 in front of his home at 3505 North Oak Park avenue.

G. O. P. MAY FIGHT A WHITEWASH ON HORNER 2% SLUSH

Funds Temporarily Tied Up by Injunction.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 26.—A temporary injunction was issued here today by Circuit Judge L. E. Stone tying up between $200,000 and $300,000 of campaign money collected from state employés in a 2 per cent assessment of their salaries. As a result of this action, the next possible moves in the Horner slush fund suit were as follows:

Judge L. E. Stone.

1. Republicans may file an intervening petition to prevent the warring Democratic factions from compromising, either before or after the April 9 primary. Such a compromise, it was said, might result in the litigation being dropped without a full investigation of reported irregularities in collections for and disbursements from the Horner kitty.

2. Democrats are expected to file a motion to dissolve the temporary injunction which has tied up the funds.

Stelle Group Benefits.

As the suit now stands, the main beneficiary is the Stelle-Adamowski-Barrett ticket which is opposing the Horner-Kelly selections for Democratic nominations. With no change in the court status of the litigation, the money cannot be spent in support of the so-called harmony ticket headed by Harry B. Hershey of Taylorville to succeed Gov. Henry Horner. Lieut. Gov. John H. Stelle, rebel aspirant to the gubernatorial nomination, who has disavowed any connection with the suit, declined this evening to comment further.

The plaintiff of record, State Policeman Sylvester Steskal of Springfield, is still facing a long court proceeding to accomplish the aims set forth in his petition, to recover the unexpended portion of the $168 he contributed under the 2 per cent plan. Unless the litigation is dropped, there will be a hearing before a master in chancery which might inquire into the many scandalous rumors associated with the slush fund.

Others Also May Sue.

A. M. Fitzgerald, attorney for the policeman, said he will prosecute the suit vigorously as long as it is the wish of his client. He added that any state employé who paid to the Iroquois Illinois league, as the collecting agency was known, might file an intervening petition.

The temporary injunction was issued without any of defendants being represented, although notices had been served upon them. This gave rise to the assumption that the fight will be made on a motion to dissolve the writ—or that a settlement might be arranged out of court. The policeman has not been fired. He is on an annual two week's vacation.

The members of the Illinois Iroquois league, of course, are the state employés and the trustee directors are Horner leaders. According to the complaint the money is on deposit in the American National Bank and Trust company of Chicago under the name of Samuel L. Nudelman, state director of finance. Nudelman and the bank are among the defendants.

THREAT TO KILL LAID TO SCALISE BY UNION OFFICER

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 26 (AP).—Charles Hardy Sr., a witness at a hearing in Superior court on an intra-union dispute testified today his life had been threatened by George Scalise of Chicago, international president of the Building Service Employés union. Hardy and his two sons are seeking an injunction to prevent their removal as officers of the local union by Scalise in a dispute over policies.

Hardy, president of the union's local, also said Scalise's income from the organization was more than $100,000 a year.

Hardy testified that at the Cincinnati convention of the A. F. of L., with which the union is affiliated, Scalise told him:

"You rotter . . . you'll do what I tell you or I'll put you out of the way."

Later at Chicago, Hardy said, Scalise and an associate, Thomas Burke, confronted him and said "You're in Chicago now and you'll do what we say or else."

TRIBUNE HELPS SOLVE $18,000 STORE ROBBERY

Second Confesses Part in Field's Holdup.

Howard Sallows of Geneva, a store guard at Marshall Field & Co., early today confessed that he engineered the $18,065 robbery in the store on Feb. 19. His confession came after hours of questioning, in which he and the confessed robber—Walter R. Hugh—accused each other of responsibility.

The confessions of the two men made it possible to disclose how a net of evidence was woven around one of them—Hugh—a net which was drawn tight by police thru information supplied by THE TRIBUNE.

Get Tribune Information.

Hugh was arrested Sunday night and $15,165 of the loot was recovered shortly afterward. He is 34 years old, a Works Project administration employé, and lives at 1641 Millard avenue. He had been under suspicion, but police did not have enough evidence to seize him until they were given the Tribune's information.

In his story Hugh said that Sallows, an old friend, had planned the robbery. Sallows, he said, gave him a key to a money chest from which the $18,065 was taken, and stood by passively during the robbery. Police seized Sallows in the home of his mother in Davenport, Ia., yesterday. He is 32 and has been a store guard for four years.

Denies Giving Up Key.

"Hugh's story is correct," Sallows told Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan this morning. "I thought up the robbery. But he's wrong about one thing—the key to the chest. I never gave him a key, as he says. A key wasn't needed to open the money chest. The lock had been out of order for a year."

According to Chief Sullivan, Sallows admitted giving a signal to Hugh to commit the robbery. The signal was a military salute.

Previously Hugh had told his fantastic story in full. He said that he prepared an alibi in advance at the WPA art project at 1027 South State street, where he is employed. Then he took a street car to the Field store.

Hugh Describes Robbery.

The robbery occurred at noon. Hugh pushed his way into an elevator in which a rolling money chest was being moved from the store's subbasement to the third floor. He said he had no gun, but pretended to hold up Sallows, who was guarding the chest, and disarmed him. The chest was in the charge of Arthur Waiefiein, 1309 Belmont avenue, a cashier. Miss Hazel Olson, 22 years old, of 934 East 81st street, was operating the elevator.

Hugh ordered Sallows to stop the elevator between the first and second floors. Hugh then produced the key, which he said Sallows previously had given him, and opened the money chest. Lifting out the black zipper bag that contained the money, Hugh fled when the elevator reached the second floor. He boarded a street car and returned to his WPA job 40 minutes after he had left.

The detectives gave the employés who were in the elevator a routine lie detector test. The cashier and elevator operator convinced the detectives that they were telling the truth.

Asked If He Knew Bandit.

So did Sallows—until he was asked if he knew the man who committed the robbery. The lie detector needle fluttered wildly as Sallows said he did not.

George Thornton, investigator for the Continental Casualty company, sent detectives to shadow Sallows, since the casualty company had insured the money.

Next day the police detectives asked Sallows to return for another lie detector test. The request brought a telephone call from an attorney who said Sallows had retained him. The attorney said he had forbidden Sallows to submit to the test.

Further investigation disclosed that Sallows recently had bought a car, on which he owed $500, and that he was in financial difficulties.

Late in the week Sallows told store officials he was ill and asked a leave of absence that he might visit his mother in Davenport. They granted the leave. But the casualty company sent detectives to follow him when he left with his wife and two children on Saturday.

Tripped by a Boast.

On Friday, before Sallows left, a young man went to Lieut. Phelan. He said he had read about the robbery and about the fact that Sallows was the guard.

The young man said that he had been at a friend's home two weeks earlier when a man whose name he believed to be Hugg called. Hugg displayed a key, which he boasted was worth six grand—$6,000—to him. Hugg mentioned that he was a friend of Sallows. Lieut. Phelan's informant recalled all this after reading of the holdup.

He said he believed Hugg had been in the county hospital last fall for treatment of stab wounds inflicted by a Negro.

Phelan's men searched the hospital records. They could find no patient named Hugg. But late Saturday they found that Hugh had been treated there for stab wounds. They put his home under surveillance.

Story Told to Tribune.

On Sunday afternoon information about the case came to THE TRIBUNE. This was given to the police and it filled in the gaps in their evidence. The arrests followed.

The information given to THE TRIBUNE and passed on to the police was this:

Shortly before noon on the day of the holdup Hugh asked a fellow worker the time. About an hour later Hugh asked him the time again.

Later a black zipper bag was seen beneath a pile of rubbish on the floor of the WPA office. Hugh carried this bag away with him when he left in the late afternoon. All the time it lay in the office it contained the robbery loot, but no one there suspected that.

Building regulations require workers to have a pass for bags and bundles they carry out, and Hugh told the watchman he had such permission. But it turned out that no pass had been issued.

That night Hugh made a telephone call to the fellow worker.

"You remember about the time, don't you?" he said. "Well, I'm counting out $1,000 for you—for a new car."

On Tuesday Hugh's wife called the office and reported he was ill. Hugh telephoned on Wednesday to say he was taking a few days off.

Found Hiding in Coal Bin.

When THE TRIBUNE gave police this story they hurried to Hugh's home. His wife, Josephine, insisted he was not in. Pushing inside, they found him hiding barefoot and shirtless in the coal bin. He confessed, upon learning how much the police knew.

Hugh said he had known Sallows 14 years ago in Minneapolis. They recently renewed their acquaintanceship here.

Three weeks before the holdup, Hugh said, Sallows told him vaguely of a plan to make some easy money.

Hugh related that Sallows came to him about a week before the holdup and said the plan was to hold up one of the daily movements of cash from Field's subbasement to the third floor. Hugh said that Sallows told him there was ordinarily about $12,000 in the money chest, and that they would each get $6,000. Sallows gave him a key to the chest, according to Hugh. The day set was Monday, Feb. 19.

Hugh told police he had called attention to the time in the WPA office to impress on his fellow worker the hour of his departure and his return. Hugh expected the time he was away to be so short that he could contend successfully, in event he was suspected, that he never had been away.

Hugh said that when he left the WPA office with the black bag he walked down Roosevelt road to the river, where he threw away the key and Sallows' gun.

There was $145 in checks in an envelope which Hugh burned in the furnace. He unwittingly burned $600 in bills at the same time, as the bills had been placed in the envelope with the checks.

Hugh insists that he spent no more than $100. But he left $2,156 still unaccounted for in his story.

SHOT EJECTING TAVERN PATRON; DIES OF WOUND

Godfrey Linich, 23 years old, died last night in the Holy Cross hospital of a gunshot wound suffered Saturday night when he tried to eject a patron from his father's tavern at 6201 South Ashland avenue.

His assailant, Frank Vidas, 35, of 6212 Aberdeen street, surrendered to Englewood police shortly after the shooting. Police said Vidas had been put out of the tavern twice following a quarrel with another patron.

Vidas returned, police said, and when Linich tried to force him out the third time he fired on Linich. The bullet struck Linich in the left lung.

7 IN PROSECUTOR RACE WILL TELL GOON FIGHT PLANS

Candidates to Set Forth Programs Tomorrow.

Seven men who want to be state's attorney of Cook county will tell tomorrow how they would deal with goon killings.

They will appear either in person or by proxy before the All-Chicago council of the Association of Commerce in the La Salle hotel. The meeting was arranged by a committee of the Association of Commerce which has been investigating the murder of Marinus Hvid, a north side garage owner who died Dec. 30, three days after he had been beaten by goon slayers.

One who will appear or be represented by formal statement is State's Attorney Courtney, a candidate for Democratic renomination for his office. Courtney is in Florida but is expected to return in time to attend the meeting. He has informed the Association of Commerce that his statement will be presented if he does not return.

Six Opponents to Appear.

All candidates who seek to oppose Courtney in the fall election have announced they have accepted invitations to appear. They are Harry S. Ditchburne, Judge Oscar Nelson, Malachy J. Coghlan, Charles F. Rathbun, and Erwin E. Cowen, candidates for the Republican nomination for state's attorney, and Judge John Gutknecht, candidate against Courtney for the Democratic nomination.

The meeting will be called to order at 2 p. m. by Frank A. Hecht, chairman of the All-Chicago council. Judge Floyd E. Thompson will present the candidates for state's attorney. The men will be presented alphabetically and each will have ten minutes in which to state his policies.

In addition to hearing from the seven, the All-Chicago council will receive a report from Hecht and Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the council, on the council's study of labor racketeering.

Study Cleveland Fight.

The two council leaders went to Cleveland, O., yesterday to study methods employed there in efforts to stamp out rackets and goon killings. They will return to Chicago tomorrow.

Meanwhile police and investigators from the state's attorney's office were unable to report further progress yesterday in their investigation of the Hvid slaying.

The garage owner was beaten fatally after he had been in difficulty with the Affiliated Garages of Chicago, a garage owners' union.

Altho investigation indicated a working agreement between the owners' association and the union, no progress has been made toward solving the murder.

LOITERER GRABS $1,015 IN CROWDED MART AND FLEES

A colored man, described as 6 feet 4 inches in height and more than 200 pounds in weight, waited in Wilson & Co.'s retail market at 4100 South Ashland avenue yesterday until a cashier turned his head. Then he reached thru a wicket, grabbed $1,015 and $65 in checks, and fled on foot thru a noon hour crowd of workers.

George A. Powell, 2007 Fargo avenue, the cashier, told New City police there were about 50 persons in the market. Powell said he yelled: "Stop that man!" Joseph Peterson, another employé, attempted to do so but was shoved aside.

CENTRAL POLICE CAPTAIN CALLED IN GAMBLING QUIZ

The federal grand jury which has been investigating gambling and gamblers' incomes for the last three months turned its attention yesterday to the big gambling establishments in the loop and adjoining territory.

Capt. G. P. O'Connor.

Capt. George P. O'Connor of the Central station was called before the grand jury on a subpena. It was reported that several of his policemen also were summoned to testify.

The grand jury investigation of gamblers' incomes stemmed from the inquiry which resulted in the indictment of William R. [Billy] Skidmore, reputed fixer and collector for the gambling syndicate. He is charged with evading payment of $210,118 in income taxes.

United States Attorney Campbell is to appear before Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward within the next day or two to ask that the grand jury be continued for another month.

ARCTIC BATTLE RAGES BETWEEN FINNS AND REDS

Defenders Aided by Planes for First Time.

KIRKENES, Norway, Feb. 26 (AP).—Patrol fights which began on the far northern Petsamo front last Saturday developed today into a real battle between Finnish and soviet Russian troops south of Hoyhenjarvi, a Finnish town about 50 miles south of Kirkenes. The battle lasted until dark. The result was not immediately known.

[The battle was the first such action reported from the Arctic sector of the Finnish-Russian war for weeks.]

The soviet troops were supported by planes with bombs and machine guns. At the beginning of the fighting soviet planes had no adversaries in the air but later Finnish aircraft arrived—the first Finnish planes seen on this Arctic front in the three month old war. Fighting in the air was intense.

Admit Loss of Koivisto.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Feb. 26 (AP)—The Finnish army, now holding second line positions in the Mannerheim line, tonight acknowledged it had "given up" the Koivisto islands, around which the Russian offensive has surged for weeks.

These islands, just off the town of Koivisto in the Gulf of Finland, guard the entrance to Viipuri bay, at the head of which lies the deserted, ghost-like city of Viipuri, immediate goal of the Red forces.

The islands contain the important Koivisto coastal fortifications, built as an important strategic western anchor of the Mannerheim line itself. Today's army communique did not mention the fortifications themselves, but it was believed they now are in the hands of the Red army.

[The Russians claimed to have taken both city and fortress some days ago.]

Only Brief Mention.

The story was told in the terse opening sentence of today's high command communique.

"On the isthmus [of Karelia] our troops have given up the Koivisto islands," it said. That was all.

[Russian occupation of these islands presumably eases the way for attack upon Viipuri over the frozen bay. The city now is under heavy air and land fire. On Saturday night the Russians announced occupation of the Koivisto islands of Tiurinsaari and Piisaari.]

The Russians in their drive on Viipuri already have pushed up a coastal railway, by the Finns' own admission, as far as Kaislahti, only 7½ miles south of Viipuri.

Viipuri, normally Finland's third largest city, ordinarily busy with 70,000 inhabitants, is deserted.

Complete withdrawal of civilians from the city began as the Finns fell back into their second line positions in the Mannerheim line and soviet artillery moved to within easy shelling range.

Continue Isthmus Attacks.

"On Feb. 25," said today's Finnish communique after mentioning loss of the Koivisto Islands, "the enemy continued his attacks on the western part of the isthmus. The attacks were checked by fire from our artillery and infantry, and the enemy suffered heavy loss in men. At Salmenkaita enemy attacks were repulsed after fighting which lasted the whole day."

Little was reported from other war fronts. The Finns said they captured a "strong point" near Kuhmo, near the eastern end of Finland's narrow "waist," and "destroyed" a company of Russians there. They also said their airmen, engaging in "a number of successful air fights," shot down five Russian planes.

Russian bombers flew over parts of Finland again today. Riihimaaki, Kajaani, Kouvola, Lahti, Hango, Turku, and a number of smaller towns were bombed yesterday. There were four alarms in Helsingfors, two of them after dark.

Take Much Material.

MOSCOW, Feb. 27, Tuesday (AP).—The soviet high command announced today that more than 5,000,000 cartridges and 10,000 shells had been captured from retreating Finns in the Koivisto fortress area.

The island of Koivisto, the Russians declared, also yielded 26 Finnish defensive fortifications, including 15 artillery forts, and two casemates and four stores of ammunition and provisions.

Five Finnish tanks were destroyed during futile counterattacks yesterday on the Karelian isthmus, the soviet communique said, and additional fortifications were smashed. Nineteen Finnish airplanes were said to have been shot down.

Sir Kingsley Wood, British Air Minster, Ill of Flu

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP).—Sir Kingsley Wood, Britain's air minister, was ill today of influenza.

Correct Constipation Before—Not After!

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of emergency relief. Why let yourself suffer those dull lifeless days because of constipation, why bring on the need for emergency medicines, when there may be a far better way? That way is to KEEP regular by getting at the cause of the trouble.

If it's common constipation, due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, a pleasant, nutritious, ready-to-eat cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran—goes straight to the cause by supplying the "bulk" you need.

Eat this crunchy toasted cereal regularly, drink plenty of water, and see if you don't forget all about constipation. All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

Battle in Arctic

(Story in adjoining column.)

1. Finns and Russians battle in far north. 2. Finns report capture of strong point. 3. Reds repulsed in Karelian isthmus, Finns say. 4. The Finns admit loss of Koivisto Islands.

RELIGIOUS PAPER URGES TAYLOR'S VATICAN RECALL

Roosevelt Accused of Usurping Power.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Another church attack was made yesterday on President Roosevelt for appointing Myron C. Taylor as his personal ambassador to the Vatican. An editorial in the Christian Century, a nondenominational journal, advocated Taylor's recall.

The editorial referred to newspaper correspondence from Vatican City, which said a Vatican jurist had studied the diplomatic precedence and procedure of the Taylor appointment and had given the opinion that Taylor will be just as much an ambassador to the holy see as are the envoys of other nations.

"Vatican experts are not to be taken in, as many American Protestants have been, by specious distinctions between a 'private' envoy sent by the head of a government and a public diplomatic agent," the editorial said.

Vatican Termed Within Rights.

"In this decision to give the President's envoy full diplomatic rank and to regard his appointment as the initiation of a continuing embassy, the Vatican is, we think, quite within its rights.

"The President has no authority under the constitution or the law to appoint any ambassador without 'the advice and consent of the senate.' To attempt to do so is plain usurpation of power, which is no less culpable when devious means are employed. To send an unauthorized diplomatic agent who is to be considered a 'personal representative' by American citizens and an 'envoy with full diplomatic rank' by the court to which he is accredited is a species of political legerdemain that ought to be resented by both.

Relationship Called False.

"It gives a phony ambassador to a court that wants a real one, and it maneuvers the United States into diplomatic relationship that its people do not want and that the President himself has admitted the senate would not confirm."

The United States Baptist, a denominational publication which claims a constituency of 11 million members, said in its March issue that an effort will be made during the 1940 election to form a Baptist bloc and "vote against the presidential candidate who does not refute the Roosevelt-Vatican deal."

"Religious issues," the Baptist journal said, "will play a major part in the 1940 election. In the meantime efforts will be concentrated on congressmen to prevent use of government funds for expenses of Taylor."

MUSSOLINI GETS PERSONAL NOTE FROM ROOSEVELT

Welles' Visit with Il Duce Called 'Most Cordial.'

solini in his conference with Welles. It was believed that he took up the failure of the United States to recognize the Italian empire, founded by Il Duce with the conquest of Ethiopia, Italian concern over possible soviet expansion in southeastern Europe, particularly Rumania, as well as peace possibilities.

Welles still continued to be without a warm reception in the Italian press. Even Mussolini's paper carried only a picture of his arrival at Naples yesterday. A brief communique from Stefani, semi-official Italian news agency, merely said the undersecretary of state had arrived in Italy without explaining the purpose of his visit.

Recalls House's Mission.

L'Osservatore Romano, the official organ of the Vatican, was more cordial, but somewhat suspicious. The paper recalled the comparable mission of Col. E. M. House, friend of President Woodrow Wilson, in 1916, which succeeded not only in failing to find peace but in bringing the United States into the world war.

The paper said editorially that Welles was not the babe in the woods in diplomacy that House was, but an outstanding diplomat. It also said that the mission apparently indicated a new foreign policy on the part of Mr. Roosevelt in replacing the bitter impressions of the famous quarantine speech he delivered in Chicago Oct. 5, 1937, a speech in which he attacked aggressively minded nations.

However, the Vatican paper gave most of its attention to the presentation of credentials by Myron C. Taylor, the President's personal ambassador to the Vatican. Taylor has instructions to coöperate with the peace efforts of Pope Pius XII. Taylor presented his credentials to Cardinal Luigi Maglione, papal secretary of state. He will have an audience with the pope tomorrow.

RED PAPER HITS ITALY'S 'GUARD' OVER BALKANS

MOSCOW, Feb. 26.—Under the headline, "Italy 'Protects' the Balkans," the newspaper Trud [Truth] today made a savage and sneering attack on Italy. The keynote of the article was provided by a cartoon showing the Italian publicist, Virginio Gayda, regarding the figure of Mars, who carried a banner reading "Great Italian Influence" and had his foot triumphantly planted on the Balkans. The caption read, "Signor Gayda's Flight of Fancy."

Trud ridiculed the Italian pretension to protect the Balkans against the onslaught of Russian communism and said Italy's real purpose there is to play the French and British against the Germans, but Italy is too weak economically and politically to do this with success.

The writer implied that the basic Italian motive is fear, not of communism but of Germany.

NAZI OFFICIALS SHOW PRESS AN ALTMARK VICTIM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—The German foreign office came out with something new in propaganda today when a man with his head swathed in bandages was carried into the noon press conference on a stretcher.

The foreign office spokesman said he was Wilhelm Richert, 22 year old machinist's mate of the Altmark crew who had been shot while fleeing after the British destroyer Cossack forced the German prison ship aground on the Norwegian coast on Feb. 16 and liberated 299 British seamen held aboard her. German photographers leaped onto chairs to take pictures of Richert. Two straps, one across his wrist and one across his knees, bound him to the stretcher. Next two men seized the head of the stretcher and raised it up so that he could be seen better by the 100-odd newspaper men present. Chairs were used to prop him up and for a half hour he remained at an acute angle with the foot of the stretcher on the floor and its head on a chair.

Only two or three correspondents asked questions, after which Richert launched into an account of the Altmark affair which closely resembled the official version.

PRESIDENT HOLDS TALKS ON CANAL DEFENSES TODAY

ABOARD U. S. S. LANG, AT SEA, Feb. 26 [(AP) via wireless].—President Roosevelt will arrive early tomorrow morning at Balboa for a series of conferences on Panama canal defenses with American naval, military, and civilian officials and talks with President Augusto Boyd of Panama and Panamanian political leaders.

Concluding his personal survey aboard the cruiser Tuscaloosa of distant and nearby canal defenses, Mr. Roosevelt will inspect army and navy installations at the Pacific end, transit the canal and probably head toward the United States by dusk.

The chief executive has been studying additional distant canal defenses and fishing occasionally since leaving Cocos island. This afternoon the ships in the presidential party were anchored off the Panamanian coast.

Mr. Roosevelt inspected the Atlantic side defenses Feb. 15, discussing increased personnel and equipment and plans for a third set of canal locks costing $277,000,000.

REMODEL POLICE STATION.

For 51 years the main entrance to the Stockyards police station has been on Halsted street. But for the next three weeks the entrance will be on 47th place. Remodeling of the first floor of the station was started yesterday.

GERMAN LEADERS SMASH A PEACE MIRAGE TO ATOMS

Insist Hitler Will Fight to the End.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—With Sumner Welles, American undersecretary of state, starting his conversations with Europe's chiefs of state in Italy today, a new catchword began circulating in diplomatic circles of Berlin. It was:

"Big offensives must be prevented for the sake of Europe's future happiness. There still is a possibility of patching up peace."

Where the diplomats got their ideas that such a possibility exists is a mystery since all German leaders in their speeches have reaffirmed their determination to fight to the end. But Welles' trip increased the hopefulness of the diehard optimists.

Claim Hitler Will Not Yield.

This peace mirage does not appear on the official Nazi horizon. The Nazis said that when Welles arrives in Berlin Adolf Hitler and Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop again will reaffirm the German demands for "complete control of the German living space, which includes former Poland and Czecho-Slovakia and the return of Germany's colonies."

The Nazis insisted they see no possibility of a practical peace solution now.

One of the reasons the believers in the so-called "conspiracy of peace" have advanced for their optimism is that "the statesmen by now have realized that no decision can be reached in the present war thru arms."

Seek Semblance of Peace.

"This is a conflict of mentalities and political philosophy," they continued. "The Germans, Russians, and Italians think they have evolved a new pattern of life—absolute rule of the governing party. Even if the western powers [England and France] should succeed in inflicting a military defeat on Germany, the fundamental cause of the present war would not be removed and the struggle would continue in another form.

"If a semblance of peace could be patched up without a mass holocaust, hatred would be lessened and the world might manage to find a compromise under which bearable conditions might be worked out.

"Men who believe that anything can make Hitler swerve from the path he prescribed for himself are indulging in wishful thinking," the Nazis retorted.

WARSHIPS SINK 2 GERMAN VESSELS IN ARCTIC OCEAN

Craft Sent to Bottom Off Finnish Shore.

BERGEN, Norway, Feb. 26 (AP).—Franco-British warships, which last week began an Arctic blockade to halt German-Russian sea traffic along Norway's coast, were reported tonight to have sunk two German vessels in action near the Finnish shore.

Reports from Vardoe, Norway, 50 miles northwest of Finland's Petsamo fjord, now occupied by soviet forces, did not say whether the German vessels were warships or freighters. Nor was it clear whether the sinkings had taken place within Norwegian territorial waters.

Norway's Course Assailed.

Warships began a patrol in the area north of Norway after the British and French had expressed dissatisfaction with Norway's "ineffective" neutrality in permitting German ships to use Norway's territorial waters to pass the blockade.

Vardoe is west of Russia's Arctic port of Murmansk, where a large number of German merchantmen took refuge at the start of the war. The liner Bremen and others subsequently got home by sailing inside Norwegian waters.

German Steamer Sinks.

The 4,354 ton German steamer Orizaba, which ran aground today at Skjervoy, near Hammerfest, 175 miles west of Vardoe, was reported tonight to have sunk. There was no indication that war action figured in her sinking. The crew was reported saved.

The Orizaba was one of six German merchantmen reported on Feb. 13 to have left Vigo, Spain, to try to pass the British-French blockade. Two others of the six, the Morea and the Rostock, were intercepted by enemy sea patrols.

Danes Hear Heavy Gunfire.

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP).—A Reuters [British news agency] dispatch from Copenhagen, Denmark, said heavy gunfire was heard at Toender for three hours today, coming from the direction of the German island air base at Sylt.

Reported sunk today were the Glasgow steamer Loch Maddy, 4,996 tons, torpedoed in the North Atlantic on Thursday with four dead, and the 3,840 ton Swedish freighter Santos, sunk in the North sea with 28 missing. A British warship was believed to have sunk the submarine that torpedoed the Loch Maddy.

R. A. Butler, British undersecretary for foreign affairs, reported to commons that German planes had made 128 attacks, up to Feb. 22, on "unarmed British ships and fishing vessels." He said the attacks proved Adolf Hitler broke his promise to President Roosevelt to refrain from bombing civilians.

Dutch Motorship Sunk.

AMSTERDAM, the Netherlands, Feb. 26 (AP).—The captain of the Netherlands motorship Ida, 250 tons, reported his ship sunk today off Saint David, west England. The crew was rescued.

Nazi Seize Swedish Steamer.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 26 (AP).—The 5,646 ton Swedish steamer Buenos Aires, carrying pulp and paper to Venezuela, was reported seized today by German vessels and taken to Bremerhaven.

U-Boat Sinks 16 Ships.

BERLIN, Feb. 26 (AP).—Germany today reported that Submarine Commander Herbert Schultze sank 34,130 tons of shipping on one long cruise. This brought his total sinkings in almost six months of war to 16 ships, total tonnage 114,510, it was said.

World Loss Put at 312 Ships.

PARIS, Feb. 26 (AP).—The French admiralty tonight stated that 312 merchant ships belonging to France, England, and neutrals were sunk by Germany to Feb. 19. This denied a German statement that losses totaled 469 merchant ships.

QUIZ 2 RELIEFERS IN ARSON BLAZE AT AID STATION

Two Bremen township reliefers and several members of the relief staff were questioned yesterday by investigators seeking the cause of the fire which damaged the township relief office, 147th street and Cleveland avenue, early Sunday morning. Three investigators, Frank E. Doherty, chief deputy state fire marshal; Lieut. Fred Muhlhausen of the county highway police, and Gerald A. Griffen of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission investigating staff, did the questioning.

Doherty said the two reliefers, Edward Mosel, 145th street and Albany avenue, Posen, and Pasquale Banna, 172d street and Cicero avenue, had arguments in the relief station more than a month ago, but that both offered explanations as to where they were when the fire started.

The deputy marshal bore out police suspicions by stating that the fire was started by an arsonist. Rags soaked in kerosene were tossed into the record room of the relief office, Doherty said.

PARIS, Feb. 26.—As a result of protests by France's 40,000 retail butchers, the government is expected to order the nation's three meatless days lumped into a single period running thru Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. ## BAR BELLIGERENT AUXILIARY SHIPS, AMERICAS URGED

Scheme to Stop Use of Ports Revealed.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Feb. 26 (AP).—Sharp limits for the movement of auxiliary vessels of belligerent nations in Pan-American territorial waters and differentiation between merchant ships and auxiliaries were recommended today by the inter-American neutrality committee of experts.

The committee completed its meetings here Feb. 3 and decided to make uniform suggestions to all the 21 American republics.

Five Recommendations.

Recommendations made public by the secretariat were:

FIRST—A neutral state should do its utmost to prevent any merchant ship from using its ports, anchorages and waters as a base to aid belligerents.

SECOND—Merchant ships in the waters of a neutral country should be prohibited from having any contact with belligerent warships to aid those ships, except to give humanitarian assistance. The giving of all other than humanitarian would cause a merchant ship to be considered an auxiliary vessel.

THIRD—Auxiliary vessels should be subjected to internment rules thruout the war and neutral states should initiate the internment measures.

Would Hold Crew Responsible.

FOURTH—The captain and officers of an auxiliary vessel should be responsible under local authority for infractions of rules. Civil responsibility and payment of fines can be demanded of the proprietor of the vessel; ship and cargo can be affected by such regulations.

FIFTH—Merchant ships should be prohibited from taking aboard in neutral ports war materials, persons, provisions and fuel "with the intention of transporting them on the high sea to belligerent warships."

The neutrality committee prescribed that observance of these regulations should, in part, be effected thru close inspection of the cargo and documents received at each port, and by a written promise of the captain, agent, or proprietor, that the cargo is not destined for war uses and will be unloaded only at the port for which it is destined.

FAMOUS LONDON MANSION GIVEN UP BY MARQUESS

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Londonderry house in London's fashionable Mayfair district, famous as the scene of brilliant political receptions, is being given up by the Marquess of Londonderry because of the growing burden of local and national taxes on the house which for 1939 are estimated at between $16,000 and $20,000.

Lord and Lady Londonderry who used to stage the Conservative party reception on the eve of a new parliamentary session intend to live in their northern Ireland house, Mount Stewart, at Newtownards.

Londonderry house, built nearly a century ago, is one of the stateliest homes in Great Britain. Most European monarchs were entertained there in the Victorian era. Commanding a fine view of Hyde Park, it is likely to attract building speculators. There is a possibility that Londonderry house may be taken over by an ambassador and his staff.

PARIS GUNS ROUT ENEMY PLANES AS CROWDS LOOK ON

Sent to Shelters Later by Raid Alarm.

PARIS, Feb. 27, Tuesday (AP).—Parisians who retired last night after watching the play of searchlights and the burst of antiaircraft fire chase two German reconnaisance planes away from the capital, were routed out of bed and into air raid shelters a few hours later by their first alarm since Nov. 23.

There was no evidence, however, that a return of German planes had occasioned Paris' first air raid alarm in 1940. Reasons for the alarm were not disclosed at once.

The sirens sounded at 4:31 a. m. [9:31 p. m., Chicago time, Monday], and the all clear signal was given 57 minutes later.

Observers thought a sudden shift to spring-like weather might have been responsible.

Encouraged by a starry sky and good visibility on their first trip yesterday evening, just as Parisians were enjoying a stroll on the boulevards, the Germans may have decided to try to scout the French capital again.

Foiled by Weather.

Bad weather overtook them, however, and may have turned them back. The heavens were overcast, and the rain was drizzling when the alarm was sounded this morning.

The shell fire and display of searchlights brought out thousands of the French when the two planes were driven away from environs of the capital on the first trip. No alarm was sounded at that time.

Thru all the firing traffic policemen kept buses and taxis moving.

Many of those thronging sidewalk cafés in the springlike weather continued to sip their drinks as they watched the fight.

The cannonading was first heard east of Paris as the planes flew high over the area. French radio stations shut down for about 20 minutes.

While Paris was engaged in warding off the German planes, activities in the war zone slackened, the French high command's communique reporting "a quiet day on the whole front."

Dutch Fire on Planes.

AMSTERDAM, the Netherlands, Feb. 26 (AP).—Antiaircraft batteries opened fire and searchlights swept the skies in Amersfort and surrounding villages tonight. Residents reported foreign planes passed over the section at high altitude.

Move Troops Near Luxemburg.

LUXEMBURG, Luxemburg, Feb. 26 (AP).—Great German transport activity was reported tonight across the border from Luxemburg. Trains were numerous and long columns of trucks, infantry and cavalry could be seen. There were reports that Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering and four generals visited the fortifications opposite Echternach Saturday.

155 in Navy List Approved for Promotion to Lieutenant

C., Feb. 26 [Special].—A list of 155 junior grade lieutenants in the United States navy has been approved by President Roosevelt for promotion to the rank of lieutenant when vacancies occur. The list includes Richard C. Gazlay and Albert D. Kaplan, Chicago; Henry Allen Jr., John S. Lewis, Warren B. Christie, and David B. Martineau, Evanston; the Rev. B. Little, Oak Park; Walter Blatchford, Winnetka; Gilbert H. Richards, Waukegan; George H. Miller, Hammond, Ind., and Laurence W. Smythe, Michigan City, Ind. Officers chosen for promotion were graduated from the United States Naval academy in 1932 and 1933.

JAPS BLOCK AID FROM AMERICA IN CHINESE FAMINE

TIENTSIN, China, Feb. 26 (AP).—Efforts of foreigners to import emergency food supplies in the face of North China's threatened starvation met concerted Japanese opposition here tonight. The starvation threat is a result of famine conditions thruout North China caused by last summer's flood and war conditions.

In an emergency conference attended by the British and Japanese consuls and by British, American, French, and Japanese business men, the Japanese announced they "believe it is undesirable to import supplies from countries other than the yen-bloc nations." These nations are Japan, Manchukuo and China.

The Japanese declaration apparently nullified a foreign sponsored plan to bring in large quantities of American, Australian, Canadian, and other foodstuffs, because the Japanese said they would not ease foreign exchange control sufficiently to permit banks to supply the required financing.

LONDON REPORTS BRITISH PLANES FLY OVER BERLIN

London, Feb. 27, Tuesday (AP).—The air ministry announced today royal air force planes had flown over Berlin in the last 24 hours.

A communique said:

"During the last 24 hours a number of successful flights over enemy territory have been carried out by aircraft of the royal air force. These have included reconnaissances over Helgoland and the German North sea coast as well as large areas of the interior of western Germany.

"In the course of the night, in addition to standing patrol of the Frisian Islands, our aircraft reconnoitered important seaports in northern Germany and the Baltic, while others operating over central Germany penetrated as far as Berlin. All our aircraft have returned."

GERMANY O. K.'S AMERICAN PLAN FOR POLISH AID

BERLIN, Feb. 26 (AP).—Germany tonight approved an American Red Cross plan to relieve distress among the people in occupied Poland.

American Red Cross officials will be permitted to enter the region, which is closed to ordinary travel. They may receive materials sent from the United States free of duty and will coöperate with the German Red Cross in distributing these goods.

They also will have an opportunity to freely observe the manner in which American contributions to Polish relief are spent. Transportation of relief materials will be facilitated by German authorities.

BRITONS WARNED OF DRASTIC CUT IN LIVING STANDARD

Savings Will Be Used to Finance War.

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP).—Britain's millions were told bluntly today that the government's plans for crushing Germany call for a drastic lowering of the British standard of living to turn more world trade profits to war.

Robert S. Hudson.

Robert S. Hudson, secretary for overseas trade, in a speech at Glasgow, Scotland, called upon manufacturers for "heroic" exports. These, he said, will be achieved by restriction of home consumption, which he declared will be drastic.

U. S. Stocks Total a Secret.

Robert V. Grimston, treasurer of the household, said in commons that it "is not in the public interest" to disclose the value of securities acquired by the recent action of the government in ordering British holders of 60 selected American stocks to sell their holdings to the Bank of England. Unofficially, the total is estimated at about $100,000,000.

Britain's food ministry announced the formation of a British-French committee for joint purchase, distribution and shipment of food supplies.

The war office banned all nonresident civilians from 9,000 square miles of northern Scotland, effective March 11. The ban makes a protected area of Caithness, Sutherland, and Ross and Cromarty counties; parts of Inverness and Argyll counties, and the inner and outer Hebrides Islands. In the district are many munitions plants.

Secret Radio Lashes Britain.

A secret, antigovernment radio station called the "New British Broadcasting company" gave British military intelligence ferrets a new job. The station attacked British war-aims in its first broadcast last night. This is the first station of its kind to come to light in this country.

'She Eats Like a Butterfly' No Longer Is a Compliment

PARIS, Feb. 26.—The phrase, "She eats like a butterfly," no longer will be a compliment after a paper read today before the French Academy of Science by Prof. Pointier. Butterflies, said the professor, have terrific appetites. He asserted accurate accounts kept of food absorbed by butterflies show they eat and digest the equivalent of one-half their entire weight in a day.

U. S. MAIL ON CLIPPER SEIZED A SECOND TIME BY BRITAIN'S CENSORS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 [Special].—British censors in Bermuda for the second time today seized part of the mail cargo of an American Clipper plane bound for Lisbon, Portugal, according to reports reaching here today. The first seizure was made under protest Jan. 18 and resulted in a decision of Pan-American Airways yesterday to abandon the Bermuda stop on the eastbound trip after March 15.

On Jan. 18, according to Capt. Charles A. Lorber, commander of the Clipper, 2,600 pounds of a 5,200 pound cargo of mail bound for Europe was seized at bayonet point. Today Lord Lothian, British ambassador to the United States, denied the mail was seized on Jan. 18 by force of arms and added that Britain merely was exercising a right under international law.

Protest against the seizure today was made by the Clipper commander just as Capt. Lorber had protested. The Clipper from which the mail was taken left Baltimore this morning with 29 passengers, 16 of whom left the ship in Bermuda. Eastbound flights with stops at Bermuda are scheduled for March 2, 9, and 15. Thereafter the Clippers will fly direct from the United States to the Azores to circumvent British mail seizures.

FRENCH PREMIER SET TO ISSUE NEW DECREES OF WAR

PARIS, Feb. 26 (AP).—Premier Edouard Daladier today put the finishing touches on decrees designed to reinforce France's wartime financial and economic structure. He consulted with the inner council of his cabinet at a meeting attended by two of his top ranking advisers, Daniel Serruys, high commissioner of national economy, and Roger Auboin, secretary of the British-French coordination committee for purchases.

Economic decree drafted in cabinet meetings last Thursday and Saturday are expected to be signed by President Albert Lebrun on Wednesday.

A communique on today's meeting said the ministers also studied "questions concerning colonies and armament." Pierre Boisson, governor general of French equatorial Africa, conferred with Georges Mandel, minister of colonies.

BRITAIN IS URGED: SEND ARMED AID TO FINNS AT ONCE

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP).—A resolution calling for immediate intervention on behalf of Finland in the Finnish-Russian conflict was introduced in the house of commons tonight by Oliver Locker-Lampson, naval reserve officer and Conservative party member. The proposal would free part of the empire's forces for service against Russia. The government was asked to grant a day to debate the resolution but it was considered unlikely it would approve because of the press of other business.

RUMANIA BOOSTS FREIGHT RATES ON OIL FOR GERMANY

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Feb. 26 (AP).—Rumania tonight announced an increase of 12 to 40 per cent on railway freight rates on most exports, including oil consigned to Germany. The action raised the probability of a German protest when Dr. Karl Clodius, German economic negotiator, arrives this week for negotiations on the Rumanian oil controversy.

The raise increased charges which foreign buyers must pay for Rumanian products shipped by rail. Germany is almost wholly dependent upon rail transport for her Rumanian oil supplies as long as the Danube river remains frozen.

Only grains were excluded from the exports on which rates were raised.

French Liner, with Cannon Put at Stern, Reaches U. S.

New York, Feb. 26 [Special].—Her forward cannon moved to the stern so that she is no longer classified as a vessel of war, the French liner De Grasse slipped into New York harbor today. She was painted a dingy gray and her upper deck was loaded with sandbags against possible German air raiders.

CONNOISSEUR'S HOLIDAY (2)

By CALEB

ABOUT a decade ago, an American woman, Ruth Webb Lee, determined to trace to their lairs the lore and legend, the fancy and fact, clustered around American pressed glass. The result was an adventurous Odyssey embracing thousands of miles of travel, hundreds of personal visits to antique shops, and interviews with dealers and collectors — terminating in a formidable 630-page book which is today the standard reference-work in this field.

Yet in its "Foreword" appears her plaintive confession that "had the number and magnitude of obstacles that stood in the way . . . been pointed out to me, I never would have undertaken the work."

What she accomplished, none the less, was to reorder the jumble of myth and misinformation concerning early American glass in beautiful fashion, compared with its previous state—and give the decorator, designer, antique collector and homemaker a veritable Pole Star for guidance. Symmetrically and into one place she put the available facts regarding nearly 400 different patterns—authenticity breathed again.

Something there is in the human heart—to paraphrase Robert Frost—that doesn't like dubiety. Above all, in the collector's hungry heart. And in assembling the more than five hundred pieces of early American pressed glass on view in our south Wabash second-floor Provincial Corner, this circumstance was sternly borne in mind. Lovely, lacy Sandwich pieces, spring-water-clear Ashburton, sparkling Dewdrop, historically thrilling Westward Ho, frostily etched Rose in the Snow, and quaint examples of Hobnail, One Hundred and One and Three Face, are among the goblets, bowls, cup plates, decanters, compotes, sauce dishes whose beautiful native patterns were clearly authenticated before their acceptance.

Pressed glass was known even to the ancient Egyptians; but critics have awarded their laurels to the glassmakers of the American Colonies for really perfecting the method. And underlying the definite design beauty of these table and miscellaneous pieces alike is an intangible patriotic beauty: the beauty of their being completely American!

Major amazement, in fact, to the uninitiated is that his forebears could utilize to such artistic advantage blackberry, grape, wild rose, pear, raindrop, dewdrop, hobnail and other homely accessories of rural existence, in the glassware motifs they produced from 1830 through to 1880! One look at the enchanting laciness of Sandwich or the clustered jewels of Dewdrop—and you will more than appreciate why, to today's connoisseur, "early American" is a dernier cri.

MAYOR DUE BACK TODAY TO DECIDE ON PARTY FEUD

May Put Lid on Proposal to Attack Rebels.

BY PARKE BROWN.

There was a clearly defined understanding around Democratic county headquarters yesterday that the decision whether violent hostilities start today or are indefinitely postponed by the regular organization will be made by Mayor Kelly this morning.

The mayor is cutting short a Florida visit to preside at a luncheon that promises to be an overflow affair filled with all sorts of possibilities. It was intended to be a love feast for the benefit of the original Kelly-Nash-Horner slate now severely attacked by the Stelle-Adamowski-Barrett insurgents.

Some Urge Attack at Once.

The feeling of headquarters conferees is that the attack should be met at once. It has been planned to distribute photostatic copies of the notarized certificate of candidacy signed by Lieut. Gov. John Stelle as an aspirant for renomination before he bolted the regular slate. The photostats are intended as a reply to Stelle's statement that he never consented to run again for his present post.

Now there is a general feeling that Mayor Kelly may put the lid on all such tactics, direct that the organization ignore the assaults of the insurgents, and concentrate everything in getting out a big vote for its own ticket. This has been the machine policy in several recent campaigns.

United States Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, who will be escorted to the city by Senator Scott W. Lucas, is billed as the principal speaker at the luncheon. Members of the state and county committees, the officers of ward clubs, and Democratic office holders will form the bulk of the audience. Candidates on the state slate will be guests of honor.

Gutknecht Opens Campaign.

The one important candidate for local office in opposition to the Democratic organization, Municipal Judge John Gutknecht, running for state's attorney against the incumbent, Thomas J. Courtney, opened his campaign last night with a radio speech that surprised the old-timers.

Judge Gutknecht did not attack either the organization or his opponent. Instead, he presented an argument that the organization and its workers should join in nominating him as the best available candidate. One section of his talk was directed to the precinct captains of the organization. They were told that while their jobs are important they basically want decent, honest government and a candidate who can win.

"The Democratic party leaders know that I am the strongest candidate they have in the party," said the speaker. "If they do not see fit to indorse me they are so doing not because of any weakness in my candidacy. . . . These party leaders know that even if they oppose me and defeat me for the nomination the final victory will be for my ideals of public service."

ARMY CAN LAND PLANES FREE AT CHICAGO AIRPORT

The army can land its planes without charge at Chicago airport, Commissioner of Public Works Oscar Hewitt said yesterday. The government pays the city $1 a year for space at the airport occupied by the military hangar. No landing fee is assessed against planes at the Chicago port. Government military services last week banned the use by army planes, except on special authority, of the new La Guardia airport at New York City. The action followed a recent charge of $20 levied against the war department because an army plane landed at the airport.

Three Election Judges Get Suspended Jail Sentence

Three judges of the 1st precinct of the 13th ward at the election of Nov. 8, 1938, were sentenced to one day in jail on vote fraud contempt charges yesterday by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki. Judge Jarecki said he regarded discrepancies revealed in a recount as due to error rather than conscious fraud, and ruled that the sentences be considered served. Those found guilty were Mrs. Gertrude Kotwas and Mrs. Helen Holcombe, 4924 South Kolin avenue, Democrats, and Mrs. Helen Hohmann, 5010 South Kolin avenue, Republican.

Gardener Gets Jail Term for Job Insurance Fraud

CUBA PROPOSES TO CURB POWER OF ITS PRESIDENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Feb. 26.—Radical changes in Cuba's future government were approved today in the new constitution being drafted by the assembly. It was recommended that the assembly's membership be reduced from 173 to 112 by the election of one member for every 35,000 inhabitants instead of one for 25,000. The members would hold office for four years.

Six senators are to be chosen for each of the 6 provinces, four to represent the majority group and two the minority, instead of one for 50,000 inhabitants, according to the proposals. Their terms are reduced from eight to four years.

Establishment of a semi-parliamentary form of government to limit the almost unlimited powers of the president was approved. Under this change he will be subject to call before joint sessions of the house and senate to explain his plans. He also will be liable to impeachment for certain major offenses.

The changes provide that officeholders retain their posts after May 20, when their terms expire under the present constitution, until new elections are held.

U. OF W. OPENS NEW LABORATORY TO FIGHT CANCER

Madison, Wis., Feb. 26 [Special].—The Michael W. McArdle Memorial building, a laboratory devoted exclusively to a study of the causes of cancer, was opened today on the University of Wisconsin campus. Occupancy of the building brought realization to years of planning by university scientists to make the school a leading center for cancer research.

The building, a four story structure containing the most modern equipment available for cancer research, is a result of the generosity of McArdle, a Chicago financier who died a victim of the disease which will be fought with a part of his fortune. McArdle, president of the Chicago Flexible Shaft company, left to the university cash, stocks, and other property which netted $135,000. A grant of $108,000 was obtained from the WPA.

Funds with which to finance the research will come from the income from a $400,000 trust fund left to the university by Miss Jennie Bowman of Wisconsin Dells, the International Cancer Foundation, the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation, and $20,000 voted by the 1939 legislature.

NEW YORK SENATE WANTS CONGRESS TO BAN 3D TERM

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP).—New York's senate tonight passed a resolution sponsored by a Democrat memoralizing congress to enact legislation to prevent any President of the United States from seeking a third term. A scant Republican majority in the senate of President Roosevelt's home state speeded adoption of the resolution introduced by Senator John J. McNaboe, New York City Democrat, then successfully beat off attempts to reconsider the action.

A final motion to reconsider the vote was defeated, 26 to 16. Exactly 26 votes, a bare normal majority, was needed to block the motion. Senator McNaboe, the lone Democrat voting with the Republicans, supplied the 26th vote. Two of the 27 senate Republicans were absent.

McNaboe's resolution cited that in 1796 George Washington established a tradition by refusing to seek election for the third time, which, the resolution said, forms the one remaining bulwark protecting the people of this nation against the threat of the establishment of a dictatorship.

[ADVERTISMENT]

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

4,000 ATTEND FIRST OF GREEN'S COUNTY RALLIES

Candidate Raps New Deal Job Failure.

More than 4,000 ward workers attended the first of a series of Cook county rallies for Dwight H. Green, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, in the La Salle hotel last night. Similar meetings will be held each Monday night until the campaign ends. Green will interrupt his speaking tours outside the county to attend them.

It was announced that Frank M. Kalteux, Republican committeeman from the 38th ward, and William Parillo, committeeman of the 25th ward, had espoused the Green candidacy. Kalteux was in the Green-for-Mayor organization last spring, as chairman in charge of halls and speakers.

Fifty Precinct Club Acts.

Last night's rally was sponsored by the Fifty Volunteer Precinct club, organized to support Green in every Chicago precinct. Samuel A. Golen and David L. Shillinglaw, heads of this group, presided. They urged workers to obtain pledge card signatures in every precinct.

"This campaign is going to depend upon thoro work," Shillinglaw declared. "There can be no shirking. The people want Green and the people will have to work for his nomination."

John T. Dempsey, 33d ward committeeman and Green's Cook county chairman, predicted an overwhelming victory for Green in Cook county.

"Downstate wants to know what Cook county is going to do," he cried. "Well, we're going to do better than the 638,000 votes last spring [the number Green received for mayor]. This time we're going to get all the votes cast for Green. They won't steal them again. This organization ought to be known as the 638,000 Plus club."

Downstate Workers Elated.

Ferre C. Watkins and Mrs. Frederic Upham, the latter chairman of the women's division, reiterated victory predictions. Patrick Prescott and Deneen Watson of the downstate organization declared the outlook for Green there is extremely promising.

"Downstate voters are backing Green for governor because they know he is the man who can carry Chicago," Watson said. "From my observation of the downstate sentiment I predict a 2 to 1 victory for Green."

Shortly before the rally Green made a radio speech in which he denounced New Deal attempts at solving the unemployment problem.

"The Democratic party won because of its unqualified promise to create jobs," he said. "The New Deal continues to dangle that same promise before us, but its fulfillment we now know is impossible under a Democratic administration. We have been beguiled with countless theories and regaled with experiment after experiment but there has been no work for our unemployed."

Real Jobs Promised.

A Republican administration, in the nation and the state, will encourage private enterprise, reduce taxes, and give people a chance for real jobs that are neither an inadequate charity or a mere stop-gap, he declared.

Wayland Brooks and Richard J. Lyons, candidates for the Republican nominations for United States senator and governor respectively, were touring downstate yesterday, but their Chicago offices were busy. Mrs. Mabel Krutckoff, director of the Cook county Republican central committee, who is also chairman of the Brooks-Lyons women's division, announced a drive to mobilize the 20,000 women enrolled in the official county organization.

She Gets Elmer

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Skold as they appeared in court yesterday.

A wedding present from Judge Thomas Callahan of East Chicago, Ind., put an end yesterday to the honeymoon troubles of Elmer Skold and his wife.

Judge Thos. Callahan.

Three hours after their wedding last Friday Elmer was jailed in East Chicago on a charge of reckless driving. Mrs. Skold, locked up over night, was freed Saturday to try to raise $100 bond for her bridegroom. But she was unsuccessful, and Elmer stayed in jail until Sunday night, when the police lowered his bond to $25.

Yesterday Elmer appeared before Judge Callahan. He explained he had passed a red light and hit another car. He listened as Judge Callahan imposed a sentence of 30 days in jail and a fine of $1 and costs.

"However, I'm married myself, and I can understand how you might have been thinking of other things," said Judge Callahan. "So I'm going to give you a wedding present by suspending the fine and sentence if you promise to pay the $150 damage to the other car."

Elmer promised, shook hands all around, and departed with Mrs. Skold for their home in Congress Park.

NEW DEAL TEST IN OHIO SPECIAL CONGRESS VOTE

Columbus, O., Feb. 26 (AP).—A clear cut New Deal popularity test will be provided in one of Ohio's two special congressional elections tomorrow.

From the six county 17th district—typical sounding board for strategical Ohio's political cross-currents—Republicans and Democrats expect results to forecast general voting trends in this state, where the Democratic organization is ready to back President Roosevelt for a third term.

Intensive campaigning was completed tonight by the candidates: Democrat Byron B. Ashbrook, banker, who expressed support for "the social and ecenomic program of the New Deal," and Republican J. H. McGregor, contractor, who called for a "return to common sense business judgment in Washington."

The other special election, in the 22d district, found socially prominent Mrs. Frances Payne Bolton, Cleveland Republican, seeking to become Ohio's first congresswoman. She is opposed by A. J. Fleger, Democrat.

Gov. John W. Bricker called the elections to fill vacancies caused by deaths of Ashbrook's uncle, William A. Ashbrook, and Mrs. Bolton's husband, Chester A. Bolton.

Fast Stepping Bandits Rob 2 Hotels 100 Blocks Apart

Two bandits robbed hotels 100 blocks apart during the early morning hours yesterday. They first took $25 from James Ryan, clerk at the Belmar hotel, 5046 Winthrop avenue, then turned up at the Woodmere hotel, 4641 Woodlawn avenue, where they got $52 from Charles Shiptaw, the clerk. One wore a light hat and the other a green hat.

HAMILTON CALLS G. O. P. THE REAL FRIEND OF LABOR

Tells Indianans It Has Led in Reforms.

Labor unions owe more to the Republican than to the Democratic party, said John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee, last night in an analysis of the gains made by organized labor.

Free labor, collective bargaining, antistrike breaking laws, mediation, protection from prison labor, protection from monopolies, minimum wages, antichild labor, tariffs on cheap labor imports, old age pensions, and workmen's compensation all originated in Republican sponsored legislation, said Hamilton.

"The Republican party, thruout its entire history, has been the real friend of labor," he said in Gary at a speech at a $10 a plate dinner sponsored by Republicans of the first Indiana congressional district.

Acted Long Before NLRA.

"The legal right of American workers to organize and to act collectively to improve their status was established long before the passage of the national recovery act and the national labor relations act."

The Republican party recognized collective bargaining 50 years ago and sponsored the 1898 Erdman railroad mediation act, the 1926 railroad labor act, and the 1932 antiinjunction act, he said.

"Under the railroad act," he continued, "every difference that has arisen between the railroads and their employés has been settled amicably. Contrast this with the long series of strikes and the millions of dollars that have been lost by workers as a result of the dismal failure of the New Deal's National Labor Relations board to settle labor disputes promptly or to the full satisfaction of either labor or management.

Cites Lewis' Disillusionment.

"Any attempt to find a short to satisfaction and security for labor thru a deal with political leadership will prove delusive. Even John L. Lewis is convinced of that now.

"Sooner or later, as has happened in Germany and Italy, the state robs labor of its hard won rights."

Hamilton said 14 of the 19 states which passed old age pension laws between 1915 and 1932 had Republican controled legislatures." Years ago, he said, the Republican party fostered state minimum wage legislation. Fifteen states adopted such laws between 1915 and 1923, the Republicans being responsible for eight and the Democrats four.

"By 1916, 31 states had passed workmen's compensation laws," he said. "The Republican party was responsible for eighteen, the Democrats eight."

Senate O. K.'s J.J.McEntee as N. J. CCC Director

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The senate confirmed late today President Roosevelt's nomination of James J. McEntee of New Jersey to be director of the Civilian Conservation corps.

BLACKOUT PUTS HALF OF GARY IN DARKNESS; HITS HAMILTON FETE

Some apprehension was caused in the banquet room of the Gary hotel in Gary last night when all the lights in the hotel went out shortly before John Hamilton, Republican national chairman, was to speak. Candle light was substituted until the Gary fire department came to the rescue. Firemen installed two flood lights, operated by gasoline power, in the banquet room. Electric service was restored, however, before Hamilton spoke.

The temporary blackout affected not only the hotel but half of the city of Gary. The cause was a break in power transmission on the 25 cycle circuit. Gary's light comes on two cycles—25 and 60. The 60 cycle circuit was not affected. The break in the 25 cycle transmission also temporarily stopped water supplies, Gary's water pumping system operating on that circuit. Lights went out at 4:50 p. m. By 8 p. m. water had been restored and lights were being gradually restored.

EIGHT of the next ten bald-headed persons you meet became bald because they failed to rid their scalps of dandruff infection. At various times they obtained temporary relief by removing the surface particles of dandruff with lotions and washes. But while they were experimenting, the underlying causes of dandruff were damaging their hair-growing structure and leading them to baldness.
There are three major types of dandruff. Each demands a different treatment. Twenty years of experience qualifies The Thomas' to determine which type of dandruff is causing your hair loss, and endows Thomas experts with unusual skill and ability in administering corrective treatment.

G. M. REYNOLDS, RETIRED CHICAGO BANKER, IS DEAD

Dies in Sanitarium at Pasadena, Cal.

George M. Reynolds, retired chairman of the executive committee of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, died last night in Los Encinos sanitarium in Pasadena, Cal. He was 75 years old. He had been ill a long time.

With him at his death was his only son, Earle H. Reynolds, former president of the old People's Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago.

Retired in 1932.

Mr. Reynolds for many years was a national figure in banking affairs. His Chicago career spanned 35 years —from 1897 when he came here from Iowa to 1932 when he retired. He moved to Pasadena about seven years ago with his wife, the former Elizabeth Hay, who is now dead.

Mr. Reynolds was instrumental in the development of Chicago's first billion dollar banking institution—the Continental Illinois National bank. This organization evolved out of numerous consolidations, starting with the old Continental National Bank of Chicago.

Born and Reared in Iowa.

Mr. Reynolds was born in Panora, Ia., the son of a farmer. He was educated in the Iowa public schools. In 1879 he became a clerk in the Guthrie County National bank at Panora. He moved to Des Moines a few years later, and in 1897 came to Chicago as cashier of the old Continental bank.

In 1902 he was elevated to the vice presidency of the bank, and in 1906 to the presidency. In subsequent years he had active roles in the various mergers and consolidations that ultimately formed the Continental Illinois National bank.

The 1907 financial crisis in Chicago projected him into national attention. He was a member of the Chicago Clearing House commission, which took charge of the financial situation. As a result of this work Mr. Reynolds was appointed to the American monetary commission sent abroad to investigate European banking methods. The studies of that group helped to found the American federal reserve system.

Declines Taft Appointment.

In 1909 President Taft offered him the position of secretary of the treasury. Mr. Reynolds declined. He was considered for the same office by President Harding in 1921.

Mr. Reynolds held the presidency of the American Bankers' association in 1908. He was a director of the federal reserve bank and president of the citizens' war board in Chicago.

During Mr. Reynolds' last active year in banking he headed the National Credit corporation, organized in 1932 to aid distressed banks suffering from the general business collapse.

OMEGA OIL EASES MUSCULAR PAIN

BACKACHE

From Coast to Coast people have heard of how comfortingly good old OMEGA OIL acts when called upon to ease almost unbearable soreness, backache misery and the distress caused by the pains of neuralgia, neuritis and muscular rheumatism.

As Grandfather says: "Something good always happens to one of the family who has been hit by aches or pains or some such misery when we take down the old standby Omega Oil."

And standby is right, for in countless homes in America—prompt acting, powerfully medicated Omega Oil—an oil that penetrates, is kept right where any ache or pain stricken member of the family can promptly put it to good use.

So for ailments mentioned above, as well as sore, burning feet, stiff neck, muscular soreness in arms, legs and chest, rub it in good—it penetrates but won't stain, burn or blister. Ask for and get OMEGA OIL—35 cents.

BROOKS, LYONS BLAST WASTE OF RELIEF MONEY

G. O. P. Team Continues Downstate Tour.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 26.—The campaign to bring Illinois back into the Republican fold in the November election was given new vigor today with the downstate swing of Wayland Brooks, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator, and Richard J. Lyons, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of Illinois.

Illinois is a pivotal state in the 1940 struggle, these candidates declared in talks in which they brought their best efforts to bear in opposition to New Deal farm and relief policies. They protested the squandering of relief money, while maintaining the necessity of adequate relief measures at all times. They particularly opposed the New Deal trade treaties by which middle west farmers have suffered thru loss in foreign markets and thru importation of foreign products.

Preceded by Radio Car.

These candidates, both old battlers for Republican policies in state and nation, did not pay specific attention today to their opponents in the Republican field. They did, however, rather resent the claims of those who have taken up the Republican banner, now that the field of politics seems to offer a fair chance for Republican victory. They said they would open up on this later in the week.

The Brooks-Lyons team, preceded by a trailer-radio outfit loud in its appeal for attention, began its second week's campaigning in Yorkville this morning and wound up in Bloomington this evening. The candidates spoke in Yorkville and Morris, stopped to shake hands with supporters in Dwight, had a packed courthouse meeting in Pontiac, spoke in Chenoa and Lexington, and addressed a large audience in Bloomington.

Brooks Speaks as Farmer.

Speaking in this farming country Brooks was among his own neighbors, for he is farmer as well as lawyer. He spoke with a knowledge of Illinois, for he has campaigned the state many times for himself and others.

Brooks, who owns and operates his farm in La Salle county, said that any reciprocal trade agreements made with foreign countries first should be submitted to the senate of the United States. This, he said, would give the farmers an opportunity of knowing how any proposed agreement would affect the market for their products. He proposed to represent the farmers in senate debates as one who knows their problems.

Lyons Blasts Democrat Machine.

Lyons, after a week of campaigning in Illinois, said at Morris today: "The comment we have heard everywhere makes it obvious that nothing for many years has so offended the nostrils of decent citizens as the back room spectacle enacted this month at Springfield by the Kelly-Nash-Horner trained troupe of muscle men.

"The brazen attempt of the machine whip-crackers to dictate who should and who should not run for state office has aroused the anger and contempt of thousands of citizens who formerly voted Democratic.

"The placing of President Roosevelt's name in the primary ballot, without his having signed a statement of candidacy, has soured the average voter still further on the flouting of the primary law by the Democratic ringmaster."

BUSINESS WOMEN MAP WAR UPON 8 HOUR DAY LAW

Members of the Alliance of Business and Professional Women of Chicago, at a meeting last night, voted to take concerted action to have the state eight hour law for women declared unconstitutional or amended to exclude office workers, executives, and supervisors.

"The eight hour law is the opening wedge to push women out of business," said the president, Mrs. Anne V. Zinser. "An employer naturally will hire a man in preference to a woman, who, no matter how pressing the emergency, is forbidden by law from working more than eight hours in any given day."

The board of directors of the alliance will meet Thursday noon in the Chicago Bar association offices to plan a campaign.

I. O.]. Lawrence D. Smith, vice president and general manager of the company, announced tonight suspension of operators. The pickets appeared at the plant early today and turned back workmen who could not show paidup union dues cards.

Wife to Sue Senator

MRS. GERALD P. NYE.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26. (AP).—Mrs. Gerald P. Nye said today she would file a divorce petition this week against her husband, Senator Nye, North Dakota Republican. Mrs. Nye declined to amplify. Senator and Mrs. Nye have been living apart since last fall. Mrs. Nye has occupied the family residence in the Chevy Chase section here and the senator has been living with his secretary, Gerald Movius, former Fargo newspaper man, and Mrs. Movius. The senator was in Alleghany college, Meadville, Pa., today filling a speaking engagement.

WHAT WE NEED: COMMON SENSE, SAYS MRS. TAFT

Asserts G. O. P. Talks People's Language.

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 26.—The Republican party made substantial gains in 1938, but will win decisively in 1940 because it talks the language of the average man and woman, Mrs. Robert A. Taft declared here tonight. Mrs. Taft, wife of the Ohio senator, has been touring Minnesota, her native state, in behalf of the candidacy of her husband for the Republican presidential nomination.

In an address before 700 men and women at the Hotel Nicollet here she said the New Deal is trying to divert the attention of the people from home problems to the European war. In contrast to the New Deal, she said, the Republican party is facing the difficulties of the average family which the New Deal has left unsolved.

Lists Greatest Problems.

"What are the greatest of these problems?" she asked. "For the city family, the need is a job. For the farm family, the need is a chance to make a living on the farm. For the business man, a chance to succeed.

"At the time of the 1936 election there had been a small rise in economic welfare after the first depths of the depression, but the Republicans predicted the rise would not continue because it was not built upon a sound basis.

"Nobody listened to us. We neither made friends nor influenced people. But now the American people have results by which to judge. The New Deal failure is so obvious that people look on skeptically when offered more of the tax and tax, spend and spend medicine.

Illustrates Size of Deficit.

"The Republicans have had depressions, of course, but it took the New Deal to produce twins in depression. The New Deal deficit would run the city of Minneapolis 1,000 years, yet they spent that in seven years. It isn't relief that made that deficit.

"What we need is to use the thrift and economy of the average American family as a yardstick. Common sense may have a humdrum sound, but it is glorified when it shows us the road to recovery is not over the precipices of national bankruptcy."

The speech marked the end of Mrs. Taft's whirlwind five day tour. In her audience tonight, incidentally, were 100 men and women from Anoka, Minn., 18 miles north of here. They organized a Taft for President club in November, 1938, the first in the country. They now call themselves the "Gold Star club."

BYRD ANNOUNCES ATTAINING A GOAL SOUGHT 166 YEARS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—A message from the Byrd expedition announced today that Admiral Richard E. Byrd and two assistants had reached and mapped from the air the long sought South Pacific coast of Antarctica, goal of explorers of many nationalities for the last 166 years.

Triumphing over fog, gales, and ice pack, the aerial explorers not only filled in 200 miles of the new coast, which is 1,200 miles east of Little America, but discovered a vast mountain range to the southward, rearing thousands of feet above sea level.

They also discovered an ice covered island 80 miles offshore, mountains to the southeastward, and a great pack enclosed sea. Byrd and his companions left Little America three weeks ago on the barkentine Bear.

Accompanying Byrd on the plane were two navy men, Ashley C. Snow, an aviation chief machinists' mate, and Earle B. Perce, radio man.

6 STATES FIGHT ILLINOIS WATER DIVERSION PLEA

Objections Are Filed with Supreme Court.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—A sweeping objection to the plea of Illinois for a temporary increase of diversion of Lake Michigan water to alleviate insanitary conditions along the Illinois waterway was filed in the Supreme court today by the attorneys general of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and New York.

On Jan. 15 John E. Cassidy, attorney general for Illinois, petitioned the court for a modification of its decree reducing the diversion to 1,500 cubic feet of water per second. He asked that the amount of diversion be increased to 5,000 second feet until Dec. 31, 1942 by which time the sanitary district expects to complete the Chicago sewage treatment and disposal works.

The Supreme court cited the six complainant states in the original suit to show cause why the Illinois plea should not be granted.

Dispute Illinois' Claims.

The six states, which won the decree on arguments that the diversion had lowered lake levels to the detriment of shipping interests, disputed, in their answer today, the validity of all the reasons advanced by Illinois for a temporary increase in the flow.

"This petition," their answer concludes, "represents another in the long chain of attempts to avoid the termination of petitioner's adjudged wrong and restoration of respondents' adjudged rights by reliance upon exaggerated and simulated dangers to public health which, if they existed, would be the result of inexcusable negligence or wilful default of petitioner over a period of nearly 40 years."

Illinois' contention that lake levels are a foot higher now than the last eight year average is emphatically denied by the six states. They assert that Lakes Michigan and Huron, according to the United States lake survey, are only .46 of a foot higher, while Erie is .24 of a foot lower and Ontario .45 of a foot lower and that the trend of lake levels is downward at the present time. It will take five years to restore the lake levels and a temporary increase of diversion would delay restoration for four years, the answer says.

Deny Unhealthful Conditions.

The respondents deny that any unhealthful conditions obtained along the Illinois waterway in 1939 or will obtain during the summer of 1940. They cite public health service reports showing three cases of typhoid fever per 100,000 population in this area in 1939 compared with 11.4 cases in the remainder of the state. They also assert that Lemont, Lockport, and Joliet dump their raw sewage into the waterway and "contribute to the alleged conditions of which they are alleged to complain."

Whatever insanitary conditions obtain they are the result of the neglect and default of Illinois and the sanitary district to fulfill the terms of the decree in respect to completion of the Chicago sewage treatment and disposal works, say the respondents. They deny that the financial resources of the sanitary district are inadequate and if they were Illinois would not be excused from providing the required funds.

ENJOINS BERWYN ON STREET CAR SPEED ORDINANCE

Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan issued an order yesterday restraining Berwyn police from enforcing a city ordinance limiting to 10 miles an hour the speed of the street cars of the Chicago and West Towns Railways, Inc.

The order was issued in behalf of the street car company after Berwyn police earlier in the day had halted eight street cars and issued speeding tickets to the motormen. Residents in the suburb have protested what they described as the hazardous condition of operating the cars on Roosevelt road in Berwyn.

The ordinance provided a fine ranging from $25 to $200 for owners of the car line and a fine of $5 to $100 for the motorman for each violation.

ESCAPES FIRE, BUT BREAKS LEG.

Moline, Ill., Feb. 26 [Special].—Mrs. Sanford Peterson, 54 years old, leaped from the window of an apartment over a garage here last night to escape from fire which damaged the building. Her left leg was fractured in the plunge. Her husband was rescued uninjured by firemen.

Neighborhood Gets Spicy Odors After $4,500 Blaze

Fire, for which a 2-11 alarm was turned in, did about $4,500 damage late last night to the plant and contents of the La Salle Manufacturing company, 4341 Harrison streets, grinders and packers of spicers. The odor of burned spices was noticeable in the neighborhood for several hours after the fire. The first alarm was turned in by Carl Wool, 14 years old, who saw the flames from a window of his home on the sixth floor next door at 4345 Harrison street.

LITTLE MANTENOS.

The Manteno typhoid epidemic called public attention to the potential health menace in the creviced limestone formations that underlie large areas about Chicago. Unless adequate measures are adopted, there is danger that some of the subdivisions being developed in unincorporated areas about the city will produce little Mantenos.

The hazard of the limestone formation is that its crevices form an ideal system for carrying sewage and other agents of pollution long distances. State sanitary engineers, in an investigation in the Lockport district, found that dyed gasoline which seeped down to the limestone at one point made its way to a farm well 4 miles away.

For this reason wells are an unsafe source of drinking water if they draw water from the creviced limestone. The hazard is greatly increased if domestic sewage leaks from cesspools or septic tanks in the same vicinity in the absence of a public sewer system. The closer the limestone formation comes to the surface, the greater the danger of contamination, naturally.

So-called low cost homes are being sold in a number of subdivisions about Chicago in which no provision has been made for public water or sewer systems. The occupants of these dwellings will have to use wells and cesspools. If the limestone formation happens to lie close to the surface in their neighborhood, as it does in many, these new communities may be visited by epidemics of typhoid, dysentery, and other waterborne diseases.

The proper zoning code for unincorporated areas, which the county board has the authority to pass, can prevent the sale of homesites and the building of houses without provision for public sewer and water systems where they are essential to the protection of health. The Cook county zoning commission, pending completion of a permanent ordinance, has submitted an interim ordinance to the county board which contains an adequate public health section.

The measure would prevent opening of new subdivisions in dangerous areas without sewer and water systems, and would prevent health hazards in subdivisions already platted by requiring prospective builders to take out permits which would not be issued for houses served by wells or septic tanks if the state health department deems the area unsafe for such construction.

The county board has returned the interim ordinance to the zoning commission for reconsideration of some of the other provisions. The public interest would be better served if the ordinance were recalled and passed as submitted. Adjustment of the sections to which some subdividers have objected could well be postponed until the board considers the permanent ordinance. The interim ordinance is an emergency measure, and the board should have treated it so.

Until the board does act, prospective purchasers of either lots or homes in unincorporated areas will protect both their lives and their pocketbooks if they investigate before buying. The county zoning commission or the state health department can tell them whether the property they are considering can qualify under the proposed ordinance.

GOOD OLD STALIN.

Senator Lodge sought unsuccessfully to strike from the state department appropriation the $17,500 for the salary of the American ambassador to Russia. Mr. Lodge argued that our Berlin embassy is directed by a chargé d'affaires and the same status should be established in Moscow. The American people don't like Hitler and his works and they feel the same way about Stalin and his. The removal of our ambassador from Russia would serve as an accurate indication of the national sentiment.

Significantly, the opposition to the Lodge amendment came from Senator Pittman, chairman of the foreign relations committee, who was supported by other senators who likewise take their orders from the White House. Mr. Roosevelt recognized the murderous régime in Russia against the advice of experienced men in the state department and in disregard of the precedents established by his predecessors. The soviet government has repeatedly abused the relationship so established, as the Browder case illustrates. Nevertheless, the administration continues to treat the Russians with respect. Russia is permitted to draw military supplies for the Finnish war from this country, and from time to time Mr. Roosevelt sends his congratulatory messages on occasions of state. Numerous devoted admirers of the soviet régime remain in office under Mr. Roosevelt and, with Russian practices in mind, contribute to the formulation of American policy.

The friendship of this administration for communists and communism was plain enough before this latest demonstration of it; the speeches of the administration senators on the Lodge amendment serve merely as a reminder that Mr. Roosevelt's recent remarks before the Youth congress are not to be taken seriously as an evidence of his conversion.

THE WHITE HOUSE AND THE GREEN PASTURES.

The announcement was made, early last week in Hollywood, that James Roosevelt and Fred L. Mills, the well known Chicago slot machine manufacturer, had gone into business together. Jimmy's Globe movie company signed a contract with the Mills company—the new concern to be known as the Mills-Globe company—for the production of a new type of movie shorts to be run in nickel or dime slot machines which the Mills company will supply for its slot machine trade in barrooms, taverns, cafés, and other places where people are supposed to have pockets full of loose change they don't want.

Apparently James and the slot machine king hope to glorify the old peepshow business such as flourished, and may still flourish, in joints just outside the Chicago loop and in many other places of entertainment and amusement of a sort. The Mills concern makes a variety of vending machines and it is said that only the smallest part of its business is concerned with the gambling devices which every now and then the law enforcement officers chop up. The winner in this often renewed conflict is always the joint keeper and the slot machine. The law retires from the scene discomfited—or something.

The business which Jimmy joined early in the week has been described as 85 per cent pure, only 15 per cent of its products being put to uses which the law proscribes. The percentage favors the house. One of Jimmy's father's few and unsuccessful business adventures was in vending machines. The stockholders in Camco, promoted by Jimmy's father when he was trying his hand at private enterprise, lost their money. Jimmy has a sounder business head. He has picked a concern which has made money in the vending business. But Jimmy's father's father was not in the White House and Jimmy's father is.

Franklin D. Roosevelt hasn't much use for private enterprise or private enterprisers. When he retired from Camco and from a flyer in German marks it was with the conviction that the country's welfare could not be intrusted to business men but must be taken over by the government of which he would be the head. Whatever justification his own experiences might have given to his convictions, his conclusions have been refuted by the other members of the White House family.

Following the announcement from Hollywood last week there came one from Boston, from John A. Sargent, president and treasurer of Roosevelt & Sargent, Inc., the insurance firm founded by Jimmy, that insurance covering the American President Steamship line had been landed by—none other than Roosevelt & Sargent. The steamship line officials say it isn't much—less than 14 per cent of the company's business. The question may be one of quantitative ethics.

The federal government owns 90 per cent of the common stock of the American President Steamship line. It is held by the United States maritime commission. The chairman of the American President line is William Gibbs McAdoo who, as United States senator, threw the California delegates to Mr. Roosevelt and when defeated in the California primaries of 1938 was given the steamship job.

When Jimmy retired from the Boston insurance company his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, was made a director in her son's company to look after his interests, supposed to be residual and not prospective. While Jimmy was one of his father's secretaries it was disclosed in a magazine article that he had been an extraordinarily successful young man just beginning as a writer of insurance and that the common remark of his competitors, finding that they had lost an account to his firm, was: "Jimmy's got it."

Jimmy denied that he had ever made any such sums as were credited to him, but admitted that he had done as much as $49,000 a year and had split his income with his wife to reduce his income tax payments. From insurance which could do something with White House connections Jimmy went, thru the White House, to Hollywood, which always needs wires into political high spots, and now as a young man again on his own has hooked up with the slot machine business, which can use all the protection it can get.

Jimmy is in movies and slot machines. Elliot went into radio, which needs a friend in government. The family is in the du Ponts and with Mr. Hearst. It is in the insurance business. The Hyde Park estate gets a building to house the papers, including, no doubt, the autographed book which sold for $250 a copy to prospects who had reason to think it might be worth that to them.

Since Mr. Roosevelt has been in the White House the family has made up for any lack of success he experienced as a private citizen. The Roosevelts may even be able to take it with them. Anyway, they have it. They have found the New Deal a success.

THE WAR ON "CHISELING."

[Omaha World-Herald.]

Recently County Commissioner Bergman suggested three steps for improving the administration of relief in Douglas county.

They were:

1—Recheck the relief rolls.

2—Require relief applicants to make a statement, under oath, of their financial status.

3—Require Administrator Margaret to prosecute "chiselers."

The proposals, it seems, brought a considerable outcry from a group which presumes to speak for the relief "clients." Particular objection was made to the demand for sworn statements.

It is a little hard to understand that objection.

The only purpose of such a program would be to weed out those who do not rightly belong on the relief rolls. If that were done efficiently, and if "chiseling" became a most dangerous pastime, there would be that much more money available for those who are really in need.

The county checks and double-checks every other pay roll. It takes great pains to see that public money is paid only to those who are working for the public. Why should it be less careful in paying out money to those who have not earned it, but whose claim is that they need help?

It is hard to imagine a person more contemptible than one who cheats on relief—who draws money or supplies, under false pretenses, which he does not need. That person ought to be put in jail, and any regulations necessary to put him there should be encouraged.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

"THAT TODDL!N' TOWN."

Now then, to set the learned doctors of speech in a roar, what is the correct pronunciation of "Chicago"?

Is it ShikAWgo, or ShikAHgo, or ShikAGgo?

[Pardon this system of phonetic indications, for linotype machines do not carry all dots, dashes, and curliques that dictionaries use, and our own method is clearer anyway.]

The soundest law for the pronunciation of place names is that the people who live there call the tune, and in the case of Chicago its four million inhabitants can't be wrong. Almost without exception they pronounce the accented middle syllable of the name to rhyme with the city's principal product. It is "c-a" as in "hawg."

Easterners are likely to give this syllable the broad "a" of dear old Hahvahd, and certain pundits among them will go even farther in intellectual affectation, hardening the "a" sound into "kagg." [Veddy, veddy Oxford, this.] They will claim that the genuine Chicagoan is merely speaking a middle west dialect, and that his vulgar phonetics are not according to the classic rules of English. But the citizens make the law.

Our "a" as in "hawg" comes from the speech of backwoodsmen like Tom Lincoln, father of Abraham, who migrated to the plains of Illinois from Kentucky by way of Indiana. There were many thousands like him. They fixed the popular speech. By the time the emigrants from the east arrived, trailing intimations of the Harvard accent [maybe], the Illinois folk-speech had settled the pronunciation of Chicago, and other minor matters, for all time.

The Indian pronunciation was probably much like ours except for the accent. The French of the voyageurs hardened the "a" and played no favorite among the syllables in the matter of accent; the effect is staccato. Our pronunciation is the softest and most agreeable arrangement of sounds that can be obtained from the word.

So remember: "a" as in "hawg" proves that you are a regular Chicagoan and dawggone proud of it.

DEAR COMPANIONS.

Last night the moon hung like a golden cup . . .
Do you, in your far land, remember how
The things we shared were chaliced, lifted up?
Their potent memories walk with me now.
Once we knew laughter, and our songs were gay;
We roamed the woods beneath an April sun
Seeking the shade where the arbutus lay
Sheltered and secret; and when day was done
We told the stars like beads—you knew them all,
And loved all seasons and all things that pass
In their eternal cycles; I recall
One star-lit dawn we went to Easter Mass . . .
We held our chalice lightly lest they spill—
These dreams that are my dear companions still.

Floyd Gibbons' Greatest Failure.

To scoop Guy Murchie and THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE'S Graphic section about the life of Floyd Gibbons:

In November, 1913, the great reporter couldn't find his way home, altho he tried desperately and was in full command of his faculties. Here's what happened:

His family moved from 4450 Winthrop avenue to 4651 Malden street—a matter of only a few blocks. Floyd went to work that day, and at 3 a. m. returned to the old apartment. Then he remembered the moving, but couldn't recall the new address. He slept on the floor in the vacant flat.

The next morning he began to hunt for his new home, hiking in circles around the Sheridan Park [Uptown] district like a bloodhound on a lost trail. But he had no luck, and went downtown to work again. That night he slept at the Press club.

Then the family began to worry about Floyd and telephoned THE TRIBUNE to give the great reporter a hot tip on where he really lived.

He always runs in blind stampede,
And so because he has no brains
His tribe has vanished from the plains.
The moral his sad plight reveals
Is "Use your head and save your heels!"

ARE YOU GROUCHY? INVESTIGATE YOUR FEET.

Do your feet hurt—particularly when an attempt is made to walk over rough or irregular ground? If so, investigate your metatarsal bones, which lie back of the toes. Why? Because this part of the skeleton is obliged to support most of the weight and pressure when we bend the foot—at the ball—and move ahead.

In many instances an examination will reveal that the longitudinal arch [front to back] is perfectly normal. That, however, which supports the hinge—where the shoe "breaks"—may look all right when one is seated in a chair; but on standing, the bones in this area will be observed to flatten—that is, lie parallel with the floor.

Among the causes—in addition to bad posture—are shoes that are not long enough or that are too narrow. Occasionally the sole is not sufficiently flexible. If too short, the toes cannot function freely. In consequence, they may become distorted and fail to exert their proper guiding tendency. Again, if a depression tends to form in the inner sole beneath the ball, the middle metatarsals—even tho normal at first—will tend to drop lower and lower until distress appears. In consequence, calluses are likely to form.

What about high heels? The greater the angle between the heel and the ball, the more powerful will be the thrust upon the latter. The one who wears three inch spikes is almost half-way to the position of toe dancing, with the weight of the entire body sustained by the heads of the metatarsals. If this custom is continued for months or years there will be a sharp increase in our pedal difficulties. Another effect of the exaggerated heels is the permanent shortening of the muscles of the calves of the legs. No one would advocate an immediate change from a three inch elevation to ground level. While it is desirable to accomplish some lowering, the process should be gradual. A quarter of an inch less perhaps every two or three months will aid efficiency and balance.

Look at the naked foot as the leg is crossed over the knee and then stand upon it. Observe how the structure spreads and lengthens. This means that all footgear should be fitted standing—not sitting. Unfortunately, we cannot take a pair out of the shop and use them for a week or so and then return them. If we could we would have fewer symptoms. But we must realize that when the toes are forced against the sides they cannot maintain a straight position. An X-ray picture of the bones in that pose would be quite disturbing.

Some of us do not realize that pain may influence disposition—even digestion. For some curious reason we continue to punish our extremities simply because we do not take enough interest in the matter. Why should we? Because fatigue is a common sequel. The sense of tire may not be felt in the "dogs" especially altho some swelling may be present. The entire body suffers because the decrease in tone and the aching will take their toll.

Temporary relief may be obtained by soaking the feet in hot water, but no permanent amelioration will come until the cause of the disorder has been corrected. We must recall that the extremities—when they are in action—require room for expansion. This accounts for the rule that a broad toe is desirable. Should style come into the picture, purchase a width or two wider—enough to provide for free movement.

Despite the condemnation that has been uttered in many quarters against arch plates and supports, there is much to be said in their favor. True enough, they do not strengthen the muscles, but they will provide comfort if properly made and adjusted. Thereafter suitable exercises—such as grasping marbles with the toes—will be of value. Alternating hot and cold baths are advised.

Yes, this affliction is prevalent and some have estimated that 90 per cent of our lady friends are actual or potential victims. Most shoes are built correctly [heels excepted]. But trouble comes when we crowd a number six into a size five housing.

OVERWEIGHT CHILD.

M. T. writes: My 12 year old daughter weighs 160 pounds. Her weight gain averages four pounds a month. Should something be done about her condition?

REPLY.

Yes! Fifty pounds a year is an overdose. No doubt this is due to some glandular disturbance. Have her examined by a competent physician.

CUT UVULA.

R. O. writes:

1. Is it possible for a cut uvula to grow back again?
2. Can a missing uvula be replaced with an artificial one?

DAMP HANDSHAKE.

G. S. writes: In my work I must shake hands with many individuals. My hands perspire a lot and are clammy. Is there anything I can do about this?

REPLY.

This is usually due to nervousness. Develop poise. A solution of aluminum chloride will be helpful.

MORE ABOUT PICASSO.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—As I listened to the guide explaining the Picasso paintings on exhibit at the Art institute I found myself wondering whether Van Gogh or even Van Loon ever considered it necessary to have a corps of interpreters accompany their works. And I wondered whether art that needed explaining was art at all—or were these Picasso pictures merely framed outlines on which a fuller man would have built subtleties in form and color to make understandable art. Picasso and his kind, it seems to me, have gone as far as the skeleton stage and stopped. Their drawings are elemental, like the lines and circles on the first pages of any instruction book. That Picasso has given movement to these lines and circles does not make them finished works of art, however. For they still are as incommunicative as a dead traffic signal. Nor has color, as used by Picasso, any meaning. I don't especially cry for spittin' images, nor do I speak for the masses, but I would like to see an artist who is wise enough and kind enough [kindness is beginning to seem an art, too] to talk my language.

PROPAGANDISTS AND DEBTS.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—I wish to congratulate your paper for the article of Feb. 18 together with the pictures of the nine British propagandists now lecturing here.

I would like to tell these propagandists what the vast majority of Americans are interested in now and for the last 10 years is to know when England is going to begin paying on the 5 billion war debt owed to America.

If our representatives in Washington would only do what the people want, pressure would be used to collect these debts, or else seize all the islands of our Atlantic coast as a part payment. A foreclosure on these British possessions off our coast is the only course if they do not pay.

J. H. M.

DENTISTS' SHINGLES.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—Why should the state attempt to remove "dentists' shingles," as reported in THE TRIBUNE? Neglect of the teeth is prevalent, especially among school children. Surely these signs have as much right to be displayed as ordinary trade signs.

DR. E. F. GOLDTHROP.

VESTIGIAL REMINDER.

Niles Center, Ill., Feb. 22.—I. Z. George Jaworowski, who complains that Chicago has no Crawford avenue, will journey north to that district west of Evanston, he will find Crawford avenue at 4000 west traversing the length of Niles Center, the town that never changed a name.

RIDGEVIEWITE.

CONFUCIUS SAID.

Dubuque, Ia., Feb. 18.—Those who have reduced Confucius to an illiterate wiseacre speaking an impossible variety of pigeon English would perhaps hardly care to know what Kung Tse [the Master Kung] really said. He is the great master of the common-sense view of life.

Kung Tse said: "Self-perfection and virtue: these contain all. As soon as one wishes virtue, one has virtue. I have seen no one who loved virtue as much as feminine beauty. These things are needed for the prosperity of a state: an army, sufficient food, and the confidence of the people in the government."

At the end of 73 years of service [478 B. C.] the Master summarized his own life: "At 15 I devoted myself to learning. At 30 I stood firm. At 40 I no longer doubted. At 50 I knew the law of Heaven. At 60 my ears were opened. At 70 I could do what I wished without violating the law of moderation."

HERMANN S. FICKE.

A BONUS, NOT A RAISE.

Racine, Wis., Feb. 20.—The article in THE TRIBUNE of Feb. 15, "Westinghouse Workers' Wages Boosted 10 Per Cent," is poor publicity because of the way the article is headed.

We are closely affiliated with Westinghouse and one of their men occupies office space in our plant. The wages are not boosted 10 per cent, and this heading puts the wrong flavor in the mind of employés, not particularly in my plant, but in the country at large. Too much use of flagrant adjectives and misrepresentation of fact, either deliberate or indeliberate, has caused consternation to arise in the minds of those who might be affected.

They actually got a bonus and not an increase in workers' wages.

I subscribe to THE TRIBUNE, and I am with you; I just thought you would accept this in the spirit in which it is written.

FRANK YOUNG,
President, Young Radiator Company.

WHY THERE IS NO WAR BOOM.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Doesn't the naive writer of the editorial "Why There Is No War Boom" know that stock prices are below the 1936 levels because the allies are in the process of liquidating several billion dollars' worth of stocks?

JOSEPH E. DICKMAN.

A BROKEN CONTRACT.

Highland, Park, Ill., Feb. 23.—In the last five months I entered into a number of contracts with the postoffice department, which were not kept. I paid money to the department to transport letters and packages to Germany, but the department did not see that they reached the place to which they were addressed.

I see from the unewspapers that, in a most shameful manner, the mail was handed to enemies of the state to which they are addressed, and my letters were subjected to censorship and to whatever the pleasure of these people was.

Inasmuch as Mr. Farley is unable to fulfill his contract, I ask him to please return my letters. Rather than have my most personal messages beyond my control I prefer to have them here. I also assume that he will refund the money I paid in good faith and excuse himself for the clumsy handling of my affairs.

HUGO HARTNAK.

SALE OF ESTATE PROPERTY.

Chicago, Feb. 22 [Legal Friend of the People].—My mother died five years ago leaving a will, willing equal shares to each of four sons and four daughters. There was no money but there is a six room cottage which one of the sons is now living in.

1. Do we have to probate the will?
2. Can you tell us the amount of cost to probate the will?
3. How can we give this brother who is living in the cottage the ownership?
4. Father is dead eight years.

J. P.

1. Probate would be necessary in order to produce a readily salable title to real estate.
2. Depends largely on the attorney whom you employ.
3. Yes.
4. In view of this lapse of time, possible claims against the estate would be barred by limitation and you might find a purchaser who would be satisfied with affidavits setting up the facts as to heirship or you might put thru a statutory proof of heirship, which is simpler than complete probate. We advise you to employ an attorney.

How Our States Got Their Names

44. VIRGINIA.

Virginia was named by Queen Elizabeth, England's virgin queen, in commemoration of the fact that she was unmarried. The name is said to have been proposed by Sir Walter Raleigh. Virginia was one of the original states.

Virginia state seal. Virtus, dressed as Amazon, stands over the prostrate form of Tyranny, a fallen crown nearby. Below is the state motto.

Virginia's nicknames include the Ancient Dominion, the Cavalier State, the Mother of Statesmen or Mother of Presidents, the Mother of States, and the Old Dominion. The dominion names refer to the fact that in the 17th century Charles II. of England gave the Colony of Virginia dominion rank. The Cavalier nickname refers to Virginia's settlement by the cavaliers. Since the original Virginia territory was split into all or part of seven other states, Virginia is known as the Mother of States. The other mother cognomens refer to the number of Presidents and other statesmen she has given the country.

Virginia's motto is "Sic Semper Tyrannis" [Thus Ever to Tyrants]. The state flower is the American dogwood.

SENATE SLASHES HOPKINS' BRAIN TRUST SALARIES

Refuses to Stop Pay of Envoy to Soviet.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—A Republican attempt to repudiate the communist Russian régime by withholding funds for the salary of the American ambassador to Moscow was defeated without a record vote in the senate today.

Senator Henry C. Lodge Jr.

Republicans, however, were successful in their fight to eliminate from the 107 million dollar appropriation bill for the state, justice, and commerce departments an item of $162,000 for the maintenance of a private brain trust for Harry L. Hopkins, secretary of commerce. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. [R., Mass.] led the fight to strike out the Hopkins brain trust appropriation, which the house had rejected and the senate appropriations committee had restored. The committee amendment restoring the funds was defeated by a vote of 38 to 25.

Hits Interparliamentary Junket.

The administration leadership sustained a second defeat when the senate eliminated, by a vote of 43 to 27, an appropriation of $20,000 for the annual congressional junket to the meeting, at some European capital, of the Interparliamentary union. This was a severe blow to President Roosevelt's "Dear Alben" Barkley [D., Ky.], the majority leader who is president of the American section of the union and for the last 20 years has made almost annual trips to Europe at the taxpayers' expense.

Barkley made a vigorous appeal for the $20,000 appropriation, seriously urging that the Interparliamentary union has made contributions to the peace of the world. Senator Alva B. Adams [D., Colo.], a member of the appropriations committee, opposed the appropriation but conceded that the trips are junkets for members of congress chosen each year.

Seek to Recall Ambassador.

Senator Lodge and Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] led the fight to eliminate from the state department appropriation the item of $17,500 for the salary of Laurence Steinhardt, ambassador to Moscow. Senator Lodge said it would leave the Moscow embassy staff intact, under a chargé d'affaires, but put Moscow on the same footing as Berlin, from which the American ambassador, Hugh Wilson, was recalled in 1938.

Senator Vandenberg assailed the recognition of soviet Russia by President Roosevelt, in 1933, as a blunder which could be corrected only by suspending diplomatic relations with the Stalinist régime. The recognition of Russia, he recalled, was conditioned upon the fulfillment of promises made to Mr. Roosevelt by Maxim Litvinoff, then soviet commissar for foreign affairs, to negotiate the settlement of Russia's debt of almost 400 million dollars and to restrain communist agents from conducting subversive activities in this country.

Agreement Violated, He Says.

"The contract," said Senator Vandenberg, "was made in 1933. It was broken in the first instance within 60 days after it was made. It was broken again directly and specifically within two years to a degree which called for a protest from our own state department, which in turn was spurned by Moscow.

"It has since been broken in innumerable instances as set forth in great detail by the report of the house committee on un-American activities. There is no contract any longer in existence, and the fruits of the contract should no longer inure to the U. S. S. R."

Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] called the senate's attention to a precedent for the course of action proposed by Senators Lodge and Vandenberg. When President Jefferson sent to the senate the name of William Short, as minister to Russia, congress, not wishing to have a minister to Russia, refused to make an appropriation and Mr. Short stayed at home, Clark said.

Majority Leader Barkley, Senator George Norris [Ind., Neb.], and others argued that the question of maintaining diplomatic relations with a foreign country is an executive prerogative.

VINCI GETS VOTE FRAUD AND DEATH CASES DEFERRED

Joseph Vinci, a key figure in the 11th ward vote fraud case, appeared yesterday in two courts and obtained continuances in both. Vinci, with Sam Orlando, Democratic precinct leader of the 52d precinct, appeared before Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court on a motion to quash new indictments returned against them for vote fraud. The hearing was continued until Thursday. Both men were acquitted in the jury fix case of last December. Six co-defendants are named with them in the new indictments.

Vinci and a friend, Gus Alex, then appeared before Judge Joseph Drucker in Felony court on charges of manslaughter in connection with the hit and run death last Friday of Adam Zabielski, 65 years old, of 5256 South Kenneth avenue. He was struck by an automobile at Archer and Kostner avenues.

Judge Drucker continued to March 12 hearings on the manslaughter charges against both men and on the five charges involving vehicle law infractions against Alex.

JUDGE ORDERED TO DEFEND SHAW TRACTION POST

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson was directed yesterday by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals to show cause by March 19 why a writ of mandamus should not be issued to set aside his appointment of Walter A. Shaw as his traction adviser.

The court order was issued following a petition last week on behalf of three surface lines' bondholders seeking to have Shaw dismissed. The holders, owning $16,000 of bonds, were represented by Attorney Charles P. Schwartz. The petition also sought an order directing Judge Wilkerson to approve a reorganization of the surface lines on the basis of a court sale held in 1936, and the right to intervene in the traction proceedings before Judge Wilkerson.

Attorney Schwartz last month in the district court was denied the right to intervene in the proceedings. The denial was made by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe, in the absence of Judge Wilkerson, who was in California. Shaw was appointed in 1937 to plan a merger of the elevated and surface lines. He has received $60,000 personally and $160,000 for staff and legal expenses since that time.

MASSEY TO PLAY LINCOLN ROLE ON W-G-N PROGRAM

Presidential Years to Be Portrayed Sunday.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Raymond Massey will be starred in a special radio play, "Lincoln, the President," over W-G-N and the coast to coast network of the Mutual Broadcasting system next Sunday. The play will be heard on the Fifth Row Center program from 5 to 5:30 o'clock.

Raymond Massey.

Mr. Massey is now playing in "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" at the Grand Opera house. In this play he portrays Lincoln up to his departure for Washington after his election. In "Lincoln, the President," he will portray Lincoln in the White House. The period just prior to the address at Gettysburg will provide the climax for the play, written by Tanyah Corday, Chicago playwright.

Original music in the spirit and tempo of the 1860's will be presented by the W-G-N orchestra under the direction of Harold Stokes.

Of Early American Stock.

Altho a Canadian, Raymond Massey comes of early American stock and feels a real kinship to Lincoln. Geoffrey Massey, the first of the family to come to America, landed in Salem, Mass., in 1629. Eight years later Lincoln's forbears landed at the same place. Two cousins of Massey fought on the side of the Union during the civil war; one with the confederacy. Another forbear served as aide-de-camp to the Marquis de Lafayette during the revolutionary war.

Raymond Massey fought in the world war, coming out as a captain in the Canadian field artillery. He was wounded at Ypres.

Explains His Interpretation.

His interpretation of Lincoln, Mr. Massey explained yesterday, is based on his own idea of Lincoln, rather than on the testimony of persons who knew the civil war President.

Every performance, said Mr. Massey, has had some special emphasis because of the news of the day or the reaction of the audience to give it new meaning and significance. To the millions who have not heard him, his radio performance on Sunday promises to be a moving experience.

FATHER AWARDED BABIES IN FIGHT WITH A HOSPITAL

Rochester, Ind., Feb. 26 [Special].—Judge Robert Miller today granted Herman Denton custody of his three month old twins, Jackie Ray and Julia Kay, after a hearing on a habeas corpus petition which he filed on Saturday against Mrs. Faye Swihart and Mrs. M. H. Gruelach, Woodlawn hospital officials. The twins were born in the hospital. Denton charged that hospital and county probation officers were holding the babies against his wishes. Judge Miller made his ruling after investigators reported that the other six children in the Denton home were robust, clean, and adequately dressed. Denton said that he would take the twins from the hospital to his tenant farm home southeast of this city tomorrow and put them in the care of their own mother.

FIND INSECTICIDE USED AS FLOUR CAUSED DEATH

A mistake which resulted in the use of an insecticide instead of flour in frying liver was blamed yesterday for the death on Saturday night of William Reckrodt, 49 years old, 1111 West 90th street, and the illness of three others in the family.

Paul Krueger, chief sanitary officer of the health department, who investigated the possibility the liver had been tainted, reported to the board of health that cans of flour and of sodium fluoride sat side by side on the kitchen shelf of the Reckrodt home. Mrs. Marie Wassom, 26, Reckrodt's niece, said she used the one which, Krueger found, contained the insecticide. Mrs. Wassom; her son, Edward, 2, and Reckrodt's father, John, 83, also became ill, but recovered. Mrs. Wassom's father, Hans Biederman, owner of a delicatessan at 7102 South Racine avenue, who supplied the liver, said he and a dozen other customers had eaten it with no ill effects.

The Southwest Claims a Share of Sun Seekers

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE seem to be as many going west as south to escape the last of Chicago's winter. Perhaps the persistent reports of chilly Florida weather have increased the numbers westward bound, but many of these travelers are those who return to Arizona or California year after year.

The junior Denis E. Sullivans and young Wrigley Sullivan, the William O. Hunts and young Peter, and Mrs. John W. Brittingham have gone to Phoenix for six weeks. The Hunts and the Sullivans have taken a cottage on the grounds of the Arizona Biltmore. Mrs. Brittingham is staying at the hotel, where she will be joined later by her mother, Mrs. Charles C. Fitzmorris.

The Charles Y. Freemans, who have been in Tucson, Ariz., are planning to return to Chicago late this week. Also in Tucson are Gen. and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes and the Willett N. Gorhams and their young son.

Mrs. Elisha Dyer Hubbard At Ranch in Arizona

Mrs. Elisha Dyer Hubbard and her two children are at El Rancho Robles, at Oracle, Ariz., instead of in Palm Beach, where the former Muriel McCormick usually spends the winters.

Mrs. Charles Butland has left for Castle Hot Springs, Ariz., to join Miss Jane Cummings and the latter's mother, Mrs. John Cummings. The Orville J. Taylors are leaving on Friday for Phoenix. They are taking a train and shipping their car ahead. After a few weeks of Arizona sunshine they will motor to Los Angeles and San Francisco before returning home.

The Morris L. Johnstons have decided to stay in Phoenix until June 1, when Mr. Johnston will be completely recovered from an accident in which he broke his arm.

The Byron S. Harveys will leave about March 7 to spend two or three weeks in Death Valley, Cal.

Miss Gwethalyn Jones has returned to her home, Pepper Hill, in Montecito, Cal., for the rest of the winter. Joseph T. Ryerson left last week for Santa Barbara to join his wife and their young daughter, Ellen, at their California home. The Ryersons may go to Florida for Easter if their subdeb daughter, Anne, a student at St. Timothy's, can join them.

Gen. and Mrs. Robert E. Wood plan to end their winter holiday travels in Houston, Tex., from which they will return the middle of April. Their daughter, Mrs. William S. Farish Jr.,

Pupils Plan Cod Liver Oil Party

Miss Jane Pritchard (left) and Miss Nancy Sollitt will take part in a cod liver oil party the girls' activities committee of the Evanston High school will give on March 9 at the Country Club of Evanston. The party, a bridge, tea, and fashion show is sponsored by the Evanston Infant Welfare society. Miss Pritchard is chairman of the benefit.

Blames School, Home for State Hospital Jams

BY BETTY BROWNING.

Public education has shirked its responsibility toward the mentally deficient, Rodney H. Brandon, member of the state board of public welfare and former state director of public welfare, told members of the Chicago Woman's club yesterday. He addressed an all day meeting at which heads of state institutions also spoke.

"Educators think only of teaching the thinkers. They don't want to bother with the 15 per cent whose minds are academically unadjusted," Mr. Brandon declared. "We shall need ditch diggers in 1960, and every one knows that a man whose mind is full of ideas does not make a good ditch digger. But the man who might make a good ditch digger is ignored by our educational system."

Asserting that there has been a 1,000 per cent increase in the number of persons in institutions for the mentally deficient in the last 50 years, Mr. Brandon declared that the institutions are crowded with persons who are "socially unsatisfactory" rather than with the "imbeciles" for whom they were planned. He said that institutions are now housing types that formerly were cared for by their families.

"Continue with the present program and you'll have scores of institutions—taxes that will break your back," Mr. Brandon warned.

The principal need at present is to parole all possible inmates of institutions for the mentally deficient, Mr. Brandon emphasized.

The Housewife

Here's a suggestion for a really charming gift for that friend of yours who has just about everything already and is therefore difficult to please. It's a beautiful quilted satin protector for the tops of dinner and evening gowns. It slips on over a hanger which comes with it, and here's the clever feature: The quilted satin is made with a zipper opening into which you place your friend's favorite sachet fragrance. There is also room for the accessories worn with the gown—silk hose, chiffon hanky or scarf, so she'll have everything assembled.—E. W.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

The Typical Hollywood Male.

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 26.—In the first place, he does not live in Hollywood, but rents or owns a home in Beverly Hills, Brentwood, Belair, the Encino valley, or has a residence in the hills above Sunset boulevard. He is between 30 and 40 years old and comes from the vast area east of St. Louis. Politically, he is a liberal. His chief fear of foreign entanglements is that Munich convinced him that Europe is more concerned with boundaries than morals. Buttressing that is the conviction that at any continental dinner party, Uncle Sam always gets stuck with the check.

He has met so many glib fakers occupying high places in the movie studios that his distrust and skepticism of all people in high places has been sharpened. He is married and has two children, who attend public school, and he will tell you firmly that the California public schools are better than eastern private schools. Because of the gamble in the movies, the preparation of which is predicated on a take-a-chance theory, he will gamble on pretty nearly everything, horses, dice, cards, backgammon. Invariably he loses. He is a good loser.

He will tell you that Walt Disney is the No. 1 creative force of Hollywood. His favorite performers are Charlie Chaplin, Spencer Tracy, and Bette Davis. The directors who impress him most as superlative craftsmen are Frank Capra, Leo McCarey, and John Ford, in that order. He will tell you truthfully that the technicians of Hollywood are the truest artists of the industry.

He goes to a night club once every few weeks; dines out every Thursday night because that is the help's night off. His favorite eating places are Chasen's, House of Murphy. His wife prefers Ciro's, the Beachcombers. She wants Chinese food or French food. He wants an eastern cut steak. He owns a car in the $2,000 class, and generally has a smaller car for household use.

He owns a dog, a piano, a radio, is a member of a golf or tennis club and prefers scotch or beer. Once a month he and his wife give a party, sitdown or buffet, that starts at 8 p. m. and breaks up a little before midnight.

He is sharper, mentally, than the average American and I think more amusing company because he is a better story teller. He is more selfish, too; selfish of his own comforts and wishes. The nervous stress under which he maintains his professional niche has its effect on him. Once a year he takes the children to Santa Claus lane and lets them see Santa Claus ride on a float with movie celebs.

Despite his best impulses, he finds himself laughing a little too eagerly, as Moss Hart phrases it, at the jokes of L. B. Mayer or Darryl Zanuck. He finds himself a little too flattered when the Hollywood big shots invite him to their parties or arrive at his. Back home, if the boss invited him to a party, he'd think nothing of his natural pleasure at such an invitation; out here, for some reason, you are not supposed to be flattered by such an invite. It's silly but it's Hollywood!

He rarely goes to Los Angeles, 15 miles away, unless a New York show is playing there. He goes once a year to Palm Springs, once a year to Arrowhead, once a year to Monterey, once a year to the east. Each morning the Hollywood Reporter and Variety are delivered to his doorstep and he reads the picture reviews, the gossip and trade news. If the review of a picture is excellent, he reasons that the trade paper praised it because of the promise of advertisments. For exercise he prefers golf, tennis, bowling, or bicycling. He would rather not wear a dinner jacket.

If he is an actor, forever mentally he is flirting with the idea of going back to the stage to do a play. If he is a writer, he is forever promising himself that tomorrow he will start writing a book. This is because he is reproaching himself constantly, in the name of ambition, for his pleasure with this softer life in a softer climate. Having come to Hollywood with a sense of superiority to the movies, he is alarmed deeply when he finds himself becoming convinced that the movies are a greater and more important medium than the stage, which spawned him. Having come to Hollywood with a sneering attitude toward California's climate, he finds himself perturbed by the fact that the state has exercised its mellifluous charms. He never quite shakes off these reproaches; never is quite happy when he should be most happy.

Eureka, Girls! Here's a Slip That Stays Put

BY REA SEEGER.

The few untroubled souls who haven't struggled with a slip that didn't fit can be numbered on fewer than five fingers. There isn't any similar sensation except a straitjacket.

Finally something has been done about it: A whizz of a dressmaker fitted, cut, and seamed till a trouble proof model was created. The slips fit, no matter how you jitter. The slips stay around the body, no matter how you wiggle, no matter how active your daily routine. It's the seaming, the bias cut to the back panel, the uncompromising vertical line of the front panel.

Two types of these marvels are obtainable, the all purpose dress slip with the usual outline around the top, and the fishbowl slip for sheer blouses and for suits. The visible top is decorated with fine lace, some have ribbon laced thru beading for extra eye lure. Some have ruffles of lace around the hem, also with satin ribbon.

Sleek tailored affairs have simple fagoting or just smooth, fine hemwork. All of them go with the bodylines, none work upward, twist, or pull. Even the shoulder straps have a decided way of staying where they belong and that's something of staggering significance. Such a quality will not be missed either by wearer or spectators.

Satin and silk crepe slips come in the delicate lacy models as well as the primly tailored affairs, in snowy white and dainty shell pink, with both the camisole and lingerie tops. Novelty taffeta slips in this same superfitting model come in seven street shades, with narrow flounces of the taffeta or with the clever snip hem, red, blue, gray, brown, black, etc.

The snip hems are the easiest things in the fashion world to date: Three hemstitched horizontal bands. Decide upon the required length, snip thru the hemstitching and the picot edge remains, a perfect finish for the hemline of the exactly measured length of the slip. Any of these new slips are yours for a price around $3. This same fitted model is also available in evening slips.

Whorf Offers Fine Show of Water Colors

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

A stunning show of recent water colors by John Whorf has opened at the O'Brien galleries, 820 North Michigan avenue. Paintings of boats and men at sea have long caused Mr. Whorf to be reckoned as a second Winslow Homer.

Mr. Whorf has the same magic that Homer had when it comes to painting men in slickers, waves that are running high, boats with their sails, tall masts and wet decks.

There are several water colors of this Winslow Homer pattern in the present show, but the exhibit by no means stops there. Mr. Whorf is equally at home on a duck marsh or a trout stream; looking up a snowy street or scaling a snowbank in a forest of birch. He is at home in countryside and town. His group of paintings take us to all those places and more.

An interior, "The Grey Room," is one of the most charming incidents in the show. "Salt Hay" is a magnificent painting of a team of horses and a wagon being loaded with hay from the low-lying fields of Maine. The "Maine Woods" is gorgeous and nothing more beautiful has come our way in years than the slice of snowbank with the birch trunks, "Winter Woodland."

"Open Race" is a stunning picture of a boat. "Gunner in the Marshes" will make you look twice; "Sea Fog" and "The Blizzard" are startlingly fine interpretations of weather.

An exhibit of portraits by Nan Rice at the Tudor gallery, Chicago Woman's club, is a pleasurable affair. Mrs. Rice paints with a sure touch and a competence which are rather refreshing. Her hint of old fashioned days in several of the portraits of little girls is delightful.

The Chicago Society of Artists has an entertaining exhibit of water colors at the America Fore gallery, 830 Rush street. Frances Foy shows the most beautiful of the pictures, a still life of dahlias. A. Raymond Katz is clever and amusing [even to the frame] in "Medley of Old Fashioned Tunes." Ethel Spears gives us two vivacious winter scenes and Irene Bianucci two exquisite drawings.

The Ten, a group of artists most of whom are represented in the Chicago Society of Artists water color show, are exhibiting at the Marshall Field gallery. The exhibit is not particularly interesting. Aside from a portrait by Frances Foy, it has little which will gain by mention.

These "Ten" will have to be more vividly different if their annual show is not to degenerate into a commonplace affair with practically no reason for being.

Chicago-Is-a-Friendly-City Note.

A few days ago Leslie Edgley, whose first novel, No Birds Sing, was out last week, received some snapshots from the developing department of a Chicago mail order house. Inclosed with the snapshots was a scribbled note:

Congratulations on your novel.

Author's Thrill.

Mr. Edgley's novel went on sale last Monday. That morning at 11:30 o'clock the author was in Field's on the third floor, waiting for an empty telephone booth, when he noticed a young man engrossed in a book. It was No Birds Sing, and Edgley watched him, charmed, because the reader obviously was charmed; because he was on the last chapter; because his eyes raced from page to page, and because when he dropped his gloves he fished for them blindly, not lifting his eyes from the book.

When Author Edgley came out of the telephone booth the young man was gone.

"Immediately I was sorry I had not gone up to him and wrung his hand," said Edgley. "He has haunted me ever since. Who was he? Where had he learned about the book. (The Chicago reviews weren't out until Wednesday.) Why did he come to the department store to finish reading it within three hours after the book went on sale? Do you think I ought to put an ad in the agony column?"

Well, we'll see if any of the scouts can identify him, Author Edgley.

Cuff Notes.

The Architects' ball already seems as long ago as last year, but members of the committee are still trying to find out who took the headlights and radiator cap off the early model Ford that was used in the pageant. The owner who lent the car wants the original parts back. . . . Dr. Annette Washburn, who was entertained by old friends in Chicago over the week-end, calls her house in Madison, Wis., Redside Manor. . . . Incongruity: The large, expensive limousine with a Florida license and a Miami Beach name plate parked on Michigan boulevard, its sleek, blue hood polka dotted with snowflakes. . . . "Was interested in your obituary of the cane man," bulletins a reader. "I wonder if the rumor that used to persist about him is true—that he was a government man posted at Quincy and Dearborn to watch the entrance to the postoffice." . . . A customer at a north side book store asked for "Ten Minutes in China." She wanted, of course, Moment in Peking. . . . And another inquired for "Purple Hyacinth" when she wanted Black Narcissus.

On the House

Sometimes in winter the rooms of a house or apartment can be so charged with static electricity that considerable annoyance is experienced by family and friends. It is likely the air in such rooms is very dry. Adequate humidification would stop "shocking" people, since humidified air allows static electricity to dissipate. LOUISE BARGELT.

SYNOPSIS.

On the eve of her marriage to Michael Alloway, Cynthia is wrongly sentenced to prison, the scapegoat of Rory Clarke. Michael knows nothing about it, as Cynthia has given the name of Clara Brown when arrested as Clarke's accomplice in a roadhouse robbery and murder. At prison, Bessie, Cynthia's friend, is wardress and changes places with her so she can marry Michael without him knowing of her disgrace. After the honeymoon Michael returns to his job in Malta and leaves her with his mother and sister, whereupon Cynthia returns to prison, but soon discovers she is going to have a baby. She escapes from prison and goes back to Michael's family. Clarke blackmails her, and Scotland Yard gets suspicious and arrests her as she attempts to fly to Malta to join Michael. Her marriage date, when Clara Brown was supposed to be in prison, clears her, but Marion, Michael's sister, becomes suspicious when she discovers that Bessie [who has left the employment of the prison to work for Marion], has sent a message of warning to Cynthia. Bessie is forced to explain to Marion. Clarke attempts to blackmail Marion while she is staying in Cynthia's London flat. The police trail him to her flat, but he escapes, using Marion as a shield. Cynthia and Michael return to London with their newborn son and Clarke attempts to blackmail her again. Michael, feeling sure it is mistaken identity, notifies Scotland Yard, who, hoping to trap Cynthia as well as Clarke, tell her to get the money from the bank to pay off the blackmailer. The Alloway family attend the theater and Clarke kidnaps Marion during the intermission. Realizing he is vain, Marion uses his egotism as her trump card in trying to talk him out of hurting Cynthia further. He lets her return home after she promises to pay him money to leave England and agrees to drop the whole matter if she keeps her promise. Clarke extorts money from Cynthia on threat of kidnaping her baby, in spite of his agreement with Marion. Marion, not knowing of his extortion, meets him for tea and finds he is in the guise of a woman.

INSTALMENT XLIV.

TEA FOR TWO.

The waitress brought the tea and toast.

"Ha! You've caught me out," Rory said. "I haven't rehearsed eating and drinking in this makeup. I've got the wrong stuff on my lips. It may run if I get it near the tea. Pour half a cup only. I think I'd better clear out before the waitress comes back."

It was a reminder that they had met for a special purpose.

"I have your hundred pounds," she said in an undertone, and reached for her bag.

"Don't touch it," he warned. "There were no detectives here when I came in, but one must not present a suspicious outline. Put your bag next to mine and leave it to me."

She moved the bag. While she was pouring out tea, he deftly transferred the packet from her bag to his.

"That is the first time in my life I have taken money from anybody without hating myself," he said.

She was able to believe it because she wanted to believe it. Stuffed into his bag were the proceeds of five years' savings from her dress allowance. It was her little nest egg against the remote contingency of having to meet the expenses of a trousseau, but she did not grudge it.

"Wherever you are, and whatever happens to you," she began—she wanted to stop, but felt she must go on—"it may help you to know that I shall go on believing that you might have been something fine."

"If I stay, I shall do something foolish," he said. "For your sake, as well as mine, I'd better go. I won't try and say thank you—it would be silly."

He rose and picked up his bag, not for a moment forgetting his character.

"You have given me back something I thought I had lost forever—good-by, Marion," he said, and fluttered out of the tearoom.

When he had gone, that ridiculous feminine image of him vanished. In fancy she saw again the boy's face smiling from the cricket group.

Marion lingered over her tea, lost in thought of the might-have-been. She was still a little other-worldly when she returned to the Gulverbury and went to her mother's room.

"Ah, there you are, dear! Let me see what they've done to your hair," said Mrs. Alloway.

Marion removed her hat and caught sight of Bessie, half in cupboard, signaling to her. In a few minutes she went to her own room, where she was almost immediately joined by Bessie.

"You don't know what's happened, do you, miss?" said Bessie excitedly. "Well, Clarke's been here and he's taken that money from Miss Cynthia—Mrs. Michael."

"Impossible!" Marion laughed—a laugh of genuine amusement, for she thought Bessie had got hold of some absurd rumor.

"It was very nearly impossible, miss, but he did it and got away by the fire escape. Of course Mrs. Michael called the police at once and they were all in about and I had a job to keep it from Mrs. Alloway. And then, about half an hour ago, that Detective Inspector Rason came here and he and Mrs. Michael and Mr. Alloway, who'd just got back from the office, all went around to Scotland Yard."

Marion scarcely heard the last.

"What time did Clarke come here?" she demanded. And then, repeated her own question: "What time did he take the 200 pounds from Mrs. Michael?"

"As nearly as I can make out, about half past two, miss."

"O!" ejaculated Marion, and then fell in a faint on the bed.

It was several seconds before Bessie realized she had fainted.

Bessie, as a wardress, had served a course in first aid. In a couple of minutes Marion was opening her eyes and she said:

"Bigglesued."

Bessie stared.

"You'll be all right in a minute, miss," she said.

"Bigglesued is the name and 96 is the number," asserted Marion. "But that's all I know. Within a few yards of that shop, wherever it is, is where Clarke lives. Get a telephone book, Bessie."

And as Bessie still stared:

"I've been made a fool of, Bessie. Get that telephone book quickly, there's a good girl."

. . . . . .

Cynthia had at first refused the request to accompany Rason to Scotland Yard. There had been nothing peremptory in his words—he had politely insisted that the chief commissioner earnestly hoped that she would give him the benefit of her help. And in the end it was Michael himself who had prevailed upon her to consent, insisting, however, that he should himself be present.

For Cynthia that was the most damaging condition. She still believed that her position was legally unassailable—that in no circumstances could the police prove anything against her, given that Bessie stood firm, as she was sure Bessie would.

After a brief delay in Rason's room, they were taken to the chief commissioner. The very sight of him gave Cynthia new confidence. Last time they had met, she had scored a complete triumph, thanks to Sir William Merrowbridge.

In front of the chief commissioner were spread out a number of dossiers and loose sheets of paper.

"We didn't like to trouble you while you were in Malta, Mrs. Alloway," said the commissioner quite easily, with something approaching deference. "There are a number of loose ends left over from"—he smiled, as if against himself—"our last meeting here. You would help us a good deal if you would tell us what you did between leaving the Parnassus hotel at the conclusion of your honeymoon—when you discovered that you had appendicitis—and the time when you went to Cloutleigh manor before going to Malta."

"You'll excuse me, sir," put in Michael. "But we do resent the way these inquiries have been made about my wife. Only this morning her friend, Dr. Treadgrove, revealed that the police had been troubling him. What possible interest can there be in her movements?"

"That's a fair question, Mr. Alloway," said the chief commissioner. "Officially speaking—as opposed to what we may think as private individuals—we have never established satisfactorily your wife's identity. Officially, we are not yet satisfied that she has not lived under the alias of Clara Brown and that she was not in fact an associate of Rory Clarke, who escaped from prison."

Michael bristled.

"But, surely, I thought the date of our marriage disposed of that."

"Not completely, Mr. Alloway. I really don't think we need discuss the theory of the matter. Let me put it this way. If Mrs. Alloway is innocent, what possible objection can there be to spending three minutes telling me where she was for, roughly, two and a half months last autumn? I want to know where she was between leaving you at the Parnassus and arriving at Cloutleigh manor."

Duff Cooper Asserts Empires Will Win by Control of the Seas

"We are living in a dangerous world, in the most terrifying period in human history," said Alfred Duff Cooper in an address before seven hundred members and guests of the Woman's Athletic club yesterday morning. The former first lord of the British admiralty declared that the two great forces of the century, communism and nationalism, might have canceled each other had they not found a bond in their common hatred of liberty and religion.

If more people had read "Mein Kampf—the gospel according to St. Adolf," said Mr. Cooper, there would not now be from 70 to 80 per cent of the world's population at war.

Britain and France will win for three reasons, the statesman said: Their supremacy on the sea; the access which this supremacy gives them to raw materials, and the fact that they are fighting for a cause which they know to be just.

Doris Advises Marriage for This Couple

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Dear Miss Blake: I have been going with a girl for a year. I've given her gifts, such as jewelry, etc., and have taken her to many nice places.

"She has spoken of marriage to me. I told her I was not in a position to get married just now, or for a long while, because of financial conditions and certain obligations I have. She quickly suggested that she could work after we are married. We both have good positions. I told her I wouldn't let her sacrifice for me.

"She loves me dearly and I love her. She won't give me up no matter how I treat her. She sticks by me, no matter what.

"My problem is, Miss Blake, that I hate to give her up, yet I don't like to hurt her because she doesn't deserve it. But I feel I have no alternative. What should I do?

"ANXIOUS."

Your feelings are manly, quite understandable and all that, Mr. Anxious, but you've failed to keep abreast of the times. You are not fair, either, with yourself or your girl.

Every man and woman has a right to love and marriage. The mistake so many working married couples make, however, is that, if they have a plan for happiness they don't always stick to it.

Don't be afraid to take a chance that you and your girl can follow thru on carefully laid out plans. Work your head off for her! If she is willing to work, too, let her do it for a while, long enough for you to establish yourself well enough in business so that you can be the sole wage earner, even tho you cannot have the luxuries you could have were you both working.

Miss Barbara Kinney Bride of R. O. Lehman

Miss Barbara Kinney and Robert O. Lehman were married, after all, last Saturday, having almost decided to postpone the ceremony because the bride was just recovering from "flu."

The wedding took place at 1 o'clock at St. James Episcopal church in the presence of the immediate families. The guests included the bride's mother, Mrs. John C. Redmond, and Mr. Redmond, and the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Lehman. Mr. Lehman and his bride have left on a week's motor trip. They will live at 1200 Lake Shore drive.

When Mrs. George A. Macdonald and her daughters, Mrs. Laurence F. Killaly and Miss Anne Macdonald, return from a holiday in Pinehurst, N. C., they will complete plans for Miss Macdonald's marriage to Dr. Ian Hodge of Philadelphia. The date has been set for April 6.

The wedding will be a small one at the Winnetka Congregational church, followed by a larger reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald in Winnetka.

Mrs. Killaly will be her sister's matron of honor. Dr. Hodge and his fiancée are graduates of the University of Toronto, at which the former studied medicine. Dr. Hodge's first visit to Winnetka was at the time of the marriage of the former Mary Macdonald to Hugh F. Waddell of Peterboro, Ont. Mr. Waddell will be the best man.

Dartmouth Glee Club to Appear in City.

For the first time in three years, the Dartmouth Glee club is coming to Chicago during the spring holidays. Chicago alumni are making plans for a concert and dance on April 6 in the Gold Coast room of the Drake hotel.

Lew L. Callaway Jr. is chairman of the party, which will aid the scholarship fund. Alumni and their wives already are planning dinner or cocktail parties before the concert. The woman's committee for the dance will meet for luncheon at the Saddle and Cycle club today. Mrs. Frank S. Coffin is chairman of this committee.

Igor Stravinsky, conductor and composer who will conduct the Chicago Symphony orchestra this afternoon, will be the especial guest at tea at the Arts club from 4 o'clock.

The John B. Mordocks and their young son, John Jr., who live in Cumberland, Md., have arrived to spend a week with Mr. Mordock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Mordock, in Winnetka.

Opera Judges Listen to 39 More Candidates for Places in Chorus

Thirty-nine young men and women stood on the huge stage of the Chicago Civic Opera house yesterday and sang arias which they hope will win them places in the opera choruses next season. Two previous auditions have been held and others are scheduled for today and next Friday and Saturday.

Henry Weber, musical director of the Chicago City Opera company presided. Judges were Mrs. Walter Kirk, J. Charles Gilbert, Edward Barry, Mrs. Walter Brewster, and George Czaplicki. Three hundred singers will be auditioned and 75 voices selected from among them for the choruses. Chorus training will begin next Monday.

Problems of racialism in relationship to the religious life of Chicago were discussed yesterday at the ministers' meeting of the Chicago Church federation at the Central Y. M. C. A., 19 South La Salle street. These problems concerning attitudes toward color and race were outlined by Dr. George E. Haynes of New York. Ways of solving the Jewish question were suggested by Rabbi Louis Binstock of Temple Sholom.

"The new racialism," Dr. Haynes said, "has far deeper roots than the old conceptions of racial difference. Political forces have given a new significance to this question and have given racialism an artificial build-up which goes far beyond the actual problem."

Dr. Haynes traced the trek of the Negro from "starvation agricultural areas" to northern industrial cities and cited the social effects of segregation and resulting political and economic effects on the entire community.

Dr. Binstock said the new racialism has nothing basically to do with the Jews, who, he declared, are not a pure race. He added that while the new racialism holds a serious threat to the Jew, yet it is not really a racial matter at all but a resurgence of prejudice against anyone who might be called an alien.

Dr. Binstock urged Christian pastors to study both ancient and modern Jews. The modern Jew, he said, is a different person from the ancient Jew who is studied by Christians in the Old Testament. He warned that intolerance is destructive of democracy.

Versatile Bolero Costume

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS AND HATS.

Both youthful and more mature figures may wear with grace this bolero costume. The uses of fabric are legion for this outfit, which may be as dressy or as tailored as you like. Sketched at the left is a version with the bolero matching the dress. The neckline is V, the sash soft and crushed. Printed silks make up beautifully.

Right, a youthful version with skirt and bolero very tailored, teamed with a dotted silk blouse to contrast. Woolens make up as well as silks in this version, and linens and cottons definitely are possibilities for early summer.

One hat pattern creates the comfortable and virtually indispensable turban. The other makes a saucy Tyrolean bonnet which may be pierced with a feather, if you like. Each pattern costs 10 cents, and the numbers are 2567 and 3214.

Style No. 2646 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 1¼ yards of 39 inch material for blouse; 2 yards for skirt; 1¼ yards for short sleeved bolero; 1⅝ yards for long sleeved bolero. This pattern, too, costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Adviser Tells How to Select Child's Blocks

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

If you have followed the articles about the rich play possibilities of blocks, you've probably noticed the emphasis we've laid upon the right kind and sufficiently numerous if a child is to derive great satisfaction from them. Not any old odds and ends of blocks, few in number, will do.

Now if you have a small son or daughter who is not well supplied with blocks, you've probably wondered just what is meant by the "right kind of blocks in sufficient number."

Happily, the "block situation" is not in the deplorable state it used to be. Educators and manufacturers have put their heads together and the result has been a great improvement in output. You can buy excellent blocks for your child in a good toy store or good toy section in a department store, with the help of the toy psychologist usually in charge. Some of the kindergarten supply houses act as outlets for these carefully worked out blocks. Or you can, if the budget is misbehaving, make them yourself or have them made by a local carpenter under your directions.

Now to be more specific.

First, the bulk of the blocks will be pretty much the brick shaped ones, altho there are no hard and fast rules as to their size.

Next, it gives more possibilities to the block building if, besides the original units, there are some blocks two and four times that size, what we call double or quadruple units.

Then, as the child grows older and more skilful, shapes other than the brick may be added. You may have diagonals, that is, of course, the original unit cut diagonally in half. You may have pillars, that is, the unit cut lengthwise in half. And you may have cylinders which have to be "turned," naturally, on a lathe. Switches and curves may be added.

Boxes in which these blocks fit usually come with the set. If not, they should be managed if possible. Wheels add to the interest for the child and convenience for the mother.

Colored cubes which fit into their own box, or the kindergarten inch square wooden beads, may be added to the block supply, but usually are used separately, due to entirely different dimensions.

BY NANCY CABOT.

These attractive motifs are indicative of the most picturesque of subjects for which Holland is famous. Trim sailboats, flapping windmills, and dashing Dutch boys, coupled with demure Dutch girls, are gayly illustrated in cross-stitch and may be used for towels, nursery sets, curtains and luncheon sets. Accompanying the hot iron transfers are complete instructions for embroidering.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

Average players in the rôles of defenders seem to feel that the declarer knows their high card holdings as well as they themselves do. With their attention completely fixed on the hand in point, they forget that when they are declarer they are in the gravest doubt as to the location of aces and kings. Why, then, should they feel that the present declarer is occult? Consider the very simple defensive play made by an expert in today's hand, and compare it with the naïve tactics of average and lesser players.

The bidding:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 club* | Pass | 3 no trump | Pass |
| 3 no trump | Pass | Pass | Pass |

*North chooses his artificial club bid rather than violate no trump requirements.

West opened his fourth highest diamond. East won with the ace and returned the six. South, having no reason to win the second round, played low. West won with the jack and returned the seven, forcing declarer's king.

Declarer could count eight tricks: three in spades, three in clubs, one in diamonds, and one in hearts. It was obvious that the only place to get a ninth trick was in a favorable heart situation, so he immediately led a low heart to dummy's king.

Too many players in East's position would have gobbled up this trick with the ace, and by so doing would have thrown away the one chance to save game by forcing the declarer to a second round heart finesse. This particular East was much too expert for such an error. He played low without the slightest hesitation. Declarer now reëntered his hand with the king of clubs and led another heart. When West again played small declarer knew that he was up against a tough guess. He realized that West was not absolutely marked with the ace just because the king had held the first trick, but there was nothing to go by and, forced to a sheer guess, declarer guessed wrong. He put up the queen! This time East accepted his ace with alacrity and returned a third round of hearts to his partner's jack, whereupon the high diamond was cashed for the setting trick.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Hermingshaus of 1033 Loyola avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Ann Carol, to Robert H. Callaway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Callaway of Atlanta, Ga. The wedding will take place in March. Mr. Callaway and his bride will live in Detroit.

You Can't Be Beautiful and Walk Badly

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Walking with grace is just as important a beauty asset as the most perfectly applied makeup and the most meticulous grooming. Yet, for some unaccountable reason, a woman who is ace high when it comes to prettying herself in every other respect, fails to get a 100 per cent personal appearance rating merely because she hasn't studied the way she walks to see if she does it properly.

Stella Unger, radio commentator and author, and a woman who has an appraising eye for the strides of shopgirls and stenographers, as well as for filmland's and Broadway's stars, says:

"Most women don't know how to walk. They spend hours on end over their hair and faces, they diet and exercise to obtain and keep a figure that fashion dictates—and then they ruin the whole effect with a walk that looks like the strut of a penguin."

Altho the "strut of a penguin" is an amusing simile, it does seem to illustrate the point in question. Strangely enough, many women have the habit of walking with the toes almost at right angles, or with the clumping stride that characterizes many overbrisk business women. Others totter on heels too high for health and grace, and still others tend to walk pigeon-toed.

"There might be some excuse for older women whose legs are beginning to lose their youthful spring not to walk correctly," Miss Unger asserts, "but for young girls bursting with health there is none. They should study the technique of actresses and models, who, because of their profession, know the importance of a graceful stride."

We know that not every girl can go to a dramatic or modeling school, but there are a few simple rules she can learn for graceful walking.

Point toes straight ahead—neither out nor in. The stride may be long or short, depending entirely upon the individual build, but it should be sustained and effortless and in keeping with the appearance. Short legged girls should not try to emulate the long step of their taller sisters. Their tread always should be light and springy.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

There are two marvelous new preparations out now that should make it easy for you to have hands as soft and snowy as a princess'. They're the proud offering of an establishment devoted to the cause of keeping hands beautified and well groomed.

One is a slithery, quickly absorbed lotion for daytime use, the other a rich massage cream to be worked in before you tumble into bed at night. Both are nicely boxed as a "clock round" treatment, and for good measure their creator has tossed in a pair of washable mitts that you can pull on when you use the cream, thereby insuring that your hand skin, not the pillow, gets the benefits.

The lotion is a lovely one, and there's no reason why you shouldn't use it each time you wash your hands in the course of a day. It disappears as you rub it in, leaving the skin silky soft and delicately fragrant. You can wear gloves immediately after applying it.

The cream is one of those rich affairs, made of the kind of soothing lubricating oils all hands need in cold weather. Instructions for simple limbering massage strokes come with it, and in applying the cream you can improve hand suppleness as well as skin texture. Then pull on your mitts, which you'll find extremely comfortable.

Soft and baked custards should be taken out of the baby and invalid food category. They are prescribed for infant and invalid diets, of course, but are healthful desserts for the whole family, served by themselves or in combination. Soft custards make excellent sauces for puddings and ice creams, and baked custards may be served with a sauce—butterscotch, caramel, and chocolate being favorites.

Low temperatures always are the rule with custards. Soft ones are cooked in the top of the double boiler over hot, not boiling, water. Baked ones rest in a pan of water during their oven period. The water serves as insulation against too much heat.

Custards should be cooled quickly, once they have been cooked. If they aren't, chances are that they'll be overcooked, and may curdle or separate.

Soft or Baked Custard.
[Serves six.]
1 quart scalded milk
6 egg yolks, or 4 whole eggs
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
Nutmeg, if desired

Blend eggs with a fork, add sugar and salt, and stir constantly while adding the hot milk slowly. For soft custard, cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until the mixture will just coat a clean spoon. Flavor and chill quickly. For baked custard, pour the mixture into buttered custard cups, sprinkle with nutmeg, place cups in a pan of hot water, the water coming well up on the sides of the cups, and bake in a 325 degree oven for 30 to 40 minutes, or until an inserted knife comes out clean. Chill quickly.

Recipe amounts may be reduced proportionately to make smaller amounts of custard.

Pitted chopped dates or prunes may be added to baked custard before baking. Fruit overcomes the objection of some persons to the soft texture of custard.

A meringue torte topping is another way of dressing up a baked custard. Make it by placing these ingredients in the mixing bowl: 3 egg whites, 1 teaspoon lemon juice or vinegar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 teaspoon water, 1 cup sugar. Beat with electric beater until very stiff, and drop mixture on top of custards before baking. If you haven't an electric mixer, use a dover beater, and beat the egg whites until stiff before adding the other ingredients gradually. Beat until sugar is thoroly mixed into the meringue.

Custard with this meringue torte topping is delicious when baked in a large casserole dish.

Hull House Friends Greet Mrs. Bowen on Her 81st Birthday

Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, who celebrated her 81st birthday yesterday, went to Hull House in the morning as has been her custom for more than 40 years. There she was greeted by about 90 of her friends from the Hull House block at an open house Miss Charlotte Carr, director of the settlement, held in her apartment.

The guests were resident workers of Hull House and workers of the Immigrants' Protective league, the Juvenile Protective league, and of the United Charities, all located in the block. Six other guests were children from the nursery school who sang "Happy Birthday" to Mrs. Bowen, who has been the settlement's greatest friend since it was founded. The children shared in the five birthday cakes.

Kopp Conducts Orchestra in St. Paul Piece

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Illinois Symphony orchestra was chased out of the Blackstone theater by "Life With Father" and out of the Studebaker by "Night Must Fall." Now it is stopping for a couple of Mondays at the Great Northern, hoping that the workmen demolishing the hotel will not absentmindedly take the theater away, too.

The features of last night's program were a performance in concert form of Ravel's one act musical comedy, "The Spanish Hour," and a first Chicago presentation of Leo Kopp's "Six Sketches of St. Paul." Mr. Kopp conducted.

"The Spanish Hour" is a racy little number with a "Gil Blas" flavor. The story of the pretty wife and of her troubles with her assortment of not very bright lovers was gayly and effectively set forth by a cast which consisted of Louisa Hoe, Edward Stack, Michael Signorelli, Kenneth Morrow, and John Macdonald. As important as any of these in the presentation of Ravel's highly provocative music was the Illinois Symphony orchestra itself. It was epigrammatic and astringent when the score calls for such qualities, ingratiating and rich of texture in those few places where the composer suddenly glorifies the bawdy farce with a great burst of lyrical beauty.

The "Six Sketches of St. Paul" refer not to the apostle but to the city. Here is music which even the critics can grasp and enjoy on first hearing. It is light of touch and rich in humor and delicate sentiment. The beauty of its orchestral dress woos the ear immediately. The suite is built on such ideas as "The Lakes and the River," "Indian Mounds," and "Floor Show on Ice." The final movement—"March of the Legislators"—indicates that Minnesota possesses a lighter hearted set of politicians than any other of our sovereign states.

EFFORTS TO CURB CENSUS SNOOPER BEATEN IN HOUSE

Penalties for Not Replying Killed, Then Restored.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—A sharp protest against government snooping was voiced by the house today when it voted, 104 to 99, to cancel the penalties provided for citizens who refuse to answer certain prying questions of 120,000 census takers who will start work thruout the nation April 1. However, the vote taken when the house was sitting as a committee of the whole stood only for a short time.

Representative Ditter.

The Republican minority, which is customarily more faithful in floor attendance than the Democratic majority, put over an amendment offered by Representative J. William Ditter [R., Pa.], which nullified the census penalties.

Two hours later a record roll call vote was forced after the house whip had rounded up a large number of Democratic members. The prior action of the house was then reversed by a vote of 196 to 139, which defeated the Ditter amendment. This vote, in effect, put the penalties back into the law.

Housing Census Included.

The question came before the house when a deficiency bill totaling $90,069,139 was under consideration. One of the items in the measure was a $5,000,000 appropriation to pay for a housing census to be taken at the same time as the population census.

Another Republican motion to recommit the bill and strike out the $5,000,000 appropriation also was defeated, 196 to 137. The $90,069,139 measure containing the census fund wa sthen approved by a voice vote. It next goes to the senate.

The present law provides a fine of $100 and 60 days' imprisonment for persons refusing to answer census queries. A fine of $500 and one year's imprisonment is provided for those giving false answers. While many citizens have been haled into court for defying the enumerators, the record does not disclose that any one was ever jailed under this law.

Flooded with Protests.

Members of congress have been flooded in the last few days with letters of protest from citizens who have been informed of the intimate nature of the questions to be asked in the census. These include not only requests for information about income but inquiries about bathroom facilities, both inside and outdoors, and other matters of a personal nature.

President Roosevelt's resentment at questions about his third term intentions were pointed to by Representative Daniel A. Reed [R., N. Y.] as an example for citizens, indignant at census questions about far more personal matters, to follow.

"There is no justification for the passage of this preposterous proposal," declared Representative Dewey Short [R., Mo.]. "What difference does it make to Harry Hopkins [secretary of commerce, who directs the census], whether the bathtub in my home is used by me exclusively or shared with a friend?"

Representative Charles A. Plumley [R., Vt.] announced to the house that a farmer in his district had offered to donate a 30 acre tract for a detention camp to hold all New Englanders refusing to answer the more intimate questions.

SCHOOL OPENS FOR MANAGERS OF 1940 CENSUS

More than 100 area managers, district supervisors and assistant district supervisors for the 1940 census yesterday attended the first session of a six day training school which is being conducted in the new post-office building. The census officers are from Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, southern Wisconsin, and Illinois.

James L. Harrison, director of the school, said the course deals with problems in taking the population and agricultural census which will be started April 2. The census of business and manufacturing, started Jan. 2, is nearing completion.

The men and women attending the school will direct the activities of more than 5,000 enumerators who will make the door to door canvass in taking the census.

60 MILLIONS VOTED BY HOUSE FOR AAA TO SPEND AT ONCE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—In response to a radiogram from President Roosevelt the house voted today to make $60,000,000 of next year's agriculture fund available immediately to keep crop control checks flowing to farmers.

Members of the house appropriations committee reported that the President had approved the transaction in order to replenish the regular $500,000,000 annual benefit payment fund which has been depleted by increased farmer compliance with crop control plans.

A few minutes later they added the $60,000,000 to a $30,069,139 deficiency bill designed to meet emergency needs of various government agencies until July 1, and late in the day passed the $90,069,139 measure, which now goes to the senate.

Committee members announced that an agreement had been reached with senators that an equal amount would be deducted from the 1941 farm appropriation bill pending before the senate appropriations committee.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, asserting that the agriculture department had underestimated the number of farmers who currently would participate in the AAA programs, told the house committee that the transfer would not increase the total of $1,000,000,000 that would be appropriated for the two years.

SUPREME COURT TAKES PLEA FOR SIT STRIKE LOSS

Agrees to Rule on Claim Against Union.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The United States Supreme court today granted a review to the Apex Hosiery company of Philadelphia, in the case in which it seeks damages from the American Federation of Full Fashioned Hosiery Workers union as the result of a seven week sit down strike in 1937. A district court awarded a $711,932 judgment, but a federal Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the union could not be penalized under the anti-trust act because the evidence showed no intent to restrain interstate commerce.

The Supreme court also upheld a Minnesota law providing for the examination and confinement of any person "irresponsible for his conduct with respect to sexual matters." Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes' decision said that "we fully recognize the danger of a deprivation of due process in proceedings dealing with persons charged with insanity or, as here, with a psychopathic personality," but that no abuses had occurred and "we must assume that the Minnesota courts will protect appellant in every constitutional right he possesses."

Price Fixing Case Returned.

In a 5 to 3 decision by Justice Owen J. Roberts, the court returned to a Federal District court in Florida for adjudication on its merits, a case involving a Florida price fixing law.

This law fixed minimum prices at which citrus fruits could be bought from growers. When a group of canners sought an order restraining state officials from enforcing the law, the lower court held the act unconstitutional. But the Supreme court said the District court had no occasion to pass upon this question in the case at issue and did not do so itself.

C. I. O. Claim Overruled.

The court also held that a C. I. O. union could not press civil contempt charges against the Consolidated Edison company of New York for alleged violation of a labor board order in which a Circuit Court of Appeals had issued an enforcement decree Chief Justice Hughes' decision said that only the labor board itself could press the charges.

The court refused to review the contention of George A. Bates of Chicago that the federal treasury owed him money because dollar devaluation had transformed an apparent profit from security transactions into an actual loss of $50,416.

JACKSON DECLINES TO GIVE OPINION ON LABOR BOARD LOBBY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—Citing precedent, Attorney General Jackson refused today to advise a house committee whether the national labor relations board had violated a law designed to prevent legislative lobbying by federal agencies.

The house committee investigating the board asked Jackson for the opinion after it received evidence purporting to show that for several years board officials sought to organize opposition to a series of amendments to the Wagner act.

Jackson wrote a letter to Chairman Smith [D., Va.] in which he said that he "could not with propriety" grant the committee's request.

"Almost from the beginning of the government, my predecessors have, with great unanimity, taken the position that the statutes prescribing the duties of the attorney general do not authorize him to render opinions to the congress or to its committees or members," Jackson wrote.

1917 INJUNCTION AVERTS BAN UPON 'BIRTH OF NATION'

A ruling which forbids police interference with the showing of the motion picture "The Birth of a Nation" in Chicago theaters was made yesterday by Judge Donald S. McKinlay.

A petition filed by the Epoch Producing corporation charged the police censor board ordered the picture stopped at the Admiral theater, 3940 Lawrence avenue, Dec. 30. The petition said a permanent injunction of March 5, 1917, restraining police from interfering with display of the picture had never been dissolved.

Judge McKinlay gave the city until March 26 to file an answer. In the meantime the film can be shown.

NEW GRAND JURY INDICTS 8 IN 42D WARD VOTE QUIZ

The February grand jury took its first action yesterday in a vote fraud case. The jury returned new indictments against five members of the election board of the 15th precinct of the 42d ward and added three polls watchers of the same precinct to the list. The five first indicted were billed by the December grand jury.

The defendants added to the original group are Sam Marsala, 927 Sedgwick street, a Democratic polls watcher, and Steve Radaha, 357 Hill street, and Sam Montfore, 1007 Sedgwick street, both assistant Democratic precinct captains and polls watchers. Members of the election board reindicted are Jesse Harrison, colored, 353 West Oak street, Democratic judge; Paul McCoy, colored, 357 West Oak street, Republican judge; Thomas B. Caradine, colored, 907 Sedgwick street, Republican judge; Frank Tornabene, 1011 Sedgwick street, Democratic clerk, and Mrs. Ada Stevens, 1034 Orleans street, Republican clerk.

The new indictments charging conspiracy to alter ballots and falsify the count in the mayoral election last April 4 supersede those originally returned. Technical flaws were found in the earlier indictments. Official precinct returns gave Mayor Kelly 424 votes and his Republican opponent, Dwight H. Green, 25. A recount showed Kelly received 366 and Green 62.

BENTON STORE OWNER DIES.

Benton, Ill., Feb. 26 [Special].—Harry Glassman, 43 years old, owner of general stores in Benton, Mount Vernon, and Centralia, died at his home here early today following a paralytic stroke.

JOYRIDING COP IS CHARGED IN 2 CRASH DEATHS

Frank Hansen, 36 years old, Hazelcrest's joyriding policeman, yesterday was booked for manslaughter as a consequence of the collision at 6:10 a. m. last Wednesday when two men were killed and he and two other persons were injured at 95th and Halsted streets.

After spending four hours drinking in a tavern, Hansen, on duty as a relief night policeman on the Hazelcrest chief's night off, ran thru a red light at high speed and struck the car of William Knapp, 26, of 9963 Edbrooke avenue. Knapp, a chauffeur, was killed. Amos Flora, 35, a Hazelcrest friend who was riding with Hansen, was injured fatally.

The charge was ordered placed against Hansen by Assistant State's Attorney Alexander Napoli with a recommendation that bond be set at $10,000. Gresham policemen are on guard at Hansen's bedside in Little Company of Mary hospital.

Voters Warned March 11 Is Last Day to Register

March 11 is the last day on which to register in order to be able to vote in the April 9 primary election, the board of election commissioners warned voters yesterday. Registrations and changes of address are being received at the election board offices at the rate of 4,000 a day. From March 2 thru the final day registration offices will be open in 142 city fire stations. The neighborhood offices will be open daily from noon until 9 p. m.

TOURNEY OF CHAMPIONS CONTINUES TONIGHT

PURDUE CLINCHES TITLE SHARE, 50 TO 29; N. U. BEATEN

INDIANA FIVE IS UPSET, 44 TO 26, BY OHIO STATE

Gophers Win Over Badgers, 44-39.

De Paul beat Long Island, 44 to 36, and Loyola whipped Beloit, 51 to 28, in the basketball double header in the Coliseum last night. Story on page 19.

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 26 [Special.]—Purdue assured itself of at least a share of the Big Ten basketball title for the fifth time in the last seven years here tonight by whipping Iowa 50 to 29, while Indiana was losing to Ohio State in Columbus. It was the ninth victory in 10 starts for the Boilermakers and they can clinch the title by defeating either Indiana or Illinois, their two final foes.

Purdue was trailing, 18 to 17, when Capt. Fred Beretta, made a free throw with three minutes of the first half remaining. Then the Boilermakers made five goals in succession for a 28 to 18 half time lead.

In the second half Purdue ran the lead to 33 to 18. With the game under control Purdue played cautiously, but steadily rolled up to the half-century mark.

Balanced team play built around the guarding of Beretta, all around work of Dan Fisher, and ball handling and shooting of Don Blanken and Forrest Sprowl once again provided the key to the Boilermaker victory. Blanken looped in seven field goals along with four free throws. Lineup:

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 26 [Special].—A desperate Northwestern basketball team scored 15 points in the last seven minutes tonight but Michigan's lead was too great and the Wolverines scored their fifth conference victory, 39 to 34. It was Northwestern's fifth loss against the same number of victories.

Led by Sophomore Dick Klein, who scored 14 points, the Wildcats put on rallies but each time the Wolverines came back with a counterattack which more than matched the Northwestern endeavors.

Michigan scored 14 points in the first 10 minutes of play while restricting Northwestern to one field goal and a free throw. The Wildcats then started to score and after three minutes of the second period went ahead 16 to 15 to lead for the first and last time.

ILLINOIS WINS, 42-40

The University of Illinois basketball team was forced to come from behind three times in the last half to overtake Chicago's hapless Maroons and ultimately squeeze out a 42 to 40 victory in the last three seconds of play last night in the Midway fieldhouse.

Bill Hapac, Illini captain, scored a free throw with two and a half minutes remaining to create a 40 to 40 tie, and then engineered a deliberate stall while the Maroons refused to move out of their zone defense. Hapac held the ball for a minute and 10 seconds while conversing with Colin Handlon, Illini guard. Then, assured the game was almost over, Hapac swished in a long shot to give his mates a share of second place in the Western conference standings.

Hapac's five field goals and eight free throws gave him 18 points.

The score was tied at half time, 22 to 22. Illinois then went in front, 27 to 23, but thereafter the lead changed three times. The Maroons pulled away to 40 to 37 before Hapac's basket and free throw tied it up.

DEMARET'S 286 WINS OPEN GOLF IN NEW ORLEANS

Snead, Guldahl, M'Spaden Share 2d at 287.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 26 (AP).—Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex., sneaked under the wire today to win the $2,000 first prize in the $10,000 New Orleans open golf tournament for his fourth victory in eight tournaments this year.

In an eighth place tie and four strokes behind the leaders after yesterday's round, he forged to the front with the day's best score, a four under par 68, bringing his 72 hole total to 286.

Tied for second, a stroke behind were Ralph Guldahl of Chicago, Harold [Jug] McSpaden from Winchester, Mass., and Sam Snead of Shawnee, Pa. Each pocketed $1,066.66.

Ben Hogan Falters.

Demaret finished early and almost alone as the main portion of the galleries followed threesomes which included McSpaden and Ben Hogan of White Plains, N. Y., who had been tied for the lead at 214 for 54 holes. Hogan slipped to a 75 to bring his four-day total to 289 and finished in a sixth place tie with Paul Runyan, also of White Plains. Each won $550. Marvin Stahl of Lansing, Mich., scored a 71 to finish in fifth place at 288 and won $700.

Fred Corcoran, tournament manager of the P. G. A., estimated the galleries during the four-day competition totaled 38,000 spectators, an all-time record for a P. G. A. event.

Penalties Wreck McSpaden.

McSpaden, after going thru the eighth three under par, was trapped on the ninth and fifteenth and drove two balls into the lake on the seventeenth. With a tie for first hinging on an eight foot putt on the last green, the ball stopped short.

Guldahl, with a three-quarter mark of 217, shot a 70. With a birdie needed on the 18th to tie Demaret, he chipped to within 15 feet of the cup and putted to the lip.

Fred Haas Jr. of New Orleans was low amateur at 221—76—297, followed by Wilford Wehrle of Chicago at 229—74—303.

Cochran Breaks World 440 Yard Record in :48.3

Bloomington, Ind., Feb. 26 [Special].—Roy Cochran of Indiana university shattered the world indoor record in the 440 yard dash this afternoon as the Hoosiers defeated Notre Dame, 52 to 34. Cochran traveled the distance in :48.3, slashing six-tenths of a second off the world mark set by Ray Ellenwood of the University of Chicago in 1936. Cochran held the previous Indiana fieldhouse record of :49.4. Cochran spurted into the lead at the start of the race and finished 10 yards in front of his teammate, Marcelleus Jenkins, runner up.

Dade Gives Chicago Its First Tournament Quarter Finalist

Fans gave Harold Dade a rousing cheer last night when he became the first of eight city champions to qualify for the quarter-finals in the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions in Chicago Stadium tomorrow. Dade advanced by drawing a bye and then scoring a two round technical knockout over Johnny Roberts of Joliet. Dade is last year's novice flyweight titleholder.

Benny Leonard, retired, undefeated world lightweight champion, who is coach of the Des Moines team, seconded his first winner last night in Othel Green, lightweight. Green went to the second round by eliminating Bob Mulvey of La Fayette in 29 seconds of the first round.

Rudy Kozole, Detroit middleweight, who will see action tonight, is a brother of Eddie, 1937 lightweight champion.

Barney Ross, 1929 Golden Gloves featherweight champion, who went on to win the professional lightweight and welterweight championships, made his debut as a referee in the Tournament of Champions. He received his initiation by counting out Dick Strickland of Rockford in the first round of a bout against Tommy Nate of South Bend.

All except four boxers made the required weight for the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions in Chicago Stadium last night. Two of the lads are representatives of the Memphis Commercial Appeal. The fighters were Paul Matheny, Richmond Palladium-Item bantamweight; J. D. Wiggins, Memphis, and Bobby Thomas, Muncie Star, also bantamweights, and Johnny Cotton, Memphis featherweight. Matheny returned later and made the stipulated poundage. Thomas, who carried six pounds over the limit, withdrew at the suggestion of Harry Berz, clerk of weights and drawings.

Emil Vukelich, Milwaukee Journal flyweight, was the only one of 179

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Another Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions is on its way. Hour after hour they fought last night in the Chicago Stadium. The first contingent of an army of more than 300 boys who have come from 23 states to slug it out for the highest honors amateur boxing has to offer. From early in the evening until near midnight, a furore reigned in the big arena. The clang of bells, the thump of gloves and the stamp of boxing shoes punctuated the roars that rose and subsided and rose again.

After approximately 100 bouts had been fought, a battered but still unbeaten group of boxers of the four lighter weights paused for breath. They had completed the first two rounds of the tournament. Tomorrow night they'll be back to resume their struggle for survival against competition that grows tighter at every punch.

Heavier Fighters Ready.

Meanwhile, the boys of the four heavier classes will launch their campaign. These big fellows will fight tonight. Another program replete with action is in prospect, for some of the hardest hitters in all amateur boxing are scheduled to appear this evening. Chicago's boxing fans are wondering how their heavier champions, Cornelius Young, Hezzie Williams, Louis Angelucci, and Savior Canadeo, will fare in the terrific struggle that faces them tonight.

The local fans went home jubilantly last night after the splendid showing made by the four Chicago representatives in the lighter weights. Harold Dade, Ray Brown, and Eddie O'Connell slugged so effectively that none of their opponents was able to come out for the third round. Joe Dupont, however, Chicago's featherweight title holder, was beaten by Roy Lewis of Muncie, Ind., a sturdy southpaw who is well known to followers of Golden Gloves tournaments.

O'Connell Rallies to Win.

O'Connell's victory was one of the high points of the evening. After taking a severe lacing about the jaw and head in the first round he came back with ruggedness and courage in the second to batter his opponent, Lynn Johnson of Nashville, Tenn., to the verge of a knockout. Swaying unsteadily, Johnson went to his corner at the end of the second round and his seconds refused to let him come out for the third.

Dade and Brown weren't called upon for the dogged display of fighting spirit shown by O'Connell. They gave their opponents such finished displays of boxing that the bouts weren't even close. After flooring John Rolando of Joliet for a nine count in the first, Dade sent him to the canvas for another nine in the second. A further volley of punches prompted the referee to stop the bout.

Heavier Classes to Take Over Tonight.

Brown encountered a brief resistance from Donald Emmick of Sioux City, Ia. In the second round, however, Brown put him down twice, after which Emmick's seconds clambered into the ring.

Dupont, who had gone to the finals last year, hit Lewis with three solid rights to the jaw, one in each round. Lewis, however, scored enough points during the infighting to counterbalance these blows. He got the decision by a very narrow margin.

Vic Saccoia and Tony Ancona of Detroit, both of whom won championships last year, started out with a victory apiece on their new campaign for titles. Saccoia was very hard pressed to score a decision over Buddy Smallwood of Cleveland by the narrowest possible margin. He weathered a furious storm of punches. Ancona disposed of his opponent, Bob Browner of Kokomo, in far more convincing fashion. Lashing out with hard lefts to the head, Ancona had his man down three times in the second round. Browner failed to answer the bell for the third.

Best of the Amateurs.

Year after year the fighting reaches a high pitch of intensity in the Tournament of Champions because the boys realize they're struggling for the most highly cherished prizes amateur boxing has to offer. Last night's bouts were no exception to the rule. Each delegation had its favorite who, in the opinion of the home town folks, was sure to win. Sometimes the boys fulfilled these expectations brilliantly. In other cases they failed.

"Watch this fellow," the South Bend followers said when their flyweight titleholder, Tommy Nate, climbed into the ring against Dick Strickland of Rockford, Ill. Tommy is a brother of Georgie Nate, a former Golden Gloves veteran, and his home town folks spoke so convincingly of his power that the ringsiders settled themselves in their seats to see what would happen. Before they looked up, however, Strickland was being assisted to his corner by his seconds after Nate had floored him with a mighty right to the jaw. Tommy will be back again tomorrow to see if he can carry thru to the end of the tournament and those who saw him last night agreed that he will be worth watching.

Joyce Shows Class.

Jimmy Joyce of Gary, another veteran of Golden Gloves competition, gave a convincing demonstration of class in beating Buel Davis of Oklahoma City. Displaying calmness under fire, Joyce hammered his opponent in every round to pile up an overwhelming margin of points.

Dorsey Kemp, Milwaukee's brilliant bantamweight, displayed exceptional ability in marching thru his first two rounds. After scoring a three round decision over Earl Bergstrom of Minneapolis, he returned to whip Alfred Osborne of Evansville, Ind.

Tommy Taylor of Fort Wayne, Ind., Dave Strickland of Rockford, Ill., and Steve Parks of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., shared the honor of winning the opening bouts. All of these fights went three rounds to a decision, Taylor beating Dural Hodge of Sioux City, Ia.; Strickland beating Harvey Dahl of Green Bay, Wis., and Parks beating Edward Tuller of Fort Smith, Ark.

The quickest knockout of the earlier bouts was scored by Othel Green of Des Moines, Ia. He disposed of Bob Mulvey of Lafayette, Ind., in 29 seconds.

Losers Fight Well.

Most of the boys who were eliminated last night gave good accounts of themselves. They were beaten, not because they were outclassed, but because there has to be a loser in every bout. They'll go home with the credit that goes with making a good fight—and many will be back next season, fortified with further experience.

Tonight's program will consist of approximately 112 bouts. Fighters of all weight classes will go into action tomorrow when the field will be cut to four survivors in each weight. These boys will return to the stadium March 6 for the semi-finals and finals.

VETERAN GIVES RIGGS A BATTLE, BUT LOSES OUT

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—Bobby Riggs of Chicago, the nation's top amateur, had a terrific struggle in turning back Herbert L. Bowman, 43 year old veteran of the court from the New York A. C., in the third round of the national indoor tennis tournament in the 7th Regiment armory today. The scores were 6-4, 8-6.

Bowman, playing a back court game and scoring heavily on a smashing series of placements Riggs couldn't reach, held a 5-2 lead in the second set before the national and Wimbledon champion put on his winning rally.

Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Brookline, Mass., third seeded nationally and first seeded in this tournament, won her way into the fourth round of the women's event today by beating Mrs. Ann Gray, wife of a West Point officer, 6-1, 6-3.

Fourth seeded Katharine Winthrop of Boston won her third round match, stopping Mrs. M. L. Bostwick of New York, 6-3, 7-5.

Jose Andres, flyweight champion of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, who came from Monterey, Mexico, to make his home in Fort Worth last October, is unable to speak English. As a result, Dick Menchaca, bantamweight standard bearer, served as an interpreter in the ring last night.

The staff of Golden Gloves physicians, headed by Dr. William Rothman, rejected three out of town representatives. Vaughn Barry, Springfield State Register lightweight; Pete Crouch, Vincennes Sun-Commercial featherweight, and Ralph Balcom, Streator Times Press flyweight, were the boys failing to get by the doctors.

Earl F. Ottie, member of the Wisconsin boxing commission, attended last night's fights to root for members of the Wisconsin Rapids team.

Don Gonzales, 1931 featherweight title holder, came in from Cleveland to see the show.

Bud Taylor, the old professional 118 pound champ, was unable to make the trip as coach of the Terre Haute Tribune-Star squad because of the illness of his father, who is 82 years old.

All four of the St. Louis Globe Democrat's boys in the lighter weight classes drew byes in last night's first round fights. They are Gene Wallace, flyweight; Joe Di Martino, bantamweight; Leon Haire, featherweight, and Art Cooper, lightweight. It is the second straight year St. Louis' boxers have had Lady Luck greet them in this manner.

Dorsey Kemp, bantamweight, is the star of the Milwaukee delegation, Charles Nevada, tournament director, said.

Woof Woof to Run in $50,000 Race Saturday

Miami, Fla., Feb. 26 [Special].—Trainer Jim Healy today said that John Hay Whitney's Woof Woof, winner of the Flamingo stakes, will run in the mile and a quarter $50,000 added Widener handicap, Hialeah's closing feature, Saturday.

The 3 year old son of Bull Dog-Minima will carry only 103 pounds. Kenneth McCombs has been engaged to ride him. Healy had planned to reserve Woof Woof for the Preakness, but changed his mind because the Widener appeared to be so open a race that his horse looks as prominent a contender as any.

Woof Woof, however, is not considered as good a horse as Calory, Whitney's main reliance for the 3 year old specials to be run this year.

"He's a nice colt," said Healy, "a useful horse, and if anything should go wrong with Calory he'll step in to fill his place."

It is Healy's plan to reserve Calory for the Preakness.

DE PAUL GAINS REVENGE; WHIPS LONG ISLAND U.

Blue Demons Win, 44-36; Loyola Victor.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

De Paul's Blue Demons, who have been having themselves a fine basketball season this semester, put on their best show of the year by whipping the famed Long Island university five, 44 to 36, in the second game of last night's double header in the Coliseum.

The opener was taken by Loyola's Ramblers, who ran away from Beloit college, 50 to 28, after enjoying a 28 to 5 lead at half time. Mickey Rottner, with 17 points, and Capt. George Wenskus with 14, led Loyola. A crowd of 7,000 saw the Ramblers and Demons win together for the first time in this year's double header series which was concluded last night.

Third Loss for L. I. U.

There aren't many teams who can lick Long Island, but the manner in which De Paul did so light night makes the Demons' accomplishment more remarkable. The victory was De Paul's 19th in 23 games, and marked Long Island's third defeat in 21, only Southern California and Duquesne being able to subdue the Blackbirds previously.

De Paul took a 2 to 0 lead in the first minute on Capt. Stan Szukala's set shot, but thereafter could do no better than tie the score once, Long Island leaving the floor with a half time margin of 23-15.

That became 25-15 in the first seconds of the second half, and it appeared Long Island would have an easier time with the Demons, than they did in Madison Square Garden last Wednesday, when they rallied to beat De Paul, 44 to 43.

Accomplish Late Rally.

Elmer Gainer, Ed Norris, and Lou Possner of the Demons then went to work and brought the score to 27 to 25. Capt. Szukala then came thru with a set shot to tie the score and a push effort to send De Paul ahead. After that Long Island didn't come closer than 31 to 29 on Capt. Ossie Schechtman's field goal, which promptly was covered by baskets from Gainer and Ed Sachs. Bernie Weksler, De Paul substitute, then came in and contributed five points.

BIVINS USES LEFT TO BEAT SUTKA IN MARIGOLD BOUT

Joe Bivins of Cleveland won the unanimous decision over Joe Sutka of Detroit in the main event last night at the Marigold Gardens. Bivins piled up a big lead with his long left. Sutka forced the fighting in the last three rounds, but Bivins tied him up effectively. Bivins weighed 154 while Sutka weighed 160. The attendance was 1,008, and receipts $923.21.

Tommy Pallatin of St. Joseph, Mo., easily won over Tony Yates of Minneapolis in another eight rounder. The decision was unanimous. Pallatin weighed 143, Yates 148½. Al Tibbits of Danville, middleweight, won a close decision over Jimmy Burns of Pittsburgh in a third eight round bout.

First Band of White Sox Off for Pasadena

Secretary Joseph T. Barry and a party of 13 White Sox yesterday boarded the Santa Fe's Super-Chief for their spring training exercises in Pasadena, Cal., where they will arrive tomorrow to join Manager James Dykes and other early arrivals.

Mr. Barry, acting as shepherd for the first White Sox contingent to leave from these parts, was both happy and sad as the train headed west. The sadness was occasioned by the absence of Dr. Clint Brown, the noted relief specialist. Dr. Brown as yet has failed to come to terms with the Sox management on the matter of his 1940 contract, altho Barry said that he has until tomorrow to make up his mind and that even at the very moment the Chicago delegation was climbing on the train, it was possible for Vice President Harry Grabiner, now in the Pasadena camp, to have contacted Brown by telephone.

Appleton Joins Group.

The Sox secretary's pleasure was evoked by the presence of Pete Appleton, the 35 year old right hander who came to the Sox with Outfielder Taft Wright in the deal which sent Gerry Walker to the Washington Senators. It appeared that Barry's charges would number only 12 until Appleton dashed up at the last moment, came to terms, and hopped on the train with the rest of the lads.

Another absentee was George [Mule] Haas, Manager Dykes' old chum, both with the Athletics and the Sox. The Mule, whose jockeying talents should find full expression in his new rôle as Sox coach, was supposed to have joined the party leaving Chicago, but wired that he had gone ahead over the week-end.

Wins Five, Loses Ten.

Appleton and Wright attracted most of the attention yesterday because of their connection with the Walker deal. Appleton, a native of Terryville, Conn., won 5 and lost 10 for the Senators last season. Wright, who saw the first ice hockey game of his life Sunday night, when the Blackhawks defeated Boston, will be 27 next August. He batted .309 for Washington last season.

Others in the Sox party, which expects to be put to work immediately on its arrival tomorrow, included Pitchers Edgar Smith, Tom Stevens, Ed Welland, Don Kolloway, Hank Leiter, Bob Kennedy, and Orval Grove; Catchers Mike Tresh, Ken Silvestri, and Joe Weeks, and Outfielder Harold Cromer. Ken Reid and Jesse Dobernic will join the travelers in Kansas City.

Venzke Is Candidate for Pennsylvania House

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 26 (AP).—Gene Venzke, the mile runner, took steps today to get into politics. Venzke filed nominating papers as a candidate for the Pennsylvania house of representatives from the 1st Berks county district. He listed himself as a Democrat and an insurance salesman.

STEINMETZ FIVES WIN; 2 PLAYOFF GAMES SET TODAY

Steinmetz won a basketball double header from Lake View in the north section of the Chicago Public High School league yesterday, the juniors triumphing, 41 to 32, and the seniors, 30 to 26.

Two play-off games to decide City league quarter-finalists will be played today. In the west section senior race Austin and Crane meet at Marshall, with the winner to be the division's No. 1 team, and the loser to play Wells tomorrow for second place.

The three way senior tie for second place in the central section will be partly cleared up today as Tilden and Manley meet at Gage park. The winner opposes Du Sable Thursday afternoon at Gage park.

Definite arrangements for one of the junior quarter-final games were completed yesterday, with Parker, south section champion, playing Tilden, runner-up in the central division, at Calumet Friday.

Bryant's Form Is Rainbow in Catalina Rain

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., Feb. 26.—An 11 o'clock shower 10 minutes after the Cubs' arrival on their practice field this afternoon reduced their fourth day's exercise to tying their shoe laces and conservative running in the mud. There was sunshine during the morning and sunshine from noon on—the rain falling at precisely the right, or wrong time, according to each player's individual point of view.

Because they were in uniform the fellows did get their quota of clubhouse stuff, such as the steam room and so on.

The main ray of sunshine was the discovery that Clay Bryant felt no ill effects from his Sunday throwing. Yesterday Clay took a full turn on the mound, throwing with all of his erstwhile ailing arm instead of flipping with his wrist as per the custom with sore armed fellows. Today was the day when he would have paid the penalty for his eagerness of yesterday had his arm been out of kelter to the extent it was all of last season. Instead, Bryant was ready to do some more tossing today when showers dampened his ambitions.

Lee Making Strides, Too.

Bill Lee is another essential artist who is coming along fine. Big Bill reported with a minor internal ailment and a few pounds he doesn't normally tote. He did not allow these inconveniences to slow him up and now is apace with the rest of the fellows on whom hang Cub pitching hopes for 1940.

Julio Bonetti, one of the few newcomers scheduled to take regular assignments, has been active between showers. Manager Gabby Hartnett has been letting Julio direct his own training processes, even to the point of supplying him with his personal Pacific Coast league catcher, Rip Collins, who coöperated in 19 of Julio's 20 victories for Los Angeles last season. Rip, by the way, is a favorite in the winter book to become the Cubs' first string catcher, providing Hartnett isn't seized with a surge of boyish athletic ambition.

Curve Will Come in Handy.

It is certain Rip will be Bonetti's catcher in many National league games. He is a booster of Julio's fast ball, also his sinker. Julio can throw a curve, but Rip doesn't call the bender so often, tho he probably will when he discovers how many curve ball suckers there are among National league batsmen.

Claude Passeau, who is expected to lead the National league in strikeouts in 1940 while winning himself about 20 games, is down to weight and has only to strengthen his arm before being ready to go. Vance Page has been handicapped by a severe cold, but has not missed a drill.

Where's Dizzy Dean?

Hartnett has lost track of Dizzy Dean entirely. Today he was asking around to see what the Great Man had been saying for publication, but out here in the Pacific the last news is some sort of statement attributed to Diz about why Brother Paul quit the Giants.

Hartnett also continued without news of his other two holdouts, Augie Galan and Hank Leiber. In the absence of bulletins Gabby is expecting both to be on the boat which ties up here next Thursday noon.

Al Todd, veteran catcher, who remained in the east for basketball officiating while other Cubs were enroute here, flew to Avalon late this afternoon and will join his mates in tomorrow's workout.

SECOND CUB SQUAD LEAVES.

The Chicago Cubs' second training camp squad, consisting of Scout Clarence Rowland and five players, headed for the team's Catalina Island training site last night. The fivesome of athletes included Capt. Billy Herman, who was making the westward trip for the ninth time; Phil Cavarretta, who was kept out of action much of last season by a broken leg; Leonard Merullo, former Villanova college infielder, who was halted by an injury in camp during 1939; Outfielder Bill Nicholson, the team's right field regular last year, and Bernard Olsen, rookie outfielder from Moline, Ill.

This group will be joined by Shortstop Bobby Mattick and Outfielder Jim Gleeson when the train reaches Omaha this morning. It will be further increased Thursday in Los Angeles, where such gents as Hank Leiber, Augie Galan, Bill Rogell, Glen Russell, Bob Sturgeon, and Dominic Dallesandro will meet them for the boat trip to Avalon.

Bruins Cling to Hope for Berth in Division Playoff

The Chicago Bruins, by winning their three remaining games, have a chance to tie for second place in the Western division of the National Basketball league, with a possibility of a three way tie with Oshkosh and Sheboygan, indicated by the standings and the games yet to be played.

The Bruins' contest with Indianapolis, originally set for March 6, has been moved up to Saturday night.

The Hammond Ciesars, who have been something of a sensation the last three weeks of the second round, loom as a menace to the Bruins' hopes to get into the championship playoffs tomorrow night in the 132d armory.

Blackhawks Meet Boston Again Tonight

Manager Paul Thompson took his Chicago Blackhawks, surprise team of the National Hockey league to Boston yesterday afternoon. The Hawks, boasting a nine game nonlosing streak, three more than their best continuous run thru all the 14 years they've been in the hockey business, will play two games on the present jaunt, the first with the champion Bruins Tuesday night and the second with the league leading Rangers at New York Thursday. They meet the Rangers in Chicago next Sunday.

A Hand for Goodman.

The Hawks' conversation yesterday turned to the goal tending feats of Paul Goodman and the great playing of Johnny Gottselig, whose cannonading Sunday brought an end to the remarkable nonlosing run of the Boston team over the Blackhawks, a run that started 16 games ago back in 1938.

The fanning about the unobtrusive Goodman had to do with his performance before Chicago audiences since he became a Blackhawk regular. In 12 games Goodman has allowed only 14 goals.

Wiebe, Bentley Out.

Fifteen Blackhawks made the eastern trip. The absentees are Doug Bentley, who is recuperating from a shoulder injury suffered three weeks ago in Toronto, and Art Wiebe is still at the Garfield Park hospital nursing a knee injury received last Thursday when he collided with two Canadian players.

DE LANCEY TELLS CARDINALS HE'LL REGAIN OLD FORM

Starts Drill Saturday in Florida.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 26 (AP).—Bill De Lancey, Cardinal catcher laid low by a lung ailment after the 1938 season, expressed confidence today he could regain major league form.

Wearing a 10 gallon hat and bronzed by the Arizona sun, De Lancey visited the Cardinal offices and Sportsman's park en route to spring training with the club at St. Petersburg, Fla. The first workout is scheduled for Saturday.

The St. Louis Browns open training in San Antonio, Tex., Thursday. A group of players will leave tomorrow night for camp.

HENRICH SIGNS CONTRACT.

Massillon, O., Feb. 26 (AP).—Tommy Henrich, outfielder for the New York Yankees, signed his 1940 contract at his home here today and mailed it to New York. Henrich declined to reveal his salary, but said he is satisfied. He will leave Friday for the Yankees' training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla.

LOMBARDI, MYERS SIGN.

Tampa, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP).—They can play ball now, for the Cincinnati Reds have Ernie Lombardi's signature and Billy Myers is on the way down with a penload of ink.

Billy came to terms Saturday night after a bit of telephoning between Tampa and his West Fairview, Pa., home, and Ernie talked to Manager Bill McKechnie thrice today and then came out all smiles.

Today, the first day of spring training, found the Reds listening to a speech by the mayor of Tampa and wishing a chill northeast wind would quit. Manager Bill McKechnie finally chased everybody outdoors for a run around the field.

WASDELL TO PLAY FIRST.

Orlando, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP).—President Clark Griffith is urging Manager Bucky Harris to give Jimmy Wasdell, perennial rookie in the Washington Senators camp, the first base job. Wasdell played outfield for Minneapolis last year.

While the rookies are awaiting the arrival March 1 of the regulars, Griffith is reported to be trying to make a trade. The Senators still would like to make a deal with the Detroit Tigers for Hank Greenberg or Rudy York in return for Shortstop Cecil Travis.

"I Get Boiling Mad when folks FREEZE beer so the flavor can't be appreciated"

Richard Seibold, MEISTER BRÄU BREWMASTER

50°

DRINK BEER at 50 degrees and taste real beer flavor. Then I know you'll join the thousands who prefer our Old-Time Brew

MAYBE I'm too fussy about serving beer at the right temperature. But ice-cold beer is wrong. There's no use putting the finest grains in a brew just to have the flavor over-chilled so you can't recognize it. We might as well add sugars or syrups and save time and money. We might as well add artificial gas when we bottle instead of using only natural draft beer carbonation created in the beer itself.

Beer flavor, good or bad, shows up at about 50 degrees. If you want to know what kind of beer you're drinking, drink it at 50 degrees. That means, take an ice-cold bottle out of the refrigerator and let it stand until it's the proper temperature.

Do that and you'll never again say, "Give me a bottle of Beer." You'll know it pays to ask for the brand you prefer. For 49 years we've made a beer for the 50-degree drinkers—the beer cranks. Order Meister Bräu today and I'll stake my reputation on your verdict if you make the "50-degrees" test.

ESTIMATE GAIN IN SUPPLIES OF WHEAT THIS YEAR

Domestic Carry-Over Set at Higher Figure.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The department of agriculture estimated today the domestic wheat carryover next July 1 would be 300 million bushels, against 254 million last July 1.

The department based its forecast on probable exports and shipments of between 40 and 45 million bushels to United States territories and probable domestic disappearance of 670 million bushels in the 12 month period.

Total domestic supplies for the year were 1,009 million bushels including production of 755 million bushels.

World Supplies Increase.

Excluding soviet Russia and China, world wheat supplies for the year were estimated at 250 million bushels more than in the preceding year. World stocks of old wheat last July 1 were 1,189 million bushels, or 590 million more than a year earlier.

World production, however, was estimated at 4,267 million bushels, or 338 million less than the record 1938 production. Net reductions in the southern hemisphere have cut the world production estimate 12 million bushels in the last month.

The department said the European winter wheat acreage probably was about the same as last year's. Excessive moisture and war have prevented increased plantings which had been planned. Cold weather with little snow cover, particularly in the Danubian countries, has caused apprehension as to the condition of the crop.

WHEAT PRICES DECLINE

A forecast for rain or snow in the west and southwest resulted in wheat prices declining 2¼ cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. The close was at the bottom. Outside support was less aggressive than recently and many speculators who had good profits in grain bought at lower prices were disposed to take them. July and September wheat were about 5 cents under the high point of last Friday.

Corn and other grains declined moderately in sympathy with wheat. Closing trades on corn showed losses of ⅝ to ¼ cent. Oats finished ⅜ to ½ cent lower. Houses with northwestern connections were on the selling side of rye, which closed 1¼ to 1⅝ cents lower.

ROLLINS HOSIERY CAPITAL CHANGE GIVEN APPROVAL

Changes in the capitalization of Rollins Hosiery Mills, Inc., were approved at the annual meeting of the stockholders in Chicago yesterday. All directors were reëlected.

The capitalization plan calls for the exchange of one share of new common stock for each four shares of common now outstanding. The stated value of the stock would be reduced to $1 a share.

D. C. Woods, president, told stockholders Rollins is one of about 30 companies licensed by E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. to make hosiery from nylon, the new synthetic yarn. He said the agreements provide that du Pont will set minimum prices on the new hosiery. Rollins is making the hosiery now, but will not begin distribution until May or June, Woods said.

BANANAS AND SUGAR.

What other business is United Fruit in besides growing and selling bananas? I would like some information about the company's earnings.—W. K.

Answer: Besides being the world's leading producer and shipper of bananas and other tropical fruits, the United Fruit company operates sugar plantations in Cuba; the Great White Fleet of more than 90 ships, of which 80 are owned; a radio service between the United States and Central America, the West Indies, and Colombia; a hotel in Jamaica, and about 2,100 miles of railway in connection with its tropical properties.

About 65 per cent of the world's consumption of bananas is supplied by United Fruit. Banana sales comprise its biggest source of revenue, but substantial income ordinarily is derived also from transportation of cargo, passengers, and mail by its shipping fleet. Altho one of the largest sugar producers in Cuba, the company has received relatively small income from its sugar operations, because of low prices.

The fleet last year carried 56,693 passengers and 1,455,901 tons of general cargo in addition to the company's fruit and other tropical products such as cacao and coconuts.

The company has outstanding 2,896,600 shares of no par capital stock. There is no funded debt.

Earnings of United Fruit in the year ended Dec. 30, 1939, rose about 37 per cent over those for the year ended Dec. 31, 1938. Net income, earnings per capital share, and dividends paid per capital share in recent fiscal years ending around Dec. 31 follow:

| | Net income. | Earned per share. | Dividends per share. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1935 | $10,359,000 | $3.56 | $3.00 |
| 1936 | 14,177,000 | 4.88 | 4.25 |
| 1937 | 11,817,000 | 4.08 | 4.00 |
| 1938 | 10,273,000 | 3.55 | 3.00 |
| 1939 | 14,102,000 | 4.87 | 4.00 |

A dividend of $1 a share was paid on the capital stock on Jan. 15. The company has paid dividends on its stock each year since incorporation in 1899. Current assets last Dec. 31 amounted to $37,513,551, against current liabilities of $14,454,529.

HEAD OF FAMILY.

Could one of two sisters who maintain a home for their mother be allowed the $2,500 income tax exemption as head of a family? The sisters work in different states but spend their vacations with their mother, who lives in the home owned jointly by the sisters.—L. M.

Answer: Strict interpretation of the personal exemption provisions of the internal revenue code would permit the sister who provides the major support of the mother the exemption of $1,000 allowed a single person besides the $400 credit for a dependent. Recent rulings by the board of tax appeals, however, indicate the sister may have grounds for claiming the $2,500 exemption as head of a family even tho she lives apart from her mother most of the time.

Argentina Exports More to America Than Year Ago

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 [Special].—Argentina's January exports to the United States showed an increase of 79 per cent over January, last year, according to the American consulate general in Buenos Aires. Total shipments of Argentine products to the American market in January were valued at $10,967,989, compared with $6,129,725 in January, 1939. The outstanding gain was in wool shipments, which were valued at $4,819,468 in January, an increase of 249 per cent over the corresponding 1939 total. Other items which advanced notably were hides and skins, canned meat, animal by-products, preserved meat, and casein.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

Lamb Crop Earlier.

Feb. 26, 1940.

THE lamb crop is coming earlier than usual this year at the Du Page county farm. There are 58 young lambs now and the last from the flock of 95 ewes are expected by the end of March. The first lamb was born Jan. 9.

Only two lambs have been lost. The flockmaster considers this a good record. He thinks this is a good time to have the lambs come because they will be big enough to be treated for internal parasites before time to turn them out on grass in spring. Most of the lambs born so far have been singles and they are big and strong. There have been only a few sets of twins.

The older lambs already are eating hay with their mothers. A creep is to be built in the sheep barn this week so the lambs may go in and eat their own feed without interference from the ewes. They will be given all the bran, oats, and oil meal they will eat. They still will be allowed to eat hay with the ewes.

Lambs Romp in Barn Lot.

The lambs romp and play outside in the barn lot during the day except when weather is bad.

The ewes stayed outside most of the time until after the first lambs were born. They still are turned out for exercise on warm days, but are kept in the barn during real cold weather or when the ground is covered with ice.

Until the ewes drop their lambs they are fed only hay. Light feedings of either red clover or alfalfa hay are given morning, noon, and night. After the lambs are born the mother ewes are given two feedings a day of whole oats and wheat bran in addition to the hay.

Light Feeding Used.

The oats and bran are mixed at the rate of two parts oats and one part bran by weight. The ewes get about one-half pound each of the grain mixture a day. The flockmaster says this is not a heavy feeding, but that it apparently is enough as both the ewes and lambs are doing well. Plenty of salt and fresh water are kept before the sheep all the time. The water is warmed in cold weather.

Most of the breeding ewes are pure bred Southdowns. Some are grade Southdowns. Only pure bred Southdown rams are used. There are 24 good yearling ewes on the farm, saved from last spring's lamb crop, that will be added to the breeding flock next fall.

This is the second consecutive year that the lambing schedule has been planned to have the lambs born during cold weather. They are earlier this year than last. In former years most of the lambs were born in the pastures in April and May. One reason for the switch to earlier lambs is to aid in the control of stomach worms. The early lambs are big enough to be drenched with bluestone solution to protect them against the parasites before they are put out on pastures that may be infested.

TWO BIG FIRMS BACK ON PROFIT BASIS LAST YEAR

Both Showed Large Losses in 1938.

Substantial net profits were reported yesterday for 1939 by two companies which in the preceding year had experienced large net losses.

Roy B. White reports Western Union gain.

Western Union Telegraph company reported that 1939 yielded net income of $1,380,114, a figure nearly as large as the net loss of $1,637,879 suffered in 1938. American Rolling Mill company placed net profits for last year at $4,011,908, against a net loss of $1,307,880 in the preceding year.

Roy B. White, president of Western Union, told stockholders in a statement accompanying the earnings report that the big communications enterprise should share in a possible business improvement during 1940. The net income reported for 1939 was equal to $1.32 a common share.

Steel Leader Optimistic.

Charles R. Hook, president of American Rolling Mill, said that the average prices for the company's principal products—iron and steel sheets—were better in 1940 than last year, and that he expected an increase in volume. The earning figure was equivalent to 69 cents a common share, he said.

Crown Zellerbach corporation and subsidiaries reported net profits of $5,797,632, or $1.68 a share on the common stock, for the nine months ended Jan. 31. In the comparable period a year earlier the large San Francisco paper producing enterprise had net income of $3,484,383, or 66 cents a share.

The annual report of the Atlantic Refining company, Philadelphia, set net earnings for the year at $5,028,000, or $1.66 a common share, against $4,317,297, or $1.40 a share, in 1938.

Int. Cellucotton Earns More.

International Cellucotton Products company, a Chicago firm dealing in sanitary specialties, reported the best net income of recent years for the year ended Dec. 31. Net profits rose to $2,155,574, or $3.59 a share, from $1,857,345, or $3.13 a share, in the comparable 1938 period.

Mead, Johnson & Co., Evansville, Ind., listed net income for the year of $1,814,009, or $10.27 a share on common, against $1,608,212, or $9.02 a share, in 1938. The company produces powdered milk, cod liver oil and other infants' diet materials.

National Gypsum company and subsidiary, Buffalo, N. Y., had net profits of $1,455,237 for 1939, it reported, against $921,632 in 1938. Per share earnings were 94 and 49 cents, respectively.

Net profits of $1,329,261, exclusive of $16,373 net loss on sales of securities, charged to net surplus, were reported by the Pennroad corporation, Wilmington, Del., investing company, with large railroad stock holdings. In 1938 net income totaled $555,582, exclusive of a $304,115 net loss on the sale of securities. Last year's earnings were 17 cents a share, against 7 cents a share in 1938.

New Deal May Try Rate Ideas on Big Utility

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP). — High administration officials were reported authoritatively today to be planning to transfer their theories of cheap electricity from the "yardstick" stage to practical application in a major private utility system.

The "guinea pig" contemplated is the billion dollar Associated Gas and Electric system, now in bankruptcy. The government will have a direct voice in the reorganization of this system because its more than $8,000,000 of tax claims against the companies make the treasury one of the largest single creditors.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, especially, was said to regard himself a consumer spokesman in the proceedings. With the treasury, the justice department and Securities and Exchange commission also are working on the problem.

Shift Attack on Power Rates.

The chief New Deal attacks on power rates in the past have been made thru the use of public money to build the Tennesseee Valley authority, Bonneville dam, Grand Coulee dam, and to finance local power projects thru PWA and REA loans.

This has been called the "yardstick" method, because in these projects the administration has openly sought to demonstrate how cheaply electricity can be sold. Private utility owners, however, have called these unfair tests because of differences in financing and overhead costs.

But in the Associated Gas system some officials now see a ready-made guinea pig of private utilities serving 1,400,000 electricity customers in 22 states.

Bespeak Consumers' Interest.

Consumers' interests were said to be an important reason for the current squabble over who should be appointed by the courts as trustee for the bankrupt system of more than 100 corporations. Normally, the first duty of a trustee in such a case is get the most out of the bankrupt for the creditors and security holders.

Cutting rates might not seem the way to do this for most orthodox business men. But New Deal officials have argued that in many cases profits could be increased, not decreased, by cutting rates. They assert that the cheaper electricity is, the more of it will be used by consumers, and added consumption will more than offset smaller rates.

PLAN TO REDUCE SUGAR QUOTA OF CUBA HITS SNAG

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—A plan to reduce Cuba's share of the national sugar marketing quota by 200,000 tons was declared today to have encountered resistance from the administration.

Representative O'Connor [D., Mont.], a member of the senate-house committee of five drafting new sugar legislation, said after a conference with Secretary Wallace: "I feel that we have a big job ahead of us in getting him [Wallace] to coöperate in taking anything away from Cuba."

As a means of boosting mainland production the sugar committee agreed tentatively to trim down the import quota from Cuba and to take 60,000 tons from the Philippine share.

Members of the sugar bloc said they would not agree to a resolution, continuing the present sugar act. They insisted it was essential to find some means of increasing domestic planting.

OUTPUT OF AUTOS IN JANUARY SETS PEAK FOR MONTH

American automobile manufacturers produced 432,101 cars and trucks last month, the largest number for any January on record, George J. Schaller, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, reported yesterday. Figures covering the industry were included in the bank's monthly survey of business conditions.

Production of passenger cars totaled 362,736, a decline of 3 per cent compared with December, but 29 per cent more than in January, 1939, and 4 per cent more than the former January record established in 1929. Truck output was 69,365, about 11 per cent less than in December, but 14 per cent more than in the 1939 month.

Schaller said that retail sales of new automobiles in the 7th [Chicago] reserve district declined nearly 25 per cent in January, a seasonal trend. They exceeded the volume of the 1939 month by 40 per cent.

Empires Could Pay Cash for Big Plane Sale

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau expressed belief today that England and France have ample resources to pay cash for their contemplated billion dollar airplane and other military purchases in this country.

A few hours before the secretary gave his views to a press conference he had conferred with Washington representatives of the Anglo-French purchasing mission.

In response to questions, Morgenthau reiterated previous assertions that the prices being charged by American airplane manufacturers "were reasonable" and that no tax problems were impeding airplane production or sales.

Silent On Silver Buying.

Asked about a recent resolution of the advisory council to the federal reserve board opposing further treasury purchases of foreign silver, the secretary declined to express an opinion.

When asked about a recent statement of Federal Reserve Chairman Marriner S. Eccles that the treasury had approximately four billion dollars of virtually idle funds that could be spent for relief, Morgenthau suggested that Eccles and others holding such views should read President Roosevelt's recent budget message.

He explained that the President had identified the supposedly idle funds of the treasury—including two billion dollars in the stabilization fund, and two billions in cash and other liquid assets—as money to be used for reduction of the federal debt.

Repeats Associated Gas Comment.

The treasury head also declined to comment on whether he opposed appointment of John W. Hanes, his former undersecretary, for the trusteeship of the bankrupt Associated Gas and Electric company.

Morgenthau said that his only comment on the Associated Gas situation was embodied in a recent letter to Senator Norris suggesting that the Securities and Exchange commission accept the trusteeship.

BIG FHA FINANCED APARTMENT SOLD AT FORECLOSURE

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 26 (AP).—Manhasset village, 354 family apartment group in suburban Richmond Heights, was sold under foreclosure today for $1,502,295 to the New York Life Insurance company, the only bidder and mortgage holder.

The apartments were built two years ago with a $1,600,000 government-insured loan.

The trustees, McCune Gill and Richard C. Spackler, offered the apartments for sale after default in a $21,000 payment due the Federal Housing administration last Dec. 16. This represented a quarterly interest payment of $18,000 on a 30 year loan and a mortgage insurance premium of about $3,000.

FISH, FROG, OR OYSTER FARM IS NOT A FARM, MUSHROOM CELLAR IS

New York, Feb. 26 [Special].—Under the definitions of the census bureau a fish farm, frog farm, or oyster farm is not a farm. If, however, a New Yorker grows mushrooms in his cellar and takes in as much as $250 a year, he is a farmer and is to be classified as such. He must tell the census taker how many mules he has, how many cows, how many horses, even tho it's quite apparent that he wouldn't know a mule from a cow.

The definition of a farm—there was one in Manhattan at the 1930 census—was given today at the federal office building to 148 men and women who will have executive jobs in this year's census in New England, New York, and New Jersey. They were attending one of eight similar schools being held all this week in various parts of the country to train the executives who will train the 123,000 enumerators who will start asking questions on April 8.

PACKERS DENY DIRECT SALES OF PORK TO RUSSIA

If Russian planes dropped Chicago processed pork to soviet troops in Finland, as reported last week, the meat must have reached Russia thru some other country, packers and live stock men said yesterday.

Some in the meat trade said Russia may have dropped the meat—whether a genuine Chicago product or faked—to bolster soviet morale and discourage Finnish troops by showing that America was helping to feed the Russians. They said some American pork has gone to Poland, Danzig, Czecho-Slovakia, and Germany proper, and that some of it might have been resold to Russia. Such resales would be in small quantities, it was said.

"A careful survey indicates no Chicago meat packer has made any sale of pork to Russia in recent years," said the Institute of American Meat Packers. It said the meat dropped to the troops might have come from Scandinavian countries or from captured Finnish supplies.

TREASURY TOPS 6 BILLION MARK IN EXPENDITURES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24 (AP).—Treasury spending since July 1, 1939, has passed $6,000,000,000. As to Feb. 23, expenditures for the fiscal year totaled $6,026,165,192, and receipts were $3,445,172,539, causing a deficit of $2,580,992,653.

The deficit, however, is to decline temporarily next month when first instalments on 1939 income taxes come due. The deficit is about $400,000,000 larger than on the corresponding date last year, due to a slight decline in revenues and an increase in expenditures.

The federal debt has reached a new high of $42,345,443,913, about $2,500,000,000 more than a year ago.

January Truck Traffic 21 Pct. Above Last Year

Revenue freight transported by motor truck in January represented an increase of 1.4 per cent over the volume of the preceding month and 21.3 per cent more than that of January, 1939, according to a survey issued yesterday by American trucking associations.

Pearson Gets Ward Position Left by Vaught

Harold L. Pearson, vice president and controler of Montgomery Ward & Co., will become treasurer in the place of George W. Vaught, who resigned yesterday as treasurer and a director of the mail order house, Sewell L. Avery, chairman of the board, said last night. Pearson is expected to be named to the board of directors at the next stockholders' meeting.

John Donaldson, vice president and head of the accounting department, will take the post of controler.

With Company 23 Years.

No reason was given for the resignation of Vaught, who had been associated with Montgomery Ward for 23 years. His departure is the second within three months among the executive personnel. Frank M. Folsom resigned as a director and vice president in charge of merchandising on Dec. 6, and C. D. Ryan was named merchandise manager.

With a background of banking and sales experience, Vaught joined the company in 1917. He became assistant treasurer in 1931, was named treasurer in 1933, and a director in 1936.

Develops Instalment Sales.

Recently Vaught has been connected with the development of the company's instalment financing and collection system. He has been known as an authority in this field. The Ward instalment sales volume has risen to $150,000,000 a year under his supervision.

Vaught was listed last March as owning 430 shares of common stock of the company.

ZEPHYR TRAINS ARE ORDERED FOR TEXAS SERVICE

Orders have been placed for two Texas Zephyrs, Diesel powered streamlined trains which will cut the running time between Dallas, Fort Worth and Denver by five hours, Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington railroad, said yesterday. Delivery is scheduled for late spring.

The 11th and 12th Zephyrs in the Burlington fleet, each train will be a 10 car unit consisting of a 4,000 horse power Diesel-electric locomotive in two units, a mail-express car, a combination baggage coach, two chair cars, and a dining-observation-lounge car, all of stainless steel, and three Pullmans.

The Fort Worth and Denver City, and the Colorado and Southern railways placed the orders. The Electromotive corporation will build the locomotives in the La Grange, Ill., shops. The cars, except the Pullmans, which will be leased from the Pullman company, will be obtained from the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company, Philadelphia.

Italy, Short of Coal, Runs Railway Trains on Gasoline

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 [Special].—Italy is experimenting with gasoline driven trains because of her limited coal supplies, M. P. Hooper, assistant American commercial attaché at Rome reported today. Three such trains each equipped with two 1,400 horse power motors are being tested by the state railways. A test journey between Genoa and Milan, a distance of 93¾ miles, was made at an average hourly speed of 65 miles.

JUDICIAL RULES CLASH IN NLRB CONTRACT CASE

Likely to Put Issue Before High Court.

New York, Feb. 26 [Special].—Final decision on the National Labor Relations board's assumption of authority to force employers to sign written contracts with labor organizations is expected to come from the United States Supreme court as a result of a decision here today and a recent decision in Chicago.

The United States Second Circuit Court of Appeals ruled here today that the refusal of an employer to put into writing the terms of an oral agreement resulting from collective bargaining implied a refusal to bargain collectively within the meaning of the Wagner act. The court was divided two to one.

On Jan. 9 the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago ruled unanimously: "It is fair to congress to conclude that if it intended to place upon the employer the duty of entering into a written agreement, it would have so provided."

Judge Chase Dissents.

The ruling upholding the labor board contention today was written by Judge Learned Hand and concurred in by Judge Charles E. Clark.

Dissenting from the majority opinion, Judge Harrie B. Chase held that there is nothing in the Wagner act requiring the signing of an agreement on collective bargaining. Judge Chase added that the court did not have any right to read into the act a mandatory provision which is not there.

The case brought before the New York court was an appeal of the Art Metals Construction company of Jamestown, N. Y., which had been ordered by the board to bargain collectively with members of the International Association of Machinists, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, and to desist from unfair labor practices.

Holds Freedom Endangered.

The Art Metals company contended that it would lose absolute freedom of negotiation if it were required to put an oral agreement in writing. It argued that it has such freedom under common law and that congress meant to preserve this freedom.

The Chicago case was that of the Inland Steel company. The labor board had ordered the company to bargain collectively with the Steel Workers' Organizing committee, a Congress of Industrial organizations affiliate, and to put in writing any agreement reached. The Inland company contended the SWOC did not have any right to bargain for its employés and also resisted the signed agreement order.

In reaching the decision in Chicago, Judges Evan A. Evans, Will M. Sparks, and J. Earl Major said the Wagner act authorized the board to enter an order against an employer only after a hearing and that the extended hearing conducted in Chicago by a trial examiner was unfair and biased.

The Chicago court also censured Charles A. Wood, the examiner, for laying aside all semblance of serving in a judicial capacity and for hostility and coercive treatment of witnesses for the company.

Australia Announces Plan for 72 Million War Loan

MELBOURNE, Feb. 26 (AP).—The Australian commonwealth will open lists for an £18,000,000 [$72,000,000] war loan on March 1, it was announced today. The loan as drafted by P. C. Spender, acting commonwealth treasurer, will be subject to income tax and bear 3% per cent interest on a long term basis.

Truck Owners Demand Data on New Laws

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 26 [Special].—Bewildered owners of the quarter of a million trucks in Illinois swamped the new office of the division of motor carriers here today. In person and by mail they sought answers to their questions regarding the state's new truck regulations which become effective March 1.

The regulations, revolutionizing control of freight transportation on the highways, were enacted last summer. F. Wood Lewis of Robinson, Ill., formerly a state representative, who now is director of the new motor carriers division, promised that initial enforcement will be considerate and lenient.

The principal change in the truck laws was reperl of antiquated and unenforced provisions of the 1921 public utility act which authorized the Illinis Commerce commission to grant exclusive privileges on designated highway routes. These monopoly privileges were for common carrier service—that is, service offered to the public at large. Rates were fixed by the ICC and freely violated.

Safety Dictates New Rules.

That legislation ended the attempt of a bureau to supplant the laws of supply and demand in determining rates. The newly enacted rules are founded almost solely upon safety requirements.

The owner of a private truck, under the new laws, is required to have his equipment inspected by an authorized agent twice a year. He is required also to carry public liability and property damage insurance and to have his name and address printed on the vehicle. A private truck, under terms of the law, is one that does not perform services for hire.

The authorized testing stations are licensed by this new state bureau. They are required to post $1,000 bond or to prove financial responsibility. In Cook county, 32 stations have qualified. Thruout the state there are 300 stations. The owner of a fleet of trucks with testing equipment of approved standard in his private garage can qualify his own apparatus for these inspections.

Farmers Object on Insurance.

The insurance requirement is for a so-called 5-10-5 policy, which means a coverage of $5,000 for any one person injured, $10,000 as a maximum for personal injuries in any one accident, and $5,000 as a maximum for property damage.

Some farmers are objecting to the insurance requirement for little used trucks. Negroes in some parts of the state are having trouble buying policies.

The for hire vehicles also must carry cargo insurance, or prove financial responsibility for the value of cargoes carried.

Any one meeting these provisions can get a permit as a contract hauler—that is, for services under a continuing bilateral agreement. There is no attempt to fix rates.

Any common carrier can get a certificate of convenience and necessity—that is, a permit, upon presentation of a petition signed by 25 persons who would use the new service.

LAND BANK STOCK HELD SUBJECT TO DOUBLE LIABILITY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The Supreme court today sustained a decision holding a group of shareholders in the Ohio Joint Stock Land Bank of Cincinnati subject to double liability. The bank closed in 1927.

Bank creditors brought the suit against Henry Russell, Lawrence Miller, Charles Steers, and John P. Wing, brokers and Samuel A. Pleasants of New York. They contended, however, that they were not the beneficial owners of the shares, the brokers insisting the shares were held for the account of a customer and Pleasants contending his stock was held as collateral for a loan.

Justice Stone wrote the opinion affirming the decision of the second federal Circuit court. Justice Roberts dissented and Justice Murphy did not participate.

UNITED STATES TO SELL PACIFIC STEAMSHIP LINE

Ends Governmental Vessel Operations.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—Within the next few days Uncle Sam will dispose of another of his shipping interests, altho he will remain enmeshed in the American maritime industry, it was learned today.

Robert Dollar founded shipping line.

Officials of the United States maritime commission said they would soon announce the sale of the Puget Sound-Orient Line which was established last fall and operates four vessels between the Pacific northwest and the orient.

This will officially remove the maritime commission, the government agency regulating the shipping industry, from shipping operations, altho it will still retain control of the American President Lines, Ltd., successor to the famous old Dollar Lines.

Owns 90 Per Cent of Stock.

Altho the federal government, thru the maritime commission, owns 90 per cent of the common stock of the American President Lines and thereby controls the company, officials assert the government exercises no voice in the operating management. From their point of view the government will be removed technically from the operating business with disposal of the Puget Sound-Orient Line.

Notwithstanding this explanation of a majority stockholder not directing his business, the government will still be supporting virtually all of the American transoceanic shipping services thru operating subsidies. In addition, the federal government builds vessels for these lines and stands that part of the costs which may be attributed to national defense.

Operating Subsidies Listed.

The latest figures on operating subsidies show that a total of $11,114,578 had been accumulated in the fiscal year ended last June 30. These subsidies were as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| American Export Lines, Inc. | $1,317,261 |
| American Mail Line, Ltd. | 82,551 |
| American President Lines, Ltd. | 1,804,109 |
| American South African Line, Ltd. | 82,097 |
| Grace Line, Inc. | 961,303 |
| Lykes Brothers Steamship Company, Inc. | 1,707,485 |
| Mississippi Shipping Company, Inc. | 402,631 |
| Moore McCormack Lines, Inc. | 458,807 |
| Moormack South American Line, Inc. | 324,969 |
| New York and Cuba Mail S. S. Company, Inc. | 372,844 |
| Oceanic Steamship company | 621,642 |
| Pacific Argentine, Brazil Line, Inc. | 184,529 |
| Seas Shipping company | 77,765 |
| South Atlantic Steamship Co. [Del.] | 231,477 |
| United States Lines company | 2,485,310 |

The merchant marine act of 1936 as amended provides that the commission encourage private operation of essential steamship lines owned by the United States thru the sale or charter of such lines to American citizens. These lines were acquired by the government as a result of mortgage foreclosures.

20 Payments in 20 Years.

During the shipbuilding spree following the close of the world war the government built vessels for American shipping interests on a standard contract basis of 20 payments in 20 years. The government took a mortgage on the ships. When private operators failed to meet payments the government found itself with a shipping business on its hands.

This was the manner in which the

New York Stocks.

New York, Feb. 26 (AP). — Stocks dipped again today in a disinterested manner featured mainly by the non-appearance of many traders.

The lack of business—only 439,740 shares were traded—was rivaled only by another gloomy Monday, that of Feb. 5, which set the record of having been the slowest week day since last July 10. Last Friday's volume was 650,760 shares.

The day started with most quotations a shade lower than Saturday's close and it ended in the same pattern. In between the opening and closing gongs few shares shifted more than minor fractions.

Commentators said traders still were watchfully waiting for news developments affecting investments and that nothing more than "professional" transactions were likely until such developments appeared. The day's grist of financial news furnished nothing to inspire activity one way or the other.

Losing shares included Bethlehem, Caterpillar, Douglas, United Aircraft, United States Gypsum, Eastman, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Phelps Dodge, and Phillips Petroleum. Closing a bit higher were United States Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Sears-Roebuck, Harvester, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Telephone, Loft, and International Paper preferred.

Arrangements were made today for the transfer of a New York Stock exchange membership at $50,000, unchanged from the previous transaction on Feb. 9.

New York Bonds.

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—Selected industrial bonds tilted upward today as medium priced rail bonds and some of the utilities sold downward. Finishing up a shade were Armour 4s of '55, Loew's 3½s, Pennsylvania Dixie Cement 6s, and Texas Corporation 3½s. Many others in the industrial group, altho retreating a little, continued to hover not far from 1940 highs.

Rail issues closing with small losses included Santa Fe 4s of '95, Baltimore and Ohio convertibles, Louisville and Nashville 4½s, and Atlantic Coast Line 4½s. Losers among the utilities included American and Foreign Power 5s and Consolidated Edison 3½s.

Finland 6s of '45 jumped 4 in the foreign sector on sale of three bonds. United States treasuries ended 1-32d of a point higher to 4-32ds lower.

Chicago Stocks.

Trading dwindled to 13,000 shares on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday and the main price trend was downward. One issue, Coleman Lamp and Stove, advanced to a new 1939-'40 high level on a ½ point gain.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago Title and Trust and City National bank shares each sold one point lower yesterday in dull trading. Chicago Title shares closed at 120, while the final bid on City National was 112. Other issues held steady.

COURT REFUSES APPEAL FROM ANTITRUST ORDER

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—Three San Francisco corporations and certain of their officers were denied the right today by the Supreme court to appeal to a Federal Circuit court in challenging validity of a grand jury order directing the production of data for use in an antitrust inquiry.

Justice Frankfurter wrote the decision that affirmed a ruling by the Ninth Federal Circuit court dismissing the appeals. The litigation grew out of grand jury subpenas issued Nov. 2. The District court was asked to quash the subpenas on the ground they were oppressive, unreasonable, and invalid. The motion was denied.

Involved in the case were the Cobbledick-Kibbe Glass company and Lloyd N. Cobbledick, vice president; W. P. Fuller & Co., and A. H. Brawner, an officer and director and the Crowe Glass company and Eugene Palmuth, president.

The department of justice said the Federal Circuit court at New York had delivered a contrary decision in litigation involving the Cudahy Packing Company of Chicago and that the conflict "creates confusion."

250 JOBS OPEN; 10,000 SWARM TO NEWARK AIRPORT

New York, Feb. 26 [Special].—More than 10,000 men and women seeking jobs swamped Newark airport today. They were lured by plans of the Brewster Aeronautical company to hire 1,500 employés after it moves into the new $2,500,000 municipal hangar.

Amazed at the response to announcement of opening an employment office, company officials explained only 250 jobs will be available at first, and those not for 30 days. It will require that long to install machinery and equipment in the 1,100 foot hangar recently leased from the city of Newark. The force is to be increased to 1,500 within six months.

The crowd began assembling long before dawn. By the time the company's office opened at 8 o'clock traffic was snarled on two highways adjoining the airport.

Studebaker's Spring Sales Plans Under Discussion

Paul G. Hoffman, president, and other executives of the Studebaker corporation yesterday outlined spring sales plans at a meeting of Chicago area distributors and dealers at the Palmer House. Commenting on the company's 88th anniversary, observed Feb. 16 in South Bend, Hoffman said that since the company was organized it has had no major labor difficulty. He said that this was the more notable because of the numerous labor troubles that have disturbed the industry in the last five years.

Presenting an antidote for alien "isms," Dr. William F. Russell, dean of the teachers' college of Columbia university, will speak on "The American Ideal" at a dinner meeting in the Hotel Sherman tonight under auspices of the Illinois Manufacturers' association and the Illinois Manufacturers' Costs association.

Paul Perry Robinson has become associated with Kirstein & Co. as manager of the municipal bond department.

INSURANCE CASH AWAITS CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The monopoly committee heard testimony today that lack of profitable investment opportunities has been a major factor in concentration of large amounts of life insurance cash in noninterest bearing deposits in New York City banks.

Alfred H. Meyers, vice president and treasurer of the New York Life Insurance company, and Henry Greaves, treasurer of the Equitable Life Assurance society, testified that their companies had maintained large cash balances in recent years to meet possible emergency demands and to be able to take immediate advantage of attractive investment opportunities.

Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the board of the Chase National bank, told the committee that "it certainly would be helpful to us" if insurance companies placed part of their time deposits in other banks thruout the country, because then "we wouldn't have to pay interest on the entire deposits."

Committee figures showed that of $2,803,000,000 of deposits in Chase National at the end of 1939, $175,000,000 was owned by the nine largest insurance companies.

PUT WILLIAMS ON HOUSEHOLD FINANCE BOARD

Albert D. Williams was elected a director of the Household Finance corporation in the place of the late A. H. Williams, his father, during the annual meeting yesterday. All other directors were reëlected.

Household Finance has refused to join small loan companies operating in New York state in opposing the proposed reduction in personal loan rates, B. E. Henderson, president, told the stockholders. Unless a compromise is effected between the New York Association of Personal Finance companies and the state banking department, which has proposed the lowering of rates on small loans, Household Finance will withdraw from the association, he said.

The company's offices opened recently in Canada have been successful thus far, he reported. California is also a new scene of leading operations.

THOMAS FAVORS SALE OR LOAN OF AMERICAN GOLD

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—Senator Thomas [D., Okla.] said today he was drafting a bill authorizing the Export-Import bank to lend or sell gold to other nations.

Thomas said that while all other nations had only $10,000,000,000 in gold this country possessed $18,000,000,000 that "it is not using." Scarcity of the metal abroad tends to disturb price relationships and, in turn, has an adverse effect on the United States, he said.

The bank would lend the gold to central banks and other countries which gave ample security for it, thus tending to stabilize the rates of exchange.

Rules RFC Cannot Dictate Bank Receiver Legal Fees

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 26 [Special].—Thomas Read, attorney general, ruled today that the Reconstruction Finance corporation lacks authority to dictate the fees of legal counsel for state bank receivers. The RFC, which had loaned money to the Grand Rapids Savings bank receiver on the bank's assets for payoff purposes, had ordered a reduction in counsel's proposed maximum salary. Read's opinion said that the RFC demand "appears not only to be tardy but to savor of motives which should not enter into the transaction."

SEC Calls 'Armslength' Bargaining Rule Hearing

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 [Special.]—The Securities and Exchange commission today ordered Dillon, Read & Co. to show cause why the SEC should not find absence of "armslength bargaining" in negotiations leading to the concern's selection by Michigan consolidated gas company as its agent to place privately $2,000,000 of four per cent first mortgage bonds of 1963. A hearing was called for March 11.

GERMAN MONEY INFLATED SINCE OPENING OF WAR

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The American commercial attaché in Berlin has estimated that Germany's currency circulation has increased 33 per cent since the outbreak of the war. The report was made public by the commerce department.

He said no official figures had been published since the war started, but estimated that 3,635,000,000 marks, each worth about 40 cents, had been added to Germany's monetary circulation. His estimates, he said, do not include any additional currency issued in the form of "army promissory notes."

"While the circulation has increased roughly by 33 per cent since the beginning of the war," he said, "the quantity of goods that can be purchased with this currency has substantially decreased because of the rationing of food, textiles, footwear, and other consumption goods, and the nearly complete disappearance of of many nonrationed goods as the result of hoarding by the public which began in August, 1939."

BUSINESS DONE BY CHECKS GAINS IN MIDDLE WEST

Checks cashed by 159 banks in 41 leading cities of the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district in the week ended Feb. 21 increased 25.8 per cent as compared with the preceding week and 48.9 per cent as compared with the corresponding 1939 week, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday.

Dollar volume of debits to individual deposit accounts for the three periods were $1,264,349,000 in the latest week, $1,005,102,000 in the preceding week, and $849,145,000 in the 1939 week. Chicago debits were $723,443,000 in the Feb. 21 week, against $555,692,000 in the preceding week and $462,343,000 in the 1939 week.

Barnes when they pleaded guilty to a charge of violating the wage and hour law. The company agreed to reimburse 185 employés about $5,000 in back wages because of failure to pay the minimum 25 cents an hour and failure to pay proper overtime rates.
